[illegible] P. MORGAN REFUSES TO SETTLE STRIKE

[illegible]orkers' Request for Intervention Is Denied.

[illegible]tion That President Buchanan May Recede and Send a Local Committee to Bridge Officials.

[illegible] strike of the ironworkers against the American Bridge Company appeared to [illegible] narrowed down yesterday to the [illegible]lock over the refusal of the American [illegible] Company to confer with the officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

President Buchanan of the International Structural Ironworkers left the Ashland House at noon accompanied by Samuel B. [illegible], ex-President of Typographical Union No. 6, who is also Secretary of the New York Civic Federation, and Robert [illegible] Neidig, President of the Housesmiths, [illegible]gemen, and Structural Ironworkers' Union of New York.

[illegible] Buchanan went down town to get J. [illegible] Morgan to use his influence in [illegible] the strike. He told Mr. Morgan [illegible] the American Bridge Company was [illegible] in many respects.

[illegible] Morgan said that though he was not [illegible] concerned in the questions in dis[illegible] he was very certain that Mr. Buchanan and the men he represents would re[illegible] nothing but fair treatment from the American Bridge Company.

[illegible] Buchanan then said that his associa[illegible] had an agreement with the American Bridge Company, and that they had broken the agreement, of which a feature was the employment of union men in preference to [illegible]-union men.

[illegible] Morgan said that if such an agree[illegible] had been entered into by the Ameri[illegible] Bridge Company and he had any au[illegible]thority to cause that agreement to be broken it would be broken. He did not fa[illegible] any agreement which discriminated be[illegible] men who were seeking employment. [illegible] Morgan then declined to interfere in the matter.

President Buchanan and Mr. Donnelly returned to the Ashland House late in the evening, Mr. Buchanan looking very [illegible]. He refused to say where he had [illegible] or whether or not he had called at Mr. Morgan's office.

"I will go to Mr. Morgan when he sends [illegible]," was all he would say.

He declined to discuss the question of the [illegible] trades joining in a general sym[illegible] strike if called upon to do so, but [illegible] admitted that many of the unions in the Board of Building Trades of this city [illegible] local unions. He said he might [illegible] for several days yet. He declined [illegible] the deadlock arising from the [illegible] of the American Bridge Company [illegible] with him.

[illegible] with him a copy of the minutes [illegible] the convention of the Executive Com[illegible] at Buffalo, in which it was stated [illegible] the men did not strike at the Ran[illegible] Street bridge there because an ap[illegible] had been made to the union not to [illegible] by a committee of the Sanitary De[illegible] of the city. The minutes also [illegible] that work on a power house in Chi[illegible] for which the American Bridge Com[illegible] the contract had not started at [illegible] time.

[illegible] Mr. Buchanan would not talk, a [illegible] who is deep in his counsels said yes[illegible] evening that it was not unlikely [illegible] Mr. Buchanan would recede from his [illegible] and recommend the sending of a [illegible] committee to the American Bridge Company.

[illegible] was inclined to believe he will do [illegible]," he continued. "He could get the [illegible] Committee of the International Association together very quickly. He has made a mistake in not making public all the grievances. For some time past the company has been encroaching on agree[illegible] and breaking portions of them. The [illegible] intention is to fight the union."

Members of the Board of Building Trades who were seen yesterday were not as a [illegible] in favor of ordering sympathetic [illegible] in aid of the ironworkers.

Secretary William P. Farley of the board, who is also on the Executive Committee of the New York Civic Federation, said:

"There is every prospect of an unusually prosperous building season ahead. The people are just recovering from the effects of the coal strike, and the working people [illegible] them without a murmur and contrib[illegible] to the strike. We wish the structural [illegible] workers every success in their fight, but it does not seem fair that New York should be made to suffer for organizations which have differences in other cities."

Edward Kelly of the Electrical Workers, William Fyfe of the Amalgamated Carpen[illegible], Charles Delaney of the Granite Cut[illegible], and others talked in the same way. The latter said that tying up the subway appeared to be an unwarranted effort to unload the elephant in New York.

Charles M. Schwab, President of the United States Steel Corporation, had a [illegible] with officials of the corpo[illegible] at [illegible] Broadway yesterday. He de[illegible] on the trouble with the American Bridge Company.

[illegible] was only talking with friends in a [illegible] way," he said. "The affairs of [illegible] Bridge Company are in the hands of President Hatfield."

[illegible] Hatfield of the American Bridge Company had a conference with ex-[illegible] Gary and other Steel Trust officials [illegible] the afternoon.

According to a labor man who is in close [illegible] with President Buchanan the manu[illegible] fifteen months ago wanted to [illegible] an agreement with the iron workers' national organization, but the local unions [illegible] not agree to it, and stood out for [illegible] agreements. Now the manufacturers [illegible] willing to deal with local committees [illegible] men, even to the point of seeing the [illegible] agents of the local unions, but [illegible] refuse to recognize the interna[illegible] organization, and it is believed want [illegible] it out of existence.

[illegible] was stated yesterday that when the [illegible] Committee of the International [illegible] of Bridge and Structural Iron [illegible] was in session at Buffalo, Senator [illegible] on behalf of the National Civic [illegible] sent a dispatch to President [illegible] offering the services of the fed[illegible] to settle the trouble. He also had [illegible] over the long-distance telephone [illegible] Buchanan to the same effect. Bu[illegible] said he would be only too glad to [illegible] the offer, but when he laid the mat[illegible] before the Executive Committee it was [illegible], and Senator Hanna was so in[illegible]. The officials of the American [illegible] Company also declined Senator [illegible]'s services.

MISS ROOSEVELT SAILS.

[illegible] Enthusiastic Farewell Tendered Her as She Leaves Porto Rico for New York.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 31.—Miss Alice Roosevelt sailed for New York at noon to-day on board the steamship Coamo. Thousands of people congregated on the wharf and in boats to witness her departure, and several bands of music gave Miss Roosevelt an enthusiastic farewell.

The band of the German cruiser Panther played as the Coamo put to sea, and as the steamer passed the United States schoolship Alliance the latter saluted the Coamo.

FOUND FRIEND AND WIFE NEAR DEATH FROM WOUNDS.

Husband Sat Waiting for Woman's Return, While She and Alleged Embezzler Were in House Shot.

Strange elements attach to a double tragedy at the cottage home of Newton Schoonmaker, a mechanic, at 90 Pine Street, near the borough line in the Cypress Hills district of Brooklyn. Late last night Lydia Schoonmaker, twenty-eight years old, the wife and the mother of two little children, and Percival Covert, twenty-nine years old, of [illegible]3 Euclid Avenue, who was employed in the branch office of the Williamsburg Trust Company, at 361 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, were found together unconscious from bullet wounds. They were removed to the Bradford Street Hospital by Ambulance Surgeon Siebold. Covert died a few minutes after his arrival without making any statement. The woman revived as Coroner Flaherty entered.

To him she said in broken words that the man had shot her first and then had shot himself. When she had told that much she again sank into a coma, which the doctors say is most likely to end only in death.

Schoonmaker, who found the bodies, was unable to throw any light on the circumstances that led to the tragedy. Covert, who was a friend and neighbor of Schoonmaker's, left two letters which were taken by the police. One was addressed to his mother, who lives at St. Albans, L. I., and the other to George Carstairs, whose address was not learned. The police refused to give out the letters in full, but they say that in one Covert confesses that he had embezzled $1,000 from the trust company, which he was unable to make good, and had resolved to commit suicide.

The relations of Schoonmaker and his wife were happy so far as could be learned. He reached home at 9 o'clock last night, and, going through the kitchen and sitting room, found no trace of his wife. Supposing that she had given over expecting him earlier in the evening, and had therefore prepared a solitary meal, and gone to visit near by, he settled down with a newspaper to await her return. He read, he says, for about half an hour, or perhaps more, when he began to wonder at her protracted absence, and called out. Receiving no reply he started on a more thorough investigation. In their bedroom he found Covert, whom he did not at first recognize, lying on the floor with a bullet through his head. Mrs. Schoonmaker was kneeling beside the bed, with her arms outstretched upon it. She had been shot near the heart.

DISORDER IN THE BALKANS.

Riot and Bloodshed Already Rife in Turkey—Czar's Gift of Arms to Montenegro Causes Universal Concern.

VIENNA, March 31.—The news from the Balkans is causing uneasiness in official circles here. The situation is considered to be graver than a few weeks ago. Two particularly significant reports were received to-day.

The first, that the Czar had presented to the Prince of Montenegro eight batteries of quick-firing small-calibre guns, with ammunition, and the second that Russia has addressed another warning message to Bulgaria.

In his autograph letter to the Prince of Montenegro, the Czar writes that the gift is intended as a proof of Russia's friendship for Montenegro, in whose independence all the Slav peoples are deeply interested.

The Czar's gift recalls his recent present to Servia of 50,000,000 cartridges.

With regard to Russia's message to Bulgaria, it is said to have been inspired by the unfavorable reports received from the Russian Consuls in Macedonia regarding the attitude of the Christian population toward the Turks, and is taken as an explanation of the recall of the Daneff Ministry.

BELGRADE, March 31.—According to advices from Mitrovitsa, a town in European Trukey, on the River Ibar, in the Province of Prishtina, bands of Albanians have surrounded that town and are demanding the removal of the Russian Consul.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 31.—It is stated on good authority that after two hours' fighting the Turkish troops repulsed the Albanian attack on Mitrovitsa. The Albanians lost heavily. Turkey has sent a division of troops from the vilayet of Aidin, Asia Minor, to Albania. The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople has been instructed to protest to the Porte against the insubordination of the Albanians.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 31.—The Macedonian Committee announces that a revolutionary band of 31 men and the inhabitants of the village of Abalitche, near Istib, have been massacred by Bashi-bazouks. The band, it is added, was surrounded in the village, artillery was brought up, and after ten hours' fighting the village was completely razed and burned, and all the inhabitants, without distinction, were massacred. The Turkish losses are reported to have been greater than those of the other side.

The bridge of the Turkish Oriental Railroad between Adrianople and Mustapha Pacha was blown up by an infernal machine at 2:30 this morning.

The Orient express had crossed the bridge half an hour earlier, and it is believed the perpetrators of the outrage intended to wreck the train, but that the explosion was delayed by the defective mechanism of the machine.

COLORADO RAILROAD RACE.

Union Pacific May Precede the Moffat Road Into the Routt Country Territory.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, March 31.—It is said that E. H. Harriman plans to begin his fight on the new Moffat Railroad by building the Union Pacific into Steamboat Springs, Routt County, before that territory can be reached by the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific. He intends not only to gain all the advantages from being the first in the district, it is asserted, but it is his purpose to divert the business resulting from the development of that territory from Denver.

It is probable that the Union Pacific will be running trains into Steamboat Springs by the end of the present year. The Harriman Syndicate is supposed to have completed arrangements with the Van Horn Miller Syndicate of Boston, which is building the Laramie, Hahn's Peak and Pacific Railroad from Laramie into Northern Colorado, to furnish the necessary capital to extend that line to Steamboat Springs, and thence to Grand Junction to a connection with the Denver and Rio Grande.

FEDERAL AID INVOKED.

New Development in the Lorimer-Durborrow Congressional Contest in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Intervention of the United States Government was asked late to-day in the contest involving the recount of the Lorimer-Durborrow Congressional ballots.

Notary Frederick F. McClory, who is acting under the Federal statutes as Examining Magistrate on the Durborrow petition for a re-count of the votes, has appealed to the Government for protection, saying that he is threatened with interference in the discharge of his duties. Telegrams were sent to several United States Circuit Court Judges to-day. A response was received from one saying that he would reach Chicago Thursday.

VERDICT IN BURDICK INQUEST HANDED DOWN

Judge Murphy Virtually Accuses Arthur R. Pennell.

Says the Dead Lawyer Had a Stronger Motive for Murder Than Any One Else—He Criticises Mrs. Hull.

BUFFALO, March 31.—The verdict in the Burdick inquest handed down by Judge Murphy to-day, while stating that the identity of the murderer of Edwin L. Burdick has not been proved, virtually charges Arthur R. Pennell, the dead lawyer, with the crime. Pennell had a stronger motive than any one else for putting Burdick out of the way, Judge Murphy says, and all the facts brought out by the inquest would constitute just grounds for the issuance of a warrant against Pennell if he were alive.

The verdict is softened somewhat, so far as it relates to Pennell, by stating that if Pennell were alive he would be given the presumption of innocence until proved guilty.

In the opinion of Judge Murphy Burdick had no woman guest in his "den" on the night of the murder and the crime was not the work of a burglar. He exculpates Mrs. Gertrude B. Paine and Miss Hutchinson from any connection with the crime. He criticises Mrs. Maria A. Hull and censures Mrs. Burdick, the former for her attitude toward the authorities and the inconsistency of her actions with the theory that she had no knowledge of the murder.

Judge Murphy said this afternoon that he will hold the inquest into the death of Arthur R. Pennell the latter part of this week or the first of next week.

"The Burdick inquest has taught us one thing," said Judge Murphy, "and that is to hold such investigations promptly. The police court inquest is the most natural machinery under the law for investigating such matters. Under it persons under suspicion can be brought before a Magistrate and compelled to tell what they know, while there is no chance for sentimental persons to shout against a 'third degree.' It abolishes the 'third degree' absolutely."

Judge Murphy's verdict in full follows:

JUDGE MURPHY'S FINDINGS.

"I find and certify that Edwin L. Burdick came to his death in the early morning hours of Feb. 27, 1903, at his residence, No. 101 Ashland Avenue, in this city; the cause of his death was compound comminuted multiple fracture of the skull; that said fracture was the result of several blows by some person with a dull-edged weapon delivered principally on the back of the head; that said blows were delivered with homicidal intent; that the identity of said person has not been proved.

"This inquest was held for the purpose of determining whether or not a crime had been committed, and whether or not there is reasonable ground to charge some certain person with the same.

"At the time of the murder the deceased was living with his three little girls, whose ages range from fifteen to ten years, together with their grandmother, his mother-in-law, at said residence. His wife, the children's mother, had not been home since the early days of December last for reasons which appear later, and spent the night of the murder in Atlantic City. The deceased went home to dinner that night the same as usual. He had with him a bottle of cocktails, which has never been seen since.

"It does not appear from the evidence that anything unusual occurred in the house in the forepart of the evening. Mrs. Hull, said grandmother, retired with the children as usual. One of the maids was out that night, and, returning about 10 o'clock, saw Mr. Burdick open the door leading from the front hall into the rear hall. He stepped back and partially closed the door while the maid went on up stairs to bed. A few minutes later she heard some one shaking the furnace in the cellar. It was Burdick's custom to look after the furnace. The other maid had retired as usual. That was the last seen of Burdick alive by any one who has been sworn at this inquest, according to their testimony.

"The two maids, who slept on the third floor, went down stairs as usual in the morning. The one first down called the attention of the other to the fact that the kitchen window was open, and spoke of burglars. The other went into the dining room and found nothing disturbed. They found the front door open; then one, according to her testimony, called Mrs. Hull, who was standing near the door in her room, and told her the front door was open. The kitchen windows were raised, and they thought may be burglars were in the house. She also told Mrs. Hull that Mr. Burdick was not in his bedroom, and the door of his den was closed. The den is on the first floor. The family slept on the second.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY.

"Mrs. Hull swears positively that she was in the bathroom dressing when the maid called. The maid states that little Carol came out into the hall when she and her grandmother were talking and exclaimed, 'Why, I heard papa go down stairs a little while ago.' Carol stated on the stand that it was Alice, the younger sister, who made the remark.

"This house is of modern build, with front and back stairways. The maid said she did not know who it was that Carol heard go down stairs that morning. Mrs. Hull testified that she went alone to Mr. Burdick's bedroom, and then rushed down stairs, dressing as she went, and that was the first time she saw the maid on that morning. The maid, Miss Murray, testified that she was up stairs in the hall with Mrs. Hull, and that when Mrs. Hull came out of Mr. Burdick's bedroom she told her the den was closed. Mrs. Hull then went down on the second steps and looked around the landing to the den door; then she came back, went to her room, got a skirt, and went down the front stairs. Miss Murray went down the back stairway.

"Mrs. Hull testified three times that there was no light in the room except that which entered through the door she opened; that she then said to the maid that she was afraid to enter the den and they agreed to send for Dr. Marcy, the family physician. She testified that she did not go into the den, not because she was afraid of Mr. Burdick, but was nervous, alarmed, and did not know but what he had taken something to make him sleep if it was he.

"'I didn't know it was he or that something had happened. There was no reason why I should hesitate to go into the room, only fear. I did not know but I might find him dead if it was he. I didn't know who was there. From the pile I saw on the couch I was afraid there was a human being there, covered up.'

"She did not want to alarm the children up stairs, so instead of using the telephone in the house she sent the maid to the drug store, from which place Dr. Marcy was called. He was just getting up and hurried over without eating breakfast. Mrs. Hull met him at the door and said she was afraid something had happened. That was about all she could remember of her conversation.

"Dr. Marcy remembered more of the conversation, but has not fully explained what it was that made him go direct to the den. It was a little dark in there, he said, so he pulled a blind down to admit the light. He then saw a stream of blood on the hardwood floor near the centre of the couch. He could not have told from outward appearance that there was a body under the covering on the couch. He removed two pillows and came down to the cabin blanket. He lifted that up far enough to see the back of the head covered with blood and upon touching it discovered a fractured skull. He immediately dropped the blanket back as it was, looked around the room, saw the remnants of a lunch on the table, stepped out and closed the door.

THE SUGGESTION OF SUICIDE.

"Soon thereafter he telephoned to Dr. Howland, the deputy medical examiner. He accompanied Dr. Howland into the den, raised the quilt as before, and showed the head of the deceased to the doctor. He said that he told Dr. Howland about the window and door being open and that, after Dr. Howland had reported to the police, they had a conversation in which the word suicide was used. They were sitting in the parlor waiting for the police, and he said to Dr. Howland that if it could be made suicide, or if it proved to be suicidal, it would save his name and family a great deal of scandal. Dr. Howland immediately said: 'I don't think it is suicide.'

"'Well,' said Dr. Marcy, 'that is the way I look at it.'

"That ended their conversation. Dr. Howland testified that Dr. Marcy suggested suicide if possible before he had seen the body and as soon as he arrived at the house; that after Dr. Howland declared it not to be suicide, Dr. Marcy called his attention to the open window. Dr. Marcy testified that the tart and glass in the room, and the deceased being in his undershirt would indicate the presence of a woman guest, and to save the family name he hoped it would be a suicide. At the time of his conversation with Dr. Howland, however, it does not appear that he knew how the deceased was dressed.

PENNELL AND MRS. BURDICK.

"Where is the motive for this awful crime? About five years ago Burdick's wife visited New Haven in company with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pennell. It was upon that occasion, it seems that she gave the love which belonged to her husband to another. She loved Pennell, and he apparently became infatuated with her.

"A few years ago Burdick learned the truth. A separation ensued between him and his wife. Because of love for his children, however, he took back his wife at that time and forgave the author of his wrong upon his promise to leave Buffalo. This promise and the promise which Mrs. Burdick made to her husband were shamelessly broken. Mr. Burdick finally told her that she must leave his house. This was in the early days of last December, and immediately thereafter he applied for a divorce.

"It appears from her evidence that she did not care to defend the action. She wished to marry Pennell, and he had agreed to secure a divorce from his wife and marry her. She was constrained to defend the suit, however, by Pennell, and an amended pleading remained to be served and issue would be joined in a very short time.

"Mr. Burdick had been shadowing Mrs. Burdick and Mr. Pennell a long time. Mr. Pennell had detectives shadowing Burdick. So far as appears from the evidence, Pennell had not succeeded in compromising Burdick in any way. Not so with Burdick; he had a long list of places where meetings were had. He also had in his possession, which fact was known to Pennell, a batch of letters written by Pennell to Mrs. Burdick of such a gushing, lovesick, importuning nature that their publication meant complete humiliation and social ruin to their author.

"His of all others was the motive strong enough to incite a desperate mind, already steeped in wrongdoing, to so foul and cruel a murder. Did he do it? Was he responsible for it? He had returned from the dead man's wife the day before the murder. He was here that night. He was very much excited the next morning and went and purchased a revolver. The clerks present at the sale state that at that time he did not appear at all like himself. Then he went to the Falls; later he telephoned for his wife to come and bring the papers. She went to the Falls, and they failed to return for dinner at their home and did not notify their maid. The maid, who had learned of Burdick's death that afternoon, and knew that Pennell had been named as co-respondent, did not remain in the house that night, but went home and failed to return in time to prepare their breakfast.

"In one of his letters to Mrs. Burdick there is an express threat that he would kill her husband. The cashier and bartender of a New York hotel have testified that he said he would kill a certain man if he went to the gallows for it. His wife had written Burdick a warning letter. He had complete knowledge of the Burdick home, and, considering his relations with the family, it would have been an easy matter for him to obtain a key thereto.

JUST GROUNDS OF SUSPICION.

"Altogether these facts would in my opinion, constitute just grounds of suspicion on which a warrant could be issued were he alive. That would not mean, however, that he was guilty. He would have the right of an examination in police court. If held, his case would go before the Grand Jury. If indicted he would be tried by a fair jury, picked from the men of this community, who would either acquit or convict him. And all this time the law would clothe him with a presumption of innocence. He can never be placed on trial here, nor can his case ever be judicially determined. Let us be as fair, then, to the dead as the law presumes us to be to the living. He must be presumed innocent until proved guilty.

"The theory that Burdick had a woman guest in his den that night has not been sustained by the evidence. It has not disclosed a single immoral act on his part. It portrays him as a loving father and a more than magnanimous and forgiving husband. Mrs. Paine and Miss Hutchinson, whose names have been, unfortunately, brought into this case, are, so far as this inquest is able to determine, completely exonerated.

MRS. HULL'S INCONSISTENT ACTS.

"The actions of Mrs. Hull on that morning and her testimony on the stand have caused me much thought and study. To my mind they are inconsistent with a perfect want of knowledge as to what had actually occurred. So little apparent feeling for the dead man, such an evident desire to cover up the crime, and no disposition whatever to aid the authorities in apprehending the murderer may be explainable, but have not been explained. The opening of the windows from the inside and no one having gone through as indicated by the snow and ice on the ledge would indicate a desire on the part of some one to give this crime the appearance of a burglar's work. The person who waited there to wrap the head of his victim in that blanket and pile pillows on his corpse was not a burglar. Nothing has been missed from the house excepting Burdick's watch.

"Much credit should be given Dr. John R. Howland for his refusal to entertain the suggestion of suicide. But for his rugged honesty we might never have known that one of the most clever and shocking murders of this or any age has been committed at our very doors.

"This is essentially a city of homes, where the marriage contract is looked upon as the cornerstone of society, and is something that is sacredly regarded by all. To make little of it is to forfeit the good-will and respect of our people and to invite their most severe censure. It is our duty to censure Mrs. Burdick. But, great as her wrong has been, great is her punishment."

The evidence of Fox and Edmunds, the salesmen in Walbridge's hardware store who sold a revolver to Pennell the morning after the Burdick murder, which is referred to in Judge Murphy's findings, was taken in Judge Murphy's private office before court convened. No one was present except Judge Murphy and his stenographer. Their statements were substantially the same as the stories heretofore printed regarding Pennell's manifest agitation at the time.

Albert A. Hartsel, one of the attorneys who represented the Burdick family throughout the inquest, to-night said:

"We are very well pleased with the result of the inquest. There seems to have been a great deal of importance attached to the apparent lack of feeling over Mr. Burdick's death by members of the household," he continued. "This is decidedly an erroneous impression. I have been in a position to know the deep sorrow expressed by them, of the tears that have been shed.

"Mrs. Hull is innocent of this terrible crime and absolutely has no knowledge of the person or persons who did the deed. Mrs. Burdick has also been wronged; she has been greatly misjudged."

HIGHER EXCISE TAX BILL FINALLY PASSED

Assembly Sends the Revenue Measure to the Governor.

Democrats Make a Long Fight Against It and Two Erie Republicans Support Them—Final Vote Is 84 to 61.

ALBANY, March 31.—Less spectacular than the battle in the Senate was the fight in the Assembly to-day, which led to the passage, by a vote of 84 to 61, of the bill of Senator Raines, increasing by 50 per cent. the liquor license fees throughout the State. Assemblymen Ruehl and Patton of the Sixth and Seventh Districts of Erie, both Republicans voted against the measure and were applauded by the Democrats. The bill will now go to the Governor for signature.

Preparations for the debate were in evidence fully an hour before the Assembly convened. The Democratic members especially were busily hunting up laws and data to be used in argument. A conference of Republican leaders was held in the Speaker's room before the Assembly convened to arrange all details.

It was 11:30 before the Assembly was called to order. A close call of the House was immediately moved, and the chamber was cleared of all visitors. As soon as the call was concluded Mr. Rogers, the majority leader, moved to suspend the rules and to discharge the Excise Committee from further consideration of the Raines bill. The vote upon this motion was 85 yeas to 55 nays, and was accepted as proof that the bill would pass.

It was announced that the measure was before the House for discussion on the order of second reading, and a dozen members' offered amendments bearing on various sections of the bill.

After Mr. Stevens had defended the measure the Democrats made a sharp attack upon it.

Mr. Richter denounced the bill as a deliberate attempt to drive thousands of small saloon keepers out of business. Mayor Low, he said, certainly could not favor the bill because he had talked just the opposite on the stump. Mr. Dale declared that the bill not only threw small saloon keepers out of business, but affected cigarmakers, butchers, bakers, grocers, and icemen.

Assemblyman Plank, Chairman of the Excise Committee, read statistics to show that crime had decreased in New York City since the Raines law went into effect. He declared the principle of the law was correct and was so acknowledged, although there might be differences about the rate.

Mr. Metcalfe declared that open drunkenness was less than before the Raines law went into operation, but the secret results were far more terrible. Mr. Cooke of Albany held that if abolishing a direct tax was to be accomplished by levying an onerous indirect excise tax, there would be universal protest. Mr. Farrell declared that the bill arrayed one section of the State against the other.

Mr. Lynch made a vigorous speech, saying: "As a moral measure this bill will compel the honest saloon keeper to resort to means to meet the increase in the tax which must of necessity be against good morals and the orderly conduct of his business. There is not a city of this State where the name of Raines is not synonymous with crime, debauchery, and despoliation of the home. The average hayseed legislator knows nothing about general conditions in the cities, for when he visits the city his first impulse is to visit the slums."

"In Russia," said Mr. Abrams, "if they want to suppress a man they issue a ukase, and the man is done. In the State of New York they legislate a tax and the man is done just the same." Mr. Prince demanded to know why the Governor and majority did not tax the bankers and brokers, who could afford to pay the tax, and why the State authority was not exerted to collect taxes already owing from great corporations.

Mr. Landon said he should support the bill as a revenue measure. All taxes were objectionable, but some taxes were necessary, and this increase in license fees was of that class.

Almost every Democrat spoke against the bill. Mr. Palmer closed the debate for the minority. He said this was not the first time in history when a majority had done a vicious act under the cloak of morality. If the saloon business was so wicked as the majority seemed to think, he asked why didn't they bring in a bill forbidding the sale of whisky? If the liquor business was legitimate it should be protected, not persecuted. He further argued that the bill would increase the State revenue only because hereafter the State would take one-half instead of one one-third of the proceeds.

Mr. Rogers concluded the long debate, speaking for the bill. He recited the history of the effort to carry out the Republican platform pledge to abolish the State direct tax. People who are taxed rarely favored the tax, he declared, hence the saloon keepers' opposition to this bill. The measure was required to keep the Republican pledge to remove the burden of direct taxation from the owners of property, and no public interest would suffer from the reduction of the number of saloons.

Mr. Rogers demanded the previous question, and a roll call showed all present except Messrs. Cooke, Ferre, J. J. McCarthy, and Treat.

Mr. Palmer offered an amendment providing that the one-third and two-thirds division of excise tax receipts between the State and the localities, respectively, be continued as under the present law. It was defeated—yeas 60, nays 85—and all of the other amendments proposed were disposed of in like manner, Messrs. Ruehl and Patton of Erie voting with the Democrats to kill the bill.

The final roll-call was uneventful. Brief speeches in explanation of their votes were made by Messrs. Burnett, Dwyer, E. J. McCarthy, Reeve, and Traub. At 5:30 P. M., after six hours of unbroken debate, the bill was passed—84 to 61, a strictly partisan vote, with the exception of the votes of Messrs. Ruehl and Patton.

It was said after the bill had passed that the bond companies had ascertained that when the bill becomes law from 25 to 35 per cent. of the liquor dealers now doing business in New York City and the other larger cities will quit, while in the rural localities the decrease will be 10 per cent. Fearful that there might be a greater falling off if the saloon keepers were pressed too hard, it is said, Senator Raines is to introduce another bill at once amending the act just passed so as to provide that a liquor dealer may pay half the tax at once and take a certificate for six months, then six months later pay the balance of the annual tax and get the remainder of his certificate.

It is gathered from the speeches of the Republicans that the present increase of the liquor tax was not to be the last one, but that it is part of the Republican policy to gradually make New York a high-license State like Massachusetts, in the hope that such a procedure will make the State surely Republican.

It is believed to be the purpose of the Governor to sign the Excise bill with the Canal bill. Accordingly the Canal bill was signed by Speaker Nixon to-day and sent back to the Senate that it might go to the Governor with the Liquor Tax bill. The Canal bill was passed last Thursday, but the Speaker went home that night.

MR. ROOSEVELT WILL FENCE.

Has Arranged to Take Lessons from a Master in Baltimore—Pair of Handsome Foils Ordered.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 31.—Prof. Pavese of this city has arranged with President Roosevelt to give him fencing lessons upon his return from the Western tour.

"I find Mr. Roosevelt one of the keenest sportsmen I have ever met," said Pavese to-day. "He has the quick eye and aggressive movement that will make him a good fencer. His physical development will adapt him to the exercise, which he will find strenuous enough to please him. I believe I will find him a pupil as apt as he is distinguished. It seems to be the purpose of Mr. Roosevelt to have members of his family take up fencing with him, and if he should succeed, I will do everything in my power to make them all proficient fencers."

Prof. Pavese has ordered from Italy a pair of fine fencing foils. They, with a mask and gloves, are to cost $400 in Italy. The blades are to be of polished steel engraved and chased with gold. The guards are to be solid silver, and to bear an engraved inscription telling that they are the fencing master's gift to the President. The hilts of these foils are to be covered with the finest morocco leather, wrapped with gold. These foils are too handsome for use, and are intended to be ornamental. Prof. Pavese is to supply the President with another set of foils for practical use.

MR. SHAW ON THE TARIFF.

Wise Measure of Control Better Than Revision of Rates on Monopoly Produced Goods.

PEORIA, Ill., March 31.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Kickapoo Club to-night. In the course of his address he said:

"The Democratic demand for a revision of the tariff as a remedy for monopolies, is not a new invention nor a recent discovery. I would like to have our Democratic friends who are advocating this remedy explain whether they would remove protection temporarily or permanently from monopoly produced goods. Shall the protection be removed until the alleged monopoly goes into bankruptcy, and then be restored, or shall it be removed permanently and our industries, one by one, turned over to foreign competitors?

"This remedy seems to me addressed to those who are supposed to be short-sighted, rather than to those who are able to see the end from the beginning. For whatever retires a monopolistic corporation from the field and invites foreign competition to supply its place, not only renders capital non-productive, but what is vastly worse, it turns all laborers employed in the industry into the street and their families begging bread. A wise measure of control is preferable to any measure of destruction.

"Combined capital is not an unmixed evil, but like every other possible good is capable of evil. Individual wealth has seldom built a railroad or erected a factory or opened a mine or constructed a steamship. We have reached a point in our civilization where the things we undertake require associated capital. It is, therefore, the province of the statesman to so legislate as to encourage associated capital, and at the same time guard against the evils that frequently ensue.

"It requires no great skill to kill a vicious colt, but it does require skill and patience and wisdom to get magnificent service out of a strong animal, possessed of many evil propensities. It is vastly wiser to put kicking straps on your horses than to ham-string them."

BUILDERS WILL STRIKE TO-DAY.

Work on Dwellings at Stamford, Conn., and Vicinity Likely to be Delayed a Long Time.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., March 31.—The expected strike among builders' trades unions will commence in this section to-morrow. Carpenters, plumbers, and painters quit work to-night on all buildings in the course of construction in Stamford and neighboring towns. They are prepared to remain idle for some time.

In most cases the principal demand made is for extra wages. The plumbers have a long list of grievances. They not only want an increase in pay of 50 cents a day but want to regulate the work in every shop so that absolutely none can be done but by union men. Only one boss plumber can work at a job at one time, according to their wishes. The employers are determined not to give in, and are in a position to stand idleness in building operations much longer than the men can.

The strike will probably not be marked by violence, but it will cause a great deal of annoyance, as there are a number of dwellings and Summer cottages in course of construction under contracts to be finished early this Summer. The builders will exert themselves to get skilled labor from out of town, but efforts in that direction which they have made have not resulted in much success. Some work can be done by unskilled labor, but only a limited amount. Among the buildings affected by the strike is the large Summer residence that Anson Phelps Stokes is building at Callender's Point.

SIX KILLED IN A FURNACE.

White-Hot Dust Drops Upon Workmen at Braddock, Penn.—Ten Fatally Hurt.

PITTSBURG, March 31.—An accident at Furnace I. of the Edgar Thomson plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, at Braddock to-day, is expected to prove one of the worst in the history of the plant. Twenty men were injured, six of whom are dead and ten are not expected to recover. The other injured went to their homes and are suffering from painful burns.

The accident was caused by a "hang" in the furnace dropping and forcing large quantities of white-hot dust down a large pipe into a pit where the men were at work. The victims were caught like rats in a trap without means of escape.

Their cries of agony as they writhed in the lava-like stuff, from which they were vainly trying to extricate themselves, could be heard for nearly a block away. Hundreds of workmen from other portions of the plant rushed to the rescue of their fellows, and as quickly as possible pulled them from the pit and carried them to the Emergency Hospital.

BLUE LAW IN PHILADELPHIA.

Sunday Newspapers Held by a Magistrate to be Necessary.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Employes of The Public Ledger, The Press, and The North American, and officers of the Union News Company, who were charged with violations of the Blue Law of 1794, were discharged to-day by Magistrate Gorman, before whom the cases were prosecuted. The Magistrate ruled that Sunday newspapers are a necessity, and so the defendants should not be convicted under the act.

Magistrate Gorman's decision is long and discusses the act of 1794 from several points of view, reviewing previous decisions and giving a history of early "Sunday" laws, of which, it is contended, that of 1794 was the lineal descendant and survivor.

In the preamble of the decision the Magistrate recites the contention of the counsel for the defendants, that the act of April 22, 1794, is unconstitutional, that it is indefinite and uncertain in its description of acts punishable thereunder, that the work performed by the defendants is a necessity, and that the information is defective in that it does not set out the work alleged to be done by defendants was not a "necessity or charity."

PLATT OPENLY FIGHTS ODELL MORTGAGE TAX

New York City Organizations Protest Against the Bill.

Gov. Odell Likely to Press the Measure Despite Opposition—Bankers Denounce the Proposal For Taxation of Mortgages.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—Through the Republican organizations of New York City Senator Platt to-day dealt Gov. Odell's Mortgage Tax bill a blow which many of the political diagnosticians describe as "probably fatal."

The man chosen for this task was Robert C. Morris, Chairman of the Republican Committee of New York County. Mr. Morris made no attempt to conceal the fact that his intention was to kill the bill. His blow was delivered in the open and in determined fashion. He appeared before the Joint Committee on Taxation and Retrenchment, and as he struck with his political bludgeon he was vigorously applauded by a large delegation of representative bankers from New York City and other parts of the State.

Mr. Morris's act created a great sensation, less because of the effect which it was likely to have on the measure than because of the political significance which those who were witnesses saw in it. He condemned the measure as the official representative of the Republican organizations of New York, Kings, Queens, and Richmond Counties. He offered no palliative with his protest, except the explanation subsequently made to the newspaper men that his action must not be construed as indicating any personal unfriendliness on the part of either Senator Platt or himself to Gov. Odell.

This disclaimer of any personal equation in connection with his protest provoked smiles from the politicians. It appeared perfectly plain to them that, unless Gov. Odell had agreed with Senator Platt to withdraw the Mortgage Tax bill, which from all the evidence obtainable appears not to be the case, a plain issue has been made between the Senator and the Governor on this proposition.

Mr. Morris owes his position at the head of the Republican County Committee of New York County to Senator Platt. There is no doubt, in view of Senator Platt's recent utterances on the subject, that in making the protest which he did to-day Mr. Morris was voicing the views of the senior Senator. It is the impression here that if the Senator had been able to bring the Governor around to his way of thinking upon this proposed legislation the protest would never have been made. The conclusion, therefore, is that the Senator and the Governor will make a test of strength on the bill.

To the delegation of bankers who waited on him after the hearing to-day, Gov. Odell gave little, if any, hope that the measure would be withdrawn. From a source near to the Governor, it is learned to-night that he has no intention of withdrawing it, although he may consent to its modification in some particulars. This is taken to indicate that he has counted the chances of a contest over the proposition and is willing to take them.

ATTITUDE OF THE GOVERNOR.

When the Governor was asked for enlightenment as to political deductions that might be drawn from what took place today he was uncommunicative. Asked if he had had previous knowledge of the resolution passed by the Republican Committee of New York County condemning the mortgage tax he declined to say.

In connection with the chances of the measure in view of the developments at the hearing to-day, it should be remembered that the Republican organizations of Greater New York have no substantial influence in the Legislature.

The only Republican Senator from New York County is Mr. Elsberg. He is a bitter political enemy of Senator Platt and Chairman Morris. The only Republican Senator from Brooklyn is Mr. Marshall. While Senator Marshall voted for Senator Platt's re-election, he has always been counted as an anti-Platt man, having for years been allied with the Worth and Atterbury factions in Brooklyn. There are only nine Republican Assemblymen from New York City and the majority of them are anti-Platt.

Therefore the protest of the New York City organizations against the bill may have much greater political significance than it will have influence in deciding the fate of the measure.

The Governor and his friends are relying on the caucus pledge in favor of the measure. It would be difficult, it is said, for another caucus to undo what the caucus of two weeks ago pledged itself to, as the Excise bill has passed both the Senate and the Assembly, and some of those who attended the caucus would be certain to assert that they supported the Excise bill because of the understanding that the mortgage tax went with it.

Accordingly the Governor's friends are throwing out hints to-night that those who have undertaken to hold an inquest on the Mortgage Tax bill may discover before they get through that they have a lively corpse on their hands.

The hearing to-day on the Mortgage Tax bill was held in the Senate Chamber, and the delegations which were present to offer their protests were large and influential. The argument which Robert C. Morris made against the bill was supplemented by Henry L. Stimson. Forcible protests were also made by ex-Mayor Schieren of Brooklyn, William Sherer, manager of the New York Clearing House, and John Harsen Rhoades. Among the bankers from New York City at the hearing were the following: John Harsen Rhoades, W. C. Sturges, Charles Frasier, W. G. Conkling, Casimir Tagg, C. W. Bird, William Felsinger, Samuel D. Styles, F. M. Leake, Joseph G. Robin, W. M. Spackman, Charles W. Dayton, W. N. Smith, H. B. Snell, all of Manhattan; Gen. J. V. Meserole, Williamsburg; Eugene T. Barnes, East Brooklyn; A. D. Mudge, Williamsburg, and Remsen Rishmore, and E. R. Maynard, Brooklyn.

MR. MORRIS'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Morris read his address to the committee. It was in the form of an official statement, as follows:

"At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee of the County of New York, held on the 19th inst., the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

That the different questions of taxation now pending before the Legislature at Albany, particularly those which in their operation will work to the detriment of the people of the City of New York, be submitted to the officers of the County Committee and the Chairman of the Executive Committee for their consideration, and that they be authorized to represent this Executive Committee before the Legislature as to the matters embraced in this resolution, taking such action respecting them as they may see fit under this authorization.

"Acting under this authorization, the members of the County Committee and the Chairman of the Executive Committee called a conference of the representatives of the several Republican organizations of the Counties of Kings, Queens, and Richmond, which has been followed by several others, and in behalf of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee of New York, and the officers of the Republican County Committee and the Chairman of the Executive Committee, as well as the representatives of the county organization of the Counties of Queens, Kings, and Richmond, I appear before your honorable body and submit their joint protest against the enactment of the Mortgage Tax bill.

"Public sentiment in Greater New York condemns mortgage taxation. The opposition has been often and earnestly expressed by the press, and by commercial, labor, and real estate organizations.

"It should not be supposed for a moment that the questions involved are not familiar ones. Possibly no question of State as distinguished from National taxation has been more constantly or fully discussed for a long period. The sentiment against mortgage taxation must be considered, therefore, intelligently and firmly held. It is based upon experiences and upon knowledge of various forms of mortgage taxations in other States, as well as upon the experience elsewhere of the plan of exempting mortgages from taxation.

OPPOSITION TO THE TAX.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the City of New York as long ago as 1870 urged the injustice of taxation on mortgages, and during the whole period since has continuously and consistently held to those views.

"The opposition of real estate interests has been so fervently voiced that it is not necessary to quote anything in evidence. The Board of Real Estate, the Real Estate Exchange of Brooklyn, and the Real Estate Owners' Association have within a few days given evidence of their attitude.

"The views of our commercial, labor, and urban real estate owning classes are shared by better-informed people in the rural districts; but many of our fellow-citizens in those sections have not yet learned that a mortgage tax falls inevitably upon the borrower, nor rid themselves of the idea that men of means ought to be taxed upon the paper evidence of their wealth, although the property covered by the paper has already been taxed.

"The mortgage tax bill in question has been introduced in order to avoid a possible need to increase the direct tax levy. When this part of the subject is considered, a variety of considerations are found to be involved.

"A direct tax, levied in the usual manner, falls almost entirely on real estate. If the collection of say $6,000,000 for the State by direct tax is to be avoided by collection for the State of an equal sum from mortgages on real estate, in what respect are the owners of real estate benefited? Only in this way—that part of the real estate which belongs to people who have no mortgages on their property will pay no part of the $6,000,000, while the people less well off, whose properties are mortgaged, will pay their own share of the $6,000,000 and the share of the class whose property is not mortgaged.

"And this leads to the statement that the levy of indirect taxes must always be guarded in an extreme way if injustice is to be avoided. An executive body seldom stops to make broad studies of economic taxation. Money is wanted, and is secured along the lines of least resistance.

"Under the traditional tax system of the State a higher levy would be made that would extend to every dollar of property, real and personal, throughout the State, that could be found and assessed by the taxing authorities. Under the direct tax system some special object is sought out and made to bear a special levy. One day it is savings banks, another day insurance companies, on another day trust companies are affected, and on still another day liquor dealers.

EFFECT ON THE PARTY.

"The policy of helping out the State Treasury by indirect levies has long prevailed. Although in the past it has been pursued with careful discretion, in recent years, however, genuine alarm has been felt; and this alarm has already come to be so far a source of distrust among voters that it is an element in the political situation.

"Benefit has accrued to the rural sections, and extraordinary drains have been put upon urban interests. Both sections know the facts, and both have acted, and will act, in view of this knowledge. It tends perhaps to Republican strength up-State; surely to Democratic strength in the cities, and a net Republican loss in the State at large.

"Again, there is no sentiment stronger among the people in our cities than that favoring home rule. Both parties favor it. But home rule cannot be narrowly limited. It must go to all essential and important interests in a reasonable way, to taxation as well as to excise questions, to the conservation of subjects of taxation as well as to a normal control of expenditures.

"The revenue requirements of the State are, say, $24,000,000 a year; of the city, say, $100,000,000. The State, however, can draw upon all the State, and on the basis of assessed values, one-third, about, is fairly chargeable to the State outside of the City of New York. In this view New York City should provide $16,000,000, more or less, of what the State needs, and the interest of the State in the taxable subjects of New York City is then $16,000,000, against the local interest of $100,000,000. This proportion is, roughly, 1 to 6. It is about 1 to 9 if population is considered.

"The taking, therefore, of one-third of the revenue from any special subject of taxation, or, what is worse, one-half, as proposed in this bill, and in the Excise bill, or, what is still worse, all of the revenue, as in the case of trust companies and savings banks, is open to the gravest condemnation.

"Just regard, then, to right economic views of mortgage taxation; just regard for public sentiment on the subject; just regard for a right balance of taxation on real estate; just regard for a fair application of the policy of indirect taxation; just regard for the principle of home rule, and just regard to a right balance of taxation between the city and the State imperatively demand that this mortgage-tax measure should be abandoned."

VIEWS OF THE BANKERS.

Charles A. Schieren marshaled the bankers, first speaking briefly himself and then presenting the various speakers. He said if the Mortgage Tax bill were enacted the savings banks would be obliged to reduce the rate of interest to 3 per cent. The savings banks held mortgages amounting to $300,000,000, on which the State would collect $2,000,000 taxes. The banks were already paying taxes amounting to $750,000 annually on their surplus. The bill would create distress among borrowers, and he was opposed to it because it was wrong in principle, and was double taxation.

Charles Stone, counsel for the Onondaga Savings Bank of Syracuse, suggested a bill that would exempt mortgages from all taxation. He said this bill would discriminate on other personal property, and that savings banks would deteriorate unless the State gave them more protection, instead of levying additional taxation upon them.

John Harsen Rhoades, President of the Greenwich Savings Bank of New York City, and a Director in a score of financial institutions making mortgage investments their business, spoke forcibly against the bill. He said the minute it became a law the first act of the institutions he represented would be to send notices to every mortgagor that arrangements must be made to meet the tax, and that the interest would be increased one-half of 1 per cent. New terms would be made, or the loans would have to be paid forthwith.

"The notice would create the utmost distress, and would particularly affect the farming interests. The influences of the bill are already felt, he declared, and men are walking the streets of New York City hunting for money, and willing to give mortgages, who cannot get what they want because the various institutions and life insurance companies are not loaning money these days until they see what the fate of the bill will be."

William B. Dunlap, representing the Amsterdam Savings Bank and a former Republican member of the Assembly, made an extended argument against the bill. Concluding, he said:

"The sentiment throughout the State against the State administration is very strong. As a Republican I deplore it, but admit the fact. If this bill passes, the State will go overwhelmingly Democratic."

Thomas M. Gilchrist of Saratoga declared the mortgage tax would mean ruin to a large number of farmers.

D. B. Wilmot, Chairman of the Taxation Committee of the West End Association and of the Central Mortgage Exemption Committee of New York, filed a protest.

At the conclusion of the hearing the bankers went down to the executive chamber, and Gov. Odell was summoned to meet them. Ex-Mayor Schieren of Brooklyn introduced the delegation, stating that they represented bankers of the State having capital and deposits aggregating $1,100,000,000.

Gov. Odell addressed the delegation as follows: "I presume that your protest will receive proper and earnest consideration. I wish to assure you that the legislation of which you complain is not intended to injure you or the interests you represent. It has been my policy ever to seek to protect rather than endanger vested capital. Savings banks are the depositories of the masses of the people. I always remember that when any legislation affecting them is submitted to me, and try to take a broad view of these matters, and have no desire except to do what is best for the whole people."

DOG BELIEVED RABID BITES NINE CHILDREN

Bull Terrier Spreads Terror in West Side Neighborhood.

At Large All Forenoon Before Being Killed—Shot as It Attacked Little Girl.

A large, white bull terrier all forenoon yesterday ran through the streets from Eighth Avenue to the North River, and from Twenty-third Street to Thirty-first Street, frothing at the mouth and snapping at and biting pedestrians, lamp posts, standing signs, elevated railroad pillars, and other objects in its path. Nine children—eight boys and a girl—are known to have been bitten by the animal, and it is believed that there were other victims whose names were not reported to the police.

It was 12:20 o'clock before the dog was killed by Policeman James J. Kirk of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station. Citizens had chased the animal down Twenty-eighth Street from Eighth Avenue, one of them, Isaac Isaacs, a florist, shooting at it several times with his revolver. At Ninth Avenue the noise of the shots attracted the attention of the policeman.

"Stop that shooting here in the crowded street," shouted Kirk, seizing Mr. Isaacs by the arm.

"Let go, for God's sake, man!" yelled the man, jerking away. "That dog is mad." He ran on after the animal and the policeman joined in the chase.

Mr. Isaacs had seen the dog dart past his store, at Eighth Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street, three or four times. He judged from its appearance and actions that it was rabid. It carried its head low, its nose extended, white foam dripped from its jaws, and it was snapping at everything and nothing.

The policeman, Mr. Isaacs, and Thomas Morrison, a street car inspector, caught up with the animal in front of Public School No. 33, halfway down between Ninth and Tenth Avenues. Then it eluded them. A few feet further on it leaped at a four-year-old girl, Catherine Garvin, knocking the child down and biting her left hand. It stood over the prostrate form of the child, but only for a moment, for as it was about to bite the girl again the policeman kicked it, sending it several feet. Kirk then shot the animal three times.

The victims whose names the police obtained were the following:

DUNN, STEPHEN, five years old, of 345 West Twenty-seventh Street; bitten on the left wrist.

GARVIN, CATHERINE, four years old, 315 West Twenty-eighth Street, bitten on right arm.

KELLY, ROBERT, thirteen years old, of 448 West Twenty-seventh Street, bitten on right forearm.

O'HARE, WILLIE R., fourteen years old, of 336 West Twenty-ninth Street, his coat and the front of his jersey torn off and body scratched.

WHITE, HERMAN, four years old, of 337 West Twenty-eighth Street, left arm bitten.

WRIGHT, HAROLD, six years old, of 315 West Twenty-eighth Street, right arm bitten.

The children were carried into the office of Dr. A. C. Bridges, at 344 West Twenty-eighth Street, and the doctor cauterized every wound. The Kelly boy was bitten at the pier at West Twenty-third Street at 8 o'clock in the morning. He did not think his wound serious, but when he returned home after school and told his mother about the matter, she hastened to Dr. Bridges with him, arriving at about the time the others were taken there. Later she took him to the Pasteur Institute.

The dog's body was left in the street. The police did not consider it their duty to remove it to the Pasteur Institute, but set a watch to prevent the street cleaners from taking it away, so that if any interested persons wanted it they might have it.

Mrs. Kelly tried to get the police to take the body to the institute, which is in West Twenty-third Street, and when they refused, she got a hand cart and took it there herself.

At the Pasteur Institute it was said that it would take from fifteen to twenty-one days to determine wheher or not the animal had rabies. Had the animal been taken alive, it would have been possible to ascertain within twenty-four hours.

Public School No. 33, a primary school for boys and girls, and a grammar school for boys, had turned its several hundred pupils out ten minutes before the dog appeared, but many of the children remained thereabouts, playing in the street, and Mr. Isaacs, the policeman, and others who were there at the time, said it was remarkable that many more were not bitten.

John O'Connor, janitor of the school, said that the streets were "alive with dogs of every kind and description." The boys of the school, he said, amused themselves alternately by chasing the animals about and by carrying them surreptitiously into the schoolrooms. At times he had taken three or four dogs out of the building in a single day. He had often thought of the danger the children incurred.

A small mongrel dog, foaming at the mouth, scared many persons at Ninth Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street about 6 o'clock. Working girls fled down the streets and into stores, while the dog ran around barrels and carts to escape Policeman Donohue, who was trying to hit it with a club. Donohue finally killed the dog.

RAILWAY FRANCHISE SIGNED.

Mayor Gets Admission from Interborough Company That It Runs for Only Twenty-five Years.

Mayor Low in a communication to the Board of Aldermen yesterday said that he had attached his signature to the ordinance passed by the board on March 16 granting to the New York City Interborough Railway Company the right to operate a trolley road in certain streets in the Bronx and northern part of Manhattan Borough.

The Mayor says that he was informed by the Corporation Counsel that the franchise runs for twenty-five years after its approval by the Mayor. In order to secure the city from any danger or risk upon a question so important, the Mayor says he has obtained from the railroad company an admission in writing that the term of the franchise is a term of twenty-five years from the time the Mayor signs it, and that it is the opinion of the Corporation Counsel that this admission disposes of all criticisms based upon alleged defects in the ordinance.

The Mayor states that as to the objection raised to the route through Riverdale and Aqueduct Avenues, that if the State Railroad Commissioners are asked to withhold their consent to this route that the railroad company, he is informed, will offer no objection. The Mayor adds that he will be glad to join with the property owners in asking the Railroad Commissioners to withhold their consent from this particular route on Riverdale Avenue. The Mayor says he is convinced that a majority of property owners along Aqueduct Avenue are in favor of that route, and that he believes public interest requires that the franchise for this route should stand.

OBJECT TO HALF-MAST FLAG.

Trenton Men Compel Swift & Co.'s Manager to Hoist It to Full Staff.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., March 31.—Determined that the Stars and Stripes should not be half-masted for a dead trust magnate, Augustus Riley of North Willow Street forced the manager of the Trenton house of Swift & Co. to run the flag up to full staff to-day.

Shortly after the manager, out of respect for the memory of Gustavus F. Swift, had put the flag at half-mast, he was visited by Riley at the head of a delegation of neighbors, who demanded by what right the American flag was half-masted for "simply a dead multi-millionaire, a trust magnate." The delegation threatened to make trouble, and amid shouts of triumph the manager ran up the flag to full staff.

Noah Raby's 131st Birthday.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 31.—Noah Raby will celebrate his birthday at the Piscataway Township Poor Farm, near here, to-morrow. It will be his one hundred and thirty-first according to Noah's autobiography. The old gentleman is anticipating much pleasure from the visit of his newspaper friends who have been writing him up for generations. Noah thinks there is absolutely no reason why he should not live to be 150 if his health and press agents retain their vitality.

IMPENDING APRIL STRIKES.

The journeymen plumbers and tinsmiths of Bayonne are to go on strike this morning. The boss plumbers of the city all belong to the Master Plumbers' Association, which has decided not to give in to the men. New terms are demanded by the latter, which are affiliated with Local 55, Amalgamated Steel Metal Workers' International Association. The plumbers want $3.50 a day of eight hours, and also make other demands.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., March 31.—When the plumbers and gas fitters quit work to-night it is expected they will have ceased to work until their demands are conceded by their employers or they are compelled to accept the bosses' terms. A delegation from the men had a conference with the bosses last night, but they failed to come to an agreement. The men have been getting $3.50 for a nine-hour day. They demand $4 for eight hours. The bosses offered $3.75 for an eight-hour day, with a half holiday on Saturday, and also made the concession that the men should be paid at the places where they were at work when within the city limits.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., March 31.—The first batch of mechanics to go out in the annual strike of the building trades in the Oranges this year will be the painters and decorators, who will go out to-morrow to enforce their demands for an increase of from $2.50 to $3 per day. The bosses signified a willingness to make an advance of 25 cents a day. It is also believed the plumbers and tinners will strike to-morrow, and carpenters and the allied trades will probably be involved in sympathetic strikes.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., March 31.—The plumbers, painters, and paperhangers of Montclair, it is expected, will go on strike to-morrow for an increase of wages, the bosses having refused to grant the demands of the men. The plumbers want $3.50 a day, instead of $3.25; the painters $3 instead of $2.75. The paperhangers want $3.25 instead of $3.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 31.—It looks to-night as if the strike of the building trades journeymen along the Sound shore from the Bronx River to New Haven could not be averted. The men are firm in their demands, and refuse to even talk arbitration, claiming that the last time they submitted to this they were beaten in a just cause. The bosses also say they are ready for the issue. The men will go on strike in the morning. If they do not yield or a compromise is not affected before May 1 the strike will become a lockout. The bosses have established a new wage scale which they have bound themselves to put into effect on May 1. It averages just about 50 per cent. of what the men have demanded.

YONKERS, N. Y., March 31.—The carpenters, masons, and plumbers of this city will go on strike to-morrow morning, and, according to the bosses, the outlook is for a Summer of vacation. All the employers say they are ready for the strike. They have comparatively little work on hand, and what they have they say was all taken with strike clauses protecting them. The bosses offered to compromise, and offered an all-round increase of 10 per cent., but this was refused. Mayor Walsh has tried to bring about arbitration, but the effort has failed.

NEW HAVEN ROAD WAGES.

Employes' Proposition Considered by the System's Directors.

Another meeting of the Board of Directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad was held at the Grand Central Station yesterday afternoon to discuss the wages proposition of the men. The subject of the hour schedules was not touched on. President Hall and others said before the meeting that the questions of the hours, on the eleven-hour basis, they regarded as practically settled.

Among those at the meeting were President Hall, Vice President William D. Bishop, George J. Brush, New Haven; Charles F. Brooker, Ansonia; Nathaniel Thayer, Boston. Others present were General Manager W. E. Chamberlain and C. H. Platt and C. Peter Clark, General Superintendents, respectively of the Eastern and Western Divisions. J. Pierpont Morgan and William Rockefeller, who came late, attended the meeting, which lasted two hours. President Hall stated that there was no announcement to make. The moderated wage schedule was discussed. The representatives of the company will meet the representatives of the men to-day.

CAPT. LUQUEER A SUICIDE.

Veteran Soldier and Clubman Stricken with Disease and Had But a Few Days to Live.

Capt. Francis T. Luqueer, Jr., a veteran soldier and clubman, and President of the corporation of R. S. Luqueer & Co., saddlers, at 67 Murray Street, committed suicide at dawn yesterday, at his home, 47 East Sixty-third Street, by shooting himself in the right temple. He had been informed by Dr. Jared J. Baldwin of 8 East Forty-first Street, that he would probably die within a few days, and that only a faint chance of life lay in a critical operation to remove an accumulation of water about his heart. His kidneys, too, were hopelessly diseased. Capt. Luqueer's ailments had long been developing, but only took an acute turn a fortnight ago. Even last Thursday he was at his office. He was of such a cheerful disposition that when the news of his death reached his business associates downtown all scouted the possibility of his having died by his own hand, and were sure there had been a mistake in the report to the Coroner.

O. C. W. Weber, Treasurer of the concern, said late in the day that he had visited Capt. Luqueer on Monday in regard to business and had found him in good spirits and had just heard from Mrs. Robert L. Major, Capt. Luqueer's sister, that her brother had died from natural causes. Capt. Luqueer left no letters, but it is believed that he entertained the idea of suicide for several days, for he had never had a revolver in the house before, and it is thought that he purchased the pistol with which to kill himself on his last trip downtown. Robert L. Major, Jr., who slept in an adjoining room heard the shot. Finding he could get no response from his uncle, he awakened his parents. They found the Captain in a dying condition.

Capt. Luqueer was sixty-four years old. He joined the Seventh Regiment in 1854, where he attained to the command of Company K. He was in the civil war and belonged to Lafayette Post, G. A. R. He was also a member of the Lotos, Hardware, and New York Athletic Clubs. The business of which he was the head was founded by his grandfather, whose name it bore, in 1814. Capt. Luqueer's connection with it began in 1857. Mr. Major, his brother-in-law, was in the same line of business, but had retired.

PEABODY TRUST FUND.

A special committee of the George Peabody Trust Fund appointed to select a successor to the late Dr. J. L. M. Curry as general agent decided at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday to defer action until the annual meeting of the Trustees on the first Wednesday in October. Those present were J. Pierpont Morgan, Richard Olney of Massachusetts, Hoke Smith of Georgia, D. C. Gilman, ex-President of Johns Hopkins University, and now President of the Carnegie Institution, and Dr. Samuel A. Green.

"The Peabody Fund was created in 1867 by the late George Peabody," said Dr. Green. "One-third of the amount was in Florida and Mississippi bonds, which were subsequently repudiated, but the Trustees have on hand about $2,100,000. The Trustees have the right to terminate the trust fund at the end of thirty years. There has been an idea that some action might be taken in that direction to-day, but the matter was not even discussed. It may or may not be considered at the October meeting. We met to-day to see what could be done with regard to filling the vacancy caused by Dr. Curry's death, and decided to leave his former assistant in control, at least until the annual meeting here the first week in October."

TO BUILD A BIG HOTEL.

William Crittenden Adams took title yesterday to 34 and 36 West Thirty-first Street, purchased through Charles H. Easton & Co., and will erect there a twelve-and-a-half-story modern fireproof hotel.

A lease of the hotel has been secured for a long term of years by W. G. Leland, who will run it in connection with the Grand Hotel, adjoining.

SUITS MAY TIE UP SUBWAY

Sub-Contractors in Litigation Over the Work.

McCabe Brothers Allege Breach of Contract Because $35,000 Was Withheld.

Continued delay on Sections 13 and 14 of the rapid transit subway are threatened by a sub-contractors' fight that got into the Supreme Court yesterday before Justice Gildersleeve. Those sections of the work are on the west side, running from West One Hundred and Thirty-third Street to Hillside Avenue, and including some of the deepest tunneling in the entire system.

The action came into court on a motion of attorneys for Rufus C. Hunt, nominated by John B. McDonald as Superintendent of the work under the contract of McCabe Brothers, and appointed by those contractors under an agreement with Mr. McDonald, for an order staying McCabe Brothers from removing any part of their machinery and plant from the sections in question until the merits of the main action brought by him shall have been decided. McCabe Brothers, represented by L. Laflin Kellogg, declare that the contract with Mr. McDonald and the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company had been broken by the action of Mr. McDonald in withholding $35,000 of money due them, and that the contract with Mr. Hunt also has been broken, so there is nothing to do but remove the machinery. Further complications arise from the fact that two creditors, one a granite company and the other a drill concern, have attachments aggregating $50,000 on the machinery in question. These attachment creditors want the machinery left there and continued in use.

In court Mr. Kellogg served notice that work now being done on the sections, and supposedly under the direction of Mr. Hunt, is entirely without the sanction of McCabe Brothers, and that they will have nothing more to do with the contract. Justice Gildersleeve tried to evolve some sort of an arrangement between the contending parties, but when he found this was not at all likely to be productive of results, he took the papers and reserved his decision.

STEAMBOAT COMBINE RUMOR.

Citizens' Line Stockholder Admits Hudson River Interests Have Considered Merger.

The rumor is revived of an early consolidation of the principal steamboat companies doing a passenger business on the Hudson River. These are the People's Line of Albany, the Albany Day Line, the Citizens' Line of Troy, and the Central Hudson Company, in the last of which Gov. Odell is said to be interested.

A large stockholder in the Citizens' Line said yesterday that the matter was under discussion.

"The subject," he said, "has been considered for some time, and it possesses attractions in the fact that none of the companies is capitalized for anything like the amount that could be fixed on consolidation. But I do not anticipate any early action. All the companies are doing well, and for some years the Citizens' Company paid its stockholders 40 per cent. The loss of the Sunnyside materially reduced the dividends after the casualty."

HAWKES SEES THE GOVERNOR.

Believes That the Central Company Will Get a Pier.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—Dock Commissioner McDougall Hawkes called on Gov. Odell in the Executive Chamber to-day and they had a conference. When Mr. Hawkes was seen later and asked whether the Governor's steamboat company would get the lease which it is seeking to Pier 24 in New York, Mr. Hawkes said:

"The Sinking Fund Commission will meet to-morrow, and I assume that the lease will be granted. I see no reason why it should not be. The Central Hudson Company is a corporation of good standing, and the offer which it has made to the city is a fair one. This talk of corruption in connection with the grant of the proposed lease is all nonsense."

STEAMSHIP ON SHORE NEAR ATLANTIC CITY.

The Brighton, from Port Antonio, Likely to be a Total Loss—Four Passengers Taken Off.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 31.—The Norwegian steamship Brighton, with a cargo of fruit, bound from Port Antonia, Jamaica, to New York, ran aground on Middle Bar off Absecom Light, last night during a dense fog. The vessel is now hard and fast, and there seems little chance that she can be floated. She had four men passengers on board, who were taken off this morning by the life-saving crew. They were M. A. Peter and W. S. Denneck of Boston, R. J. Reed of New York, and D. J. Reed of Mount Forest, Canada.

The life savers had trouble in the night in locating the vessel, owing to the dense fog. Capt. Otto Krohg and his crew of twenty-two men are still on board. They are engaged in breaking out the cargo, and are aided by the wreckers. The wrecking craft are lying off the coast, but the Brighton is in too shallow water for the powerful boats to get close to her. Kedges have been run out, however, and the wreckers are awaiting any favorable moment to work.

The forward compartment of the Brighton is full of water to the waterline, and it is believed there is a bad hole in the forefoot. The Brighton is a steel, screw vessel of 1,030 gross tons and 715 net. She is valued at $125,000 and her cargo at $40,000. Her grounding was caused by the Captain being obliged to run on dead reckoning for more than thirty-six hours. He supposed he was several miles at sea, but the ship had been making more leeway than was calculated and ran out of her course. The beach for miles is strewn with bunches of bananas and cases of oranges which have been jettisoned in the effort to get the vessel off before she sustains more harm.

TURF CONCERN QUITS.

Proprietors of South Bend (Ind.) Company Promise to Pay Investors in Full.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 31.—The Benedict Turf and Commission Company, an investment concern established many years ago by John W. Benedict, who was later succeeded by Walter Curtis, has ceased operations. The company operated in Chicago until recently, when, after paying back about $240,000 during a run, it removed to this city.

The proprietors have left town, but before they left they sent out a circular to hundreds of investors stating that the investors would not lose any money. They carried nearly $500,000 of business and practically all that is left is said to be horses valued at $100,000 now at the Memphis track. They had investors all over the country.

A Hospital Mortgage Settled.

Chairman Ruttenau of the Executive Committee of St. Mark's Hospital, at 177 Second Avenue, announced yesterday that a mortgage of $5,000 on the hospital had been paid off. The money, he said, had been raised in three months by subscriptions.

MEXICAN CURRENCY STANDARD.

Charles A. Conant Talks of the Likelihood of a Stable and Uniform Exchange Basis.

Early action to give stability to the currency of Mexico is predicted by Charles A. Conant, Treasurer of the Morton Trust Company, who has just returned from the Mexican capital. Mr. Conant was invited by the Mexican Government, along with Edward Brush of the American Smelting and Refining Company and Prof. J. W. Jenks of Cornell University, to visit Mexico and confer with the Minister of Finance in regard to the provision made by Congress for the co-operation of the United States with Mexico and China in regard to giving stability and uniformity to the currency systems of the silver-using countries. Speaking of this matter yesterday, Mr. Conant said:

"I think that the Mexican Government will establish a fixed exchange standard for Mexico, which will continue the large use of silver coins, but will provide for keeping them at par with gold by Government control of the quantity and by a gold-exchange fund in the leading financial centres. Mr. Limantour, the Minister of Finance, and other leading Mexican officials are keenly alive to the disadvantages which the country has suffered from a continuously declining rate of exchange, which has compelled her to give up a constantly increasing proportion of her products in exchange for the products of gold countries.

"I think there will be no difficulty whatever in carrying out this project with the prudent management which I think is assured under the administration of President Diaz and Mr. Limantour. There is no doubt that if an exchange standard is established it will be safeguarded by similar provisions to those in our own statutes for maintaining the parity of our paper and silver money. Mexico already conducts her fiscal affairs through the National bank, and does not disturb the money market by locking up funds in the Government Treasury. Her credit is good, and is likely to be greatly improved with the definite adoption of an exchange standard."

As to the investment of American capital in Mexican railways and other enterprises, Mr. Conant said:

"There appears to be none of that fear which exists in some European capitals that American capital and enterprise will displace those of the country. It is to this country that enlightened Mexicans naturally look for this co-operation. They have the hearty support of the Government in welcoming American capital and enterprise to Mexico, and there is an American colony of several thousand at the capital. The City of Mexico has improved greatly within four or five years, largely as the result of American investments there. The streets are well paved and lighted, electric tramways run to the principal suburbs, and the system of sewerage and water supply has been brought up to modern standards.

"A recent Government decree makes the teaching of English compulsory in the public schools. It is already spoken by nearly all the leading statesmen of Mexico.

"Steps are being taken constantly to strengthen the bonds of commercial unity between Mexico and the United States and to lay deep the foundations of industrial development in the country."

WILL SEARCH STEAMSHIP.

Three Sailors Arrested While Going Ashore with Sumatra Tobacco.

Shortly before midnight last night Government Inspectors Driscoll, Piterly, and Airgle were watching the Phoenix Line steamship St. George, Capt. John Lewis, lying at the foot of Pavonia Avenue, Jersey City, when fifteen sailors came down the gangplank and made a rush for the shore, knocking Driscoll down.

Airgle and Piterly ran to his rescue and they succeeded in arresting three of the men, upon whom were found fifteen pounds of Sumatra tobacco. The Collector of the Port was notified, and additional inspectors were hurried to Jersey City to take charge of the ship, which will be thoroughly searched to-day.

SUB-TREASURY'S BIG PAYMENT.

Warrant for $3,000,000 for the Philippine Government Cashed.

The United States Sub-Treasury paid out over the counter yesterday a warrant for $3,000,000 for the relief of the Philippines. The warrant was presented about noon by representatives of the Guaranty Trust Company, fiscal agent for the Philippine Government. The amount was paid in gold certificates of $5,000 and $10,000 each. The entire package was so small that it could be carried away in a small satchel.

The whole transaction was over in a few minutes, and the only unusual precaution taken was that the trust company notified the Sub-Treasurer by telephone who the men were that had been sent to collect the warrant.

The money will be placed at once at the disposal of the Government in Manila. At the branch of the Guaranty Trust Company in that city sufficient credits have been established by exchange operations to provide for the payment. In this city the money goes directly into reserves, and will more than offset the losses which the banks have sustained to the Sub-Treasury during the week.

Must Retry Architect's Suit.

Robert Maynicke, the architect, of 725 Broadway, who has been suing the Central Realty Bond and Trust Company for $80,725, which he declares to be due him for his plans and the building permit, issued in his name, for the construction of the big Broad-Exchange Building, will have to try his case all over again. For three days the action has been pending before Justice O'Gorman and a jury in the Supreme Court, and yesterday a disagreement of the jury was announced. The jury stood 8 to 4 for the plaintiff.

Tax on the Theodore Hellman Estate.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—Under a decision of the Court of Appeals to-day the estate of Theodore Hellman, which was appraised at $211,152, must pay a transfer tax of $2,072. The Appellate Division reversed the New York Surrogate's decision. The Court of Appeals in turn reverses the Appellate Division and sustains the Surrogate.

TRAINS CRASH IN BROOKLYN.

Man and Child Slightly Hurt and a Hundred Other Passengers Shaken in a Rear-End Collision.

In a rear-end collision between two elevated railroad trains in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon the passengers in the cars were thrown about and a man and a child slightly injured. The accident occurred at Adams and Sands Streets, near the bridge terminal.

A Bay Ridge train bound in was standing on Sands Street when a motor train coming from Bath Beach rounded the curve from Adams Street and crashed into the rear of the first train. The Bath Beach train was traveling at a slow pace, but the collision was violent enough to throw one of the cars of the Bay Ridge train from the rails and smash many of the panes of glass in the windows of the cars of both trains. The rear platform of the last car of the first train and the forward platform of the second train were also badly twisted and broken.

There were about fifty passengers on each train, and the force of the collision tossed them violently about in the cars. Esther Shapiro, one year old, of 58 Montgomery Street, Manhattan, was thrown from her mother's arms and injured about the head. Philip Sarsoski, fifty years old, of 247 Clinton Street, Manhattan, was hurled from his seat to the floor and received contusions of the chest. Both were passengers on the Bay Ridge train. They were taken to the Bridge Police Station, and after being attended by Ambulance Surgeon Atkins of the Brooklyn Hospital were sent to their homes.

It required half an hour in which to clear the line, and during that time traffic on the Fifth Avenue, Lexington Avenue, and Ridgewood divisions was blocked.

Drowned in Shinnecock Bay.

Special to The New York Times.

GOOD GROUND, L. I., March 31.—The body of Edward Bellows, whose boat was swamped during the storm last night, was recovered in Shinnecock Bay this afternoon by a large force of villagers, who had dragged the bay bottom since daylight. This is the fourth case of drowning here within a year, the other victims having been "Dimple" Lawrence and Clarence Foster and Foster's brother Louis.

The Wanamaker Store — The Wanamaker Store — The Wanamaker Store

The Right of The Superlative

THERE are certain people of commendable modesty who think that superlative claims should never be made about one's own affairs or accomplishments—that if such superlative qualities are possessed the world will find it out for itself.

There are other people whom one might call modest, who count it entirely beyond the bounds of necessity to say that a blanket is part cotton, or that gold is only ten karat, or that goods with almost imperceptible imperfections are seconds. They also think it proper and right to allow the public to make the discovery for itself.

On the other hand we believe that information is a better quality in advertising than mock modesty. And whatever quality is possessed by the movement or the merchandise should be stated plainly for the guidance of purchasers.

If a thing is white, it should be so described, so that the person who wants black need not make a bootless journey. Its texture, width or other size, should be stated; character and color of decoration, if any; and its quality and value, if sold under-price.

If it is the best goods made, that statement is as necessary to its description as the fact that it is black or white. Its market value is as necessary to its identification as its classification as wool or cotton.

If an offering is the "best ever made," the public wants to know it in terms clearly understandable, upon the authority of a store that has the necessary data and knowledge to make such a statement of fact.

The right to the use of the Superlative exists most largely, of course, with the store that is most able to achieve Superlative accomplishments.

The WANAMAKER STORE is not only an old firmly established organization of vast prestige; it is also today in most lines the largest individual buyer in America. And apart from that it is an organization of ideas and initiative. It is always aiming at the new and original. It creates conditions that not only justify but demand the Superlative and Premier when presenting information to the public.

The fact that the Superlative is used widely and unjustly in public print, in no way disqualifies it when used advisedly, as necessary to the full statement in WANAMAKER advertising.

Black Dress Goods

Of the Sought-for Sheer Sorts

THE popularity of loosely-meshed weaves for dress fabrics has led to some remarkably successful experimenting. The result is an aggregate, in our stock of Black Dress Goods alone, of over 150 distinct weaves and qualities, in summer weights; every one of which is of the clingy, sheer sort that Fashion demands.

The collection ranges from the most cobwebby of voiles to the coarsest of etamines, woven from a yarn as heavy as a kite string. And it includes the crepe mistrals, with their glistening, kinky twist, the silk-and-wool eolliennes, and the sheer silk-and-wool crepe de Paris—both soft and silky—and scores of others. Some of them are indicated in the following list:

All-wool Sheer French Voiles, 75c, 85c, $1, $1.25 $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.25 a yard.
All-wool Etamines, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 a yard.
Silk Embroidered Figured Voile, $1.25 and $2.25 a yard.
Etamine Boutonne, $1.50 a yard.
Wool and Mohair Crepe Mistral, 65c, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2 a yard.
Crepe Mistral Boutonne, $1 a yard.
Silk-and-wool Eolienne, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 yd.
Silk-and-wool Figured Eolienne, $1.25, $1.50, and $2 a yard.
Silk-and-wool Crepe de Paris, 85c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.25 and $2.50 a yard.
Silk-and-wool Figured Crepe de Paris, $2.25 yd.
Silk-and-wool Clairette, $1, $1.25 and $1.50 yd.

Men's Spring Overcoats

THE time for waiting is past—April is here, Easter two weeks away, and the weather too warm for the winter overcoats. The most important information is in reference to where to find the coat you want.

There are two reasons why you should come to WANAMAKER'S. The first, is because every good style brought out this season is shown here, making the broadest-handsomest collection to be found ready-made in New York City; and every coat shown is not only absolutely all-wool, but the tailoring is of high and worthy character. The styles are just as smart as the best tailors can make them.

The second point is the matter of price. You will probably save several dollars on what equal coats will cost in any other store that shows you clothing of equal character. Here are some suggestions of variety and prices.

Covert cloth Overcoats, in 32 and 34-inch lengths; short and nobby; some have stitched collars and seams; at $12 to $22.

Oxford and black Overcoats, for dress wear, of all-wool unfinished worsted; silk-lined and faced to edge. A good $20 value, at $15.

Some very elegant Oxford Overcoats, silk-lined and faced to edge, at $25.

Black and Oxford cheviot Overcoats; serge-lined, satin sleeve-linings, at $10 and $12.

Cravenette Raincoats—good for clear as well as rainy weather—made by the same hands that make our finest overcoats. You get a coat that looks and wears as well as one for which your tailor would charge you double our price.

Fancy cheviots in dark and medium Oxfords and greenish and brown effects. Some of the coats are made with full backs and belts; brimful of style, at $22 to $30.

A Cravenette Surtout is shown, that for style has no equal, at $32.50. Second floor, Fourth ave.

Men's Hats at $3

IF three dollars is the amount you have set aside for your Spring hat, you can have more choice in the matter of spending it in this Hat Store than any other place we knew.

Our line of Men's $3 Hats, in the new Spring styles, is remarkably broad. It includes soft hats, in black, pearl and nutria, and Derby hats, in black and three shades of brown.

Of course, the fine assortment of "Imperial" $3 Hats is prominent.

The hat store is a very handy place to drop into, on your way up or down town. South-east corner of Broadway and Ninth.

Boys' Wash Suits And Blouses

WASH Suits for the little fellows, while not restricted to warm weather wear by the calendar, grow more popular as the season progresses.

We've been getting in some jaunty new styles—Regulation Sailor Suits and plain Sailor Blouse Suits, of mercerized chambray, linen, crash, English galatea, pique and butcher's linen—suits that will appeal to the mothers and tickle the boys. Sizes 3 to 12 years. Prices, 85c to $6.50.

Boys' Shirt-waists and Blouses, too, in a variety of pretty wash materials; sizes 5 to 15 years, at 50c to $1.25.

Second floor, Ninth street.

And Some $3 Oxford Shoes

YOU can't compare these "Wanamaker-Reliable" $3 Shoes with any others at the same price. They acknowledge no equals at $3.50, and you have to hunt among shoes that cost a dollar more for their superiors.

Just now, the Spring line is ready—thirty styles and leathers—presenting a variety that insures the suitable shoes for every occasion, and every taste.

In smartness, in wearing quality, in the ease and comfort they give the feet, the "Wanamaker-Reliable" shoes stand in a class by themselves at their price. Some of the styles:

Stout Walking Boots

Box calfskin, laced. Dull oxide kid, laced.
Heavy kidskin, extension soles.
Enamel leather, laced.

Medium-weight Boots.

Black kidskin, medium-weight welted soles.
Patent leather, lace and button.
Kid foxed, dull kid top, button and lace.

Light-weight Dress Boots.

Kidskin, lace and button, turned soles, high heels.
Patent leather, lace, turned soles.
Kidskin, button, thin turned soles, Louis XIV. heels.
Patent leather, button, Louis XIV. heels, thin soles.

Then here's a line of Women's Oxford Shoes at $3, that presents a splendid variety of styles, and the best quality we have ever seen in three-dollar Oxford Shoes:

Patent leather Colonial Shoes with wide ribbon; laced.
Patent leather Oxford Shoes with Louis XIV. heels.
Patent leather vamp Oxford Shoes; kid quarters; military heels.
Ideal kidskin foxed Oxford Shoes; turned soles, military heels.
Patent leather full round toe Oxford Shoes; welted soles.
Patent coltskin Oxford Shoes; narrow toes; Cuban heels; welted soles.
Kidskin Oxford Shoes with kid and patent leather tips; military heels and turned soles.
Kidskin Oxford Shoes with welted and stitched soles; high or low Cuban heels; kid or patent leather tips.
Box calfskin Oxford Shoes; stout welted soles; full toes; medium heels.
Tan calfskin Oxford Shoes; medium toes and heels; welted extension soles. Fourth avenue and Ninth street.

Trade Clean-Up Sale Of Fine New SILKS

TWELVE leading American manufacturers and importers of silks are represented today in this offering of 100,000 yards of the most desirable kinds of silks for Spring gowns. These silks are all new, made for this present season's selling, but we secured them at the first moment the manufacturers and importers were ready to clean up for the season. Naturally, the wholesale season ends much earlier than the retail, and by prompt action we have secured these splendid stocks at remarkable reductions, in time for our public to share them for Easter wear.

There are plenty of staple white silks for Easter wear, as well as black silks, and the new black-and-white checked effects, Foulards, Liberty Satin, black Crepe de Chine, Shantung Pongee, neat pin-striped and dotted Taffetas, striped Pongees, black guaranteed Taffeta and plain black Foulards.

There is just one lot of silks that were not quite perfect; these were picked out of his regular lines by one manufacturer because of slightly uneven places in the weave—no real hurt at all—and as they will be used largely for linings, the bargain is one that hundreds of women will be glad to profit by. Every yard of silk in the Sale is spick-span-new, and first shown today. It is probably the most desirable lot of silks we ever offered under-price.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the Sale is the offering of

250 Pongee Robes at $17.50 Each Worth $25 to $75

These Robes are all brand new, and are really semi-made shirt-waist suits. We got them all at a ridiculously low price, because the manufacturer counted his season over and wished to dispose of his surplus quickly. These are the most stylish ideas of the Spring season, and the fact that the work is so nearly done will make them most attractive to women in a hurry for a new gown. Very little work, indeed, is required to finish them. The skirts are completely made except for the final fitting. Some are embroidered in various styles, others are trimmed with lace, applique or cording. The material for the waist is also embroidered, and has markings showing just where to cut the back, front and sleeves. All are in the natural pongee color, though some have embroidery in contrasting color. More than twenty patterns to choose from. $17.50 each; though made to sell at $25 to $75.

White Japanese Silks, 35c; worth 45c and 50c

Black Taffetas, 45c; worth 60c

Pin-striped Taffetas, 58c; worth 85c
Five thousand yards of neat Hair-line and Pin-striped Taffetas of fine quality; plain and glace grounds with white or black stripes; twenty-seven splendid combinations to choose from; splendid silks for waists, shirt-waist suits or linings.

Striped Tussah Pongees, 58c; worth $1
Two thousand yards of natural Pongee Striped Silks of excellent quality, in a variety of self-colored stripes.

Polka-dot Liberty Satins, 58c; worth 85c
Nine thousand yards of imported Liberty Satins in black, navy blue or white grounds, with neat and medium-sized white or black dots. Another shipment of the same silks that sold out so quickly last week.

Guaranteed Black Taffetas, 65c; worth 85c
Eighteen hundred yards of 26 and 27-inch Black Taffetas, with wear guarantee woven in white on the edge.

Dotted Taffetas, 68c; worth $1
Twelve hundred yards of Black Taffetas, with neat woven white dots.

Checked Louisines, 68c; worth 85c and $1
Twenty-five hundred yards of Black and White Louisines, in various sized checks; mostly the small and neat ones.

White Japanese Silks, 75c; worth $1
Two thousand yards of fine quality 27-inch wide White Habutai Silks that will wear and launder like linen.

Boucle Checked Taffetas, 75c; worth $1
Twelve hundred yards of Black-and-white Checked Taffetas, in small sized checks; boucle style; entirely new this season.

Printed Foulards, 68c; worth $1 and $1.25
Five thousand yards of best quality 24-inch Foulards, in a variety of choice neat styles and colorings; mostly navy blue-and-white and black-and-white polka dots.

Guaranteed Black Taffetas, 75c
Two thousand yards of fine quality 26-inch Black Taffetas; all guaranteed to wear, and so stamped on the edge.

Plain Black Foulards, 75c; worth $1
Two thousand yards of fine quality 24-inch Plain Black Foulards that will give splendid service for waists, dresses or linings.

White Japanese Silks, 85c; worth $1.10 and $1.25
Three thousand yards of extra quality 27-inch White Washable Habutai.

Shantung Pongees, 95c; worth $1.25

French Imported Robes At HALF PRICE

THIS is a collection of about a hundred fine Imported Batiste Robes, embroidered and trimmed with lace. The importer's hurry to close out his Spring stock accounts for the good fortune that we are able to offer you two weeks before Easter.

The robes present some of the most beautiful patterns brought over this season. The embroidery is graceful and refined in design, and some of the medallion effects are quite exquisite. The skirts are practically finished, all but the fitting. Some have double, others have single ruffles. There is ample material for the waist, with embroidered design to match the skirt. Also extra trimming for collar and sleeves. Women who love beautiful garments will be delighted to be able to secure these handsome Robes at this time at such decisive reductions.

$18 and $20 Robes at $9.50

We also have a handsome collection of embroidered linen waist patterns at a specially low price. The trimming is in the raised blind embroidery so popular this season, in designs of violets, lilies of the valley, pansies, daisies, maiden hair ferns and the like. Trimming for the waist, sleeves, neck and belt is complete in each pattern. All marked at Broadway.

Tailored Gowns

Moderately Priced

THE group of Women's Tailored Suits, of which descriptions follow, is taken from the lower end of our price-list. In excellence of tailoring, variety of styles and materials, and smartness in general, they are marvels.

And they indicate fairly the immense range of the gathering, and its value-for-price. The tailored gown at $100 is as truly a "bargain" as the suit at $15. The best way to convince yourself of this is to see the gowns. Now for the descriptions:

At $15—Stylish Blouse Suits of cheviot, with shoulder cape, and trimming of braid and taffeta; percaline drop-skirt.

At $18—Blouse Suits of cheviot, prettily trimmed with Persian and taffeta silk; unlined skirts, well finished.

At $22.50—Voile Suits in Eton style, with taffeta trimming, and all silk-lined throughout.

At $22.50—Tweed Suits, with Persian trimming, blouse style, all silk-lined.

At $27.50—Two styles of handsome broadcloth Suits, variously trimmed, and all silk-lined.

At $30—Eton Suits of etamine, prettily trimmed, and all silk-lined. Second floor, Broadway.

"Mission" Furniture

"MISSION" Furniture means simplicity in every line, and the name covers a wide variety of styles made up in severely plain designs. Furniture for almost every room in the house can now be had in the "mission" style. Manufacturers have searched high and low for other names to indicate the same simple styles and so we have "Arts and Crafts" furniture, "Quaint" furniture, "New Century" furniture, "Quaint Decorative" furniture, all following the same general principle of construction. Many different manufacturers are broadly represented in our stock, so that today we show more than three hundred pieces of "mission" furniture, comprising tables of various kinds, chairs, rockers, settees, suites for dens or libraries, side tables and sideboards, bookcases, cellarettes, and so on. Colors are mostly dark brown or dark gray with a dull finish, the surfaces being waxed or rubbed to a dull, hard polish; some of the finish is known as "fumed" and still other pieces are in open grain effects. For dens, libraries, living rooms, or porches, and for country or seashore houses, no furniture is more suitable. It is built for wear and comfort and as made it gives successfully both these qualities.

Tables are made with wooden tops, Spanish leather tops, Spanish leather with solo leather finish, and are in almost every sort or size; with and without drawers, in quaint designs. Chairs have leather cushions, leather seats, burlap cushions, rush seats, or seats of straps of leather fastened with large-headed nails. Many of the chairs are finished in a rich forest green with rush seat and backs.

Dining-room furniture is decorated with knobs and hinges of wrought iron, copper or brass. A word of prices:

Chairs, of various sorts, at $6, $6.50, $7, $7.25, $8, $8.50, $9, $10, $11, $11.50, $12, $13, $14, $16, $17, $18, $20, $23, $25, $38, $40, $52.50 and $57.

Settees at $18.50, $20, $27.50, $30 and $40.

Rockers at $6.50, $7, $8.50, $9.50, $10, $12, $13.50, $15, $15.50 and $16.

Tables at $6, $6.50, $7.75, $8, $9, $10, $12, $12.50, $13, $14, $15, $16, $18, $18.50, $20, $25, $27, $30, $35, $40, $43, $50 and $55.50.

TROLLEY STRIKERS HELD

Five Under Bail in Waterbury to Answer Charge of Assault.

Col. Burpee Says Startling Evidence Will Be Presented at the Trial—More Arrests Likely.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 31.—Decided progress was made to-day in the police court during the trial of the eighteen men charged with assault with intent to kill William Merna and George Morrisette, conductor and motorman, respectively, of the trolley car which was attacked by a band of masked men on the night of Feb. 28. Five of the trolley strikers—Edward B. Winnegar, William Vandermark, Clifford Vandermark, Harry W. Warren, and John Brearton—were bound over to the next term of the Superior Court, under bonds of $2,000 each. The remaining thirteen prisoners will be arraigned in court to-morrow morning.

Col. Burpee and Chief of Detectives Dodds had a conference at Police Headquarters to-night which lasted for an hour and a half. After the conference Col. Burpee gave out an interview, in which he said:

"When the proper time comes we will present evidence which will be the most startling ever had before a court. There is no doubt that we have evidence which will convict before the higher court the five men who were bound over this afternoon. The evidence is most conclusive. Furthermore, there are more strikers and two outsiders against whom we have strong evidence.

"At the present time we are more hopeful than we have been at any time since the murder that the men implicated in the affair which resulted in the death of Policeman Paul Mendelssohn will be brought to justice."

At to-day's hearing Conductor Merna testified that on the night in question, while he and Motorman Morrisette were sitting inside of the car three masked men, each carrying a revolver, entered and ordered them to "throw up their hands and leave the car." When Merna and Morrisette got out of the car Merna was felled with a blow from a club and rendered unconscious.

Conductor Merna positively identified Edward B. Winnegar as one of the leaders of the attacking party.

Officer Keegan told of having heard shouting and cries of "Murder." He hurried back toward the car, which was in darkness. As he drew nearer he came upon Merna lying across the rails.

Thomas Kenney, aged eighteen, said he went to Wolcott's poolroom about 8 o'clock on the night of the assault. He left the place with Ryan, Whitty, Kelly, Ennis, Thorpe and others, about nineteen being in the crowd. Witness said he heard either Thomas J. Quinn or Costelle say: "We are going to fix the scabs." He did not see the fight because the lights in the car went out.

James Whitty, one of the prisoners, identified William Vandermark as one of the party. He said that Col. Burpee promised to protect him from arrest if he told everything he knew about the assault.

Michael Ryan also testified that he was one of the party. He told substantially the same story about the promise made to him by Col. Burpee.

DR. RAINSFORD'S ORTHODOXY.

Bishop Whitaker Refuses to Discuss the Subject—The Church Standard's Comment.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Bishop Whitaker, in speaking of the controversy which has been aroused by the utterances credited to the Rev. W. S. Rainsford of New York at St. Stephen's Church in this city, said to-day that if a stenographic report of the remarks had been made he would like to see it, after which he would be prepared to discuss the subject.

The Church Standard of Saturday next will have a long article on the controversy. The Church Standard will say:

"The only irreverent speech that seems to be universally admitted was a slangy phrase in which the preacher declared that in a certain church 'it was up to God to do something or other.' There is no excuse whatever for the use of any such slang in the pulpit, and in the solemnities of Lent it is something worse than a grave breach of decorum. After a certain experience which is not many months old it might have been expected that Dr. Rainsford would avoid indiscretions of a sort for which he then made public apology.

"It has been widely asserted and believed that Dr. Rainsford openly denied the Mediatorship of Our Lord Jesus Christ. The statement, however, is very emphatically denied by intelligent persons who were present and who say they clearly understood Dr. Rainsford to be speaking, not of Our Lord's Mediatorship, but of the intervention of human priests between God and man.

"In some way or other Dr. Rainsford appears to have made an impression upon some minds that he disbelieves the declaration of the Creed that our Blessed Lord 'was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary.' The impression exists, and it is difficult to imagine that it could have been received without some adequate cause. Yet we are positively assured by persons of whose competence or orthodoxy there can be no question, that nothing was said which could be construed into a denial of any article of the Christian faith."

The Standard in conclusion says it regards as a grave error of judgment the publication of the document, signed by local Episcopalian clergy, which implies that Dr. Rainsford was guilty of denying or controverting Christian doctrines.

PHILLIPS EXETER ALUMNI DINE.

College Athletics Discussed by Principal Farrand and the Negro Question by ex-Senator Hundley.

About eighty of the Alumni of Phillips Exeter Academy dined at the Manhattan Hotel last night and listened to speeches by Dr. D. H. McAlpin, S. Sydney Smith, Principal of the academy; Harlan P. Amen, Julius H. Seymour, Dr. Henry Sanger Snow, President of the Brooklyn Polytechnic; Wilson Farrand, Principal of the Newark Academy, and ex-State Senator Oscar R. Hundley of Huntsville, Ala.

After Dr. Alpin, the presiding officer, Principal Amen and others had discoursed on the history present, past, and future of Phillips Exeter, Principal Farrand spoke at length on "Purity in College Athletics."

Mr. Farrand said there could be no doubt of the benefit of athletics in schools. He detailed the evils attending college athletics as coming under three heads—first, professionalism; second, interference with legitimate college work, and, third, the intense desire to win, which was an outcome of college athletics and which led to questionable play, non-observance of rules, and consequently a lowering of the moral tone.

Mr. Farrand told of a meeting of Principals of schools held recently at which seventy-four out of ninety said they were in favor of a reform of the game of football. He condemned the style of mass playing, which, he said, was a premium on dirty work, systematic dodging of rules, and morally bad.

Yet, he said, in spite of all its drawbacks, he believed in football. "I think it is a good thing," he said, "that there is one game left where one gentleman can roll another gentleman in the dirt and pound him. We all have primitive instincts, and it is a good thing for them to have some exercise sometimes."

Ex-Senator Hundley upheld the action of the President in his appointment of negroes to offices, stating that under the present Administration there had been fewer appointments of colored men to office than in other Administrations.

"The President has refused to listen to politicians," he said; "he has declined to yield to a demand that any section or class shall be excluded from the benefits to which it has a right, and right thinking men of the South will uphold him."

Wants Sunday Kissing Stopped.

A stir was created at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday by the reading of a letter from Charles Harold McChesney, asking the Aldermen to pass a resolution forbidding any man to kiss his wife between sundown on the seventh day, commonly known as Saturday, and sundown on the Sabbath day. President Fitzpatrick ordered the communication on file.

"YOUNG CORBETT" WINS.

Terry McGovern Beaten in Fight for Featherweight Championship.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—William Rothwell (Young Corbett) beat Terry McGovern of Brooklyn here to-night for the feather-weight championship in the eleventh round of what was to have been a twenty-round fight. The fighting all through was fast and both fighters landed hard blows often.

The largest crowd that ever saw a fight in this city was on hand, it being estimated that 11,000 persons were in Mechanics' Pavilion when the fighters entered the ring.

LAKE SUPERIOR PRESIDENCY.

Cornelius Shields Elected Successor of F. S. Lewis—Other Changes Announced.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—At a meeting to-day of the Board of Directors of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, Cornelius Shields was elected President to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation last December of F. S. Lewis. Mr. Shields was formerly connected with the Great Northern Railway, and is at present First Vice President of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Limited, of Sydney, Cape Breton.

The Directors announced the retirement April 1 of Theodore J. Search, Vice President, but stated that he would retain his seat in the Board of Directors. Edward H. Sanborn, formerly General Manager of the National Association of Manufacturers, but recently assistant to the President of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, will succeed Mr. Search as Vice President.

W. F. Douglass has resigned the offices of Secretary and Assistant Treasurer, taking effect April 1.

CHARLES KANTER CONVICTED.

Dry Goods Merchant Who Failed Was Indicted, with His Partner Cohen, for Grand Larceny.

A verdict of guilty was brought in yesterday in the case of Charles Kanter, a dry goods merchant of 71 West One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, who has been on trial before Recorder Goff in the Court of General Sessions on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree. Recorder Goff announced that he would sentence Kanter to-day, although his counsel, Max D. Steuer, pleaded that sentence be deferred to give him opportunity to move for a new trial.

Kanter was tried on only one out of five indictments of the same nature, which had been found against him. He was a member of the firm of Kanter & Cohen, dealers in woolens and dress goods at 622 Broadway, which failed for $50,000 a year ago. Altogether it is believed that the trade was swindled out of from $75,000 to $100,000 through the operations of the firm. There are four indictments pending against Louis Cohen, Kanter's partner.

When the firm failed, last March, Charles M. Hough was appointed receiver by the United States Court. He testified on the trial that when he took hold he found no books and practically no assets. By other witnesses it was brought out that a couple of days prior to the failure the defendant had ordered all the books and the papers of the firm taken to Bayonne, N. J., where they were burned.

The complainant against Kanter on this trial was the firm of Victor & Achelis of 95 Leonard Street, who charged him with having obtained from them on Feb. 27, 1903, $123 on false representations in writing. It appeared that on Sept. 21 of the previous year Kanter & Cohen had sent a financial statement to the trade in which they claimed $26,000 assets above their liabilities. On this statement the firm succeeded in obtaining credit from various firms to the amount of $50,000 or thereabout.

BURDEN SECOND LIEUTENANT TO SUCCEED VANDERBILT.

Changes in Company G, Twelfth Regiment—Shooting for Foster Trophy Cup.

William A. N. Burden, son of I. Townsend Burden, has been elected to the Second Lieutenancy of Company G of the Twelfth Regiment, the place left vacant by the election recently of Cornelius Vanderbilt to the First Lieutenancy of Company D. The First Lieutenancy of Company G is vacant because Reginald Foster has been elected to the Captaincy of Company E.

The shooting for the Foster Cup was held last night in the armory. Private George Donovan winning with a score of 48 out of 50. The cup is made of a six-pounder shell, taken from the Spanish battleship Maria Theresa during the Spanish-American war, and donated for an annual contest by Capt. Foster.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC INJUNCTION.

Arguments in the Talbot J. Taylor Suit to be Made To-day.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 31.—Arguments will be heard here to-morrow in the contests between the Harriman and Keene interests in the Union Pacific, Central Pacific, and Southern Pacific Railways.

The minority stockholders of the Southern Pacific, represented by Talbot J. Taylor & Co., seek to enjoin the Union Pacific Company from voting 750,000 shares it holds of Southern Pacific stock at the annual election, alleging that the majority stockholders have controlled the Southern Pacific in the interest of the Union Pacific.

In the contest between the Keene and Harriman faction at Cincinnati, March 18, the former obtained a temporary restraining order, and notice was served on the latter that arguments would be heard here April 1.

CITY RECORD BOARD CHARGES.

The Mayor Against Unsystematic Increases of Salary.

At a meeting of the Board of City Record yesterday the Mayor said that he intended having the charges made against Supervisor Cowan by Thomas Sidebotham, a printer, investigated by the Commissioners of Accounts, who he said are familiar with the printing business. Controller Grout is also making an investigation into the methods of The City Record office, but his report will not conflict in any way with the investigation to be ordered by the Mayor.

The Mayor showed his opposition to increasing salaries in departments when a request came up for making a slight increase in the salary of an employe of The City Record office.

"I think increases in salaries should be made," said the Mayor, "only once or twice each year, instead of having these requests every now and then coming before boards. There must be some system. If one man gets an increase of $150, every other man in the same department will expect the same treatment."

Controller Grout suggested a graded scale, but no definite policy was adopted. The request that produced the Mayor's remark was placed on file.

GROUT ON FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Controller Grout forwarded to Mayor Low yesterday another letter about expenditures of Fire Department funds. The report deals with contracts for fire hose and gives facts ascertained by experts of the Finance Department. The assertion was made that certain dealers in fire hose did not receive opportunity to compete for city business.

Fire Commissioner Sturgis said yesterday that he would not discuss the letters of Controller Grout until he was officially notified by the Mayor of their contents.

Supports the Fusion Government.

The Associated Republicans of the Nineteenth Assembly District at their March meeting passed resolutions expressing the belief that "the present Fusion Government has been a vast improvement on previous administrations of city affairs and that a continuance of such movements is absolutely necessary for our best municipal interest." It was further stated that the organization, which has a membership of about 700, would support a fusion or citizens' ticket next Fall. Congressman William H. Douglas was Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions.

PROMOTER WRIGHT'S POSITION.

New Warrant Secured on Affidavits from the London and Globe Finance Corporation's Receiver.

The examination of Whitaker Wright, the London promoter recently arrested on his arrival in this country on charges alleging misconduct as the managing Director of the defunct London and Globe Finance Corporation, was continued yesterday before United States Commissioner Alexander. Owing to the fact that Sir Percy Sanderson, the British Consul General, was expecting additional papers from England on the steamship Umbria, which sailed for this port last Saturday, the examination was adjourned until a week from to-day. In the meantime a new warrant was secured yesterday morning and served upon the prisoner based on affidavits received on Monday by Consul General Sir Percy Sanderson.

These new papers are very voluminous and include in addition to the articles of incorporation of the defunct Globe Finance Corporation affidavits of Alfred Henry Barnes, the official receiver of the company, who makes the complaint against the prisoner.

He charges that Whitaker Wright is guilty of three offenses against the British statutes. The first is having as managing Director of the corporation perpetrated a fraud upon the shareholders, in violation of the British Company's act. A second allegation is that Wright, as Director, made or caused to be made, false and erroneous balance sheets, and a third charge is that he made or caused to be made in the books of the company certain false and fictitious entries.

Charles Fox, legal representative of the British Consulate, said that Wright is charged, among other things, with having issued a balance sheet purporting to show the true financial condition of the Globe Company; that he had listed shares owned by it as being worth £4, whereas as a matter of fact the same shares had sold in the open market the day previous for £1 6s., and that Wright necessarily knew of their true value. It was also charged, said Mr. Fox, that Wright claimed in this statement that the Globe Finance Company had £500,000 of undivided profits, whereas it had borrowed £190,000 the day previous to the making of the statement from the Standard Exploration Company, another of the Wright companies, which was returned a couple of days later. This was done to show the "cash on hand" as being actually in bank.

WARREN B. SMITH DEAD.

Retired Carpet Manufacturer of Yonkers Succumbs Near Tunis, Africa.

Warren Baldwin Smith of Yonkers died yesterday morning at the Hotel Kirovan, in Kirovan, near Tunis, Africa. He was one of the wealthiest men of Westchester County. He had an elegant home in Yonkers, but during the past few years spent very little of his time in this section, being an extensive traveler.

He was the son of Alexander Smith, who was widely known as the promoter of the carpet industry in this part of the country. The elder Smith organized the Mouquet Carpet Mills, and his son became President in 1879 and retained that position until 1894, when he resigned and had since spent the greater part of his time in traveling. Mr. Smith had considerable real estate holdings in Yonkers and in this city. He never married. He leaves a sister, the widow of William S. Cochran, who succeeded Mr. Smith as President of the Mouquet Carpet Mills.

HEAD-ON TRAIN COLLISION.

"Wild-Cat" Engine Crashes Into a Passenger Train in Connecticut and Two Men Are Killed.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 31.—Two men were killed and sixteen injured to-day in a head-on collision on the Naugatuck Division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad between a passenger train north bound to this city and a wildcat engine. Both engines were demolished and their boilers blown up, and the baggage car next to the passenger engine was telescoped. The other cars of the train did not leave the rails, but the passengers were injured by being thrown about by the shock of the collision.

The dead are Harry Chapman, New Haven, engineer of the wildcat engine, and Herbert Newman, Bridgeport, fireman on the passenger train. Among the injured are Eli Mix, Coroner, New Haven, a passenger; Joseph Lipsitz, New Boston, Mass., passenger; Joseph Skelly, Bridgeport, express messenger, fracture at base of skull, will probably die; Dennis Flaherty, New Haven, fireman on wildcat engine; John Gagan, New Britain, brakeman.

The wreck occurred at about 8.30 o'clock at a point in South Brooklyn, where there is a sharp curve. The wildcat engine left Bridgeport early in the morning attached to a freight train, and was on its way back with orders to look out for the passenger train when the collision took place.

STURGIS ASKS MORE FIREMEN.

Recommends That Department Personnel Be Increased by 521 Appointments.

Fire Commissioner Sturgis has recommended to Mayor Low that the personnel of the fire force be increased by the appointment of 41 assistant foremen at $1,800, 32 engineers at $1,600, and 448 fourth-grade firemen at $800. Mayor Low asked the Board of Aldermen yesterday to consider the request of Commissioner Sturgis and then empower the Board of Estimate to increase the fire force.

Commissioner Sturgis, in his statement to Mayor Low, goes into the details of departmental work and shows the necessity for increasing the force as soon as possible.

Savannah Naval Store Season Ends.

Special to The New York Times.

SAVANNAH, March 31.—The naval store season of 1902-3 closed to-day. The season's receipts of spirits of turpentine were 202,496 casks, against 214,346 last season, and for rosin, 940,507 bbls. against 1,071,440 for last season. The reduction was caused by a small cut among the operators.

GOLF NAMES WITHHELD.

Executive Committee May Announce Those Who Favor Match Play After the April Meeting.

No further information regarding the probable change in the method of conducting the coming amateur golf championship is likely to be vouchsafed by the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association until after the April meeting, which is likely to be held on Saturday, April 18. That was the date which Secretary Maturin Ballou said yesterday might be accepted. The meeting, however, will not be held before April 15, and all of the seven members will be present, except possibly the two Westerners.

The names of the sixty odd golfers who sent replies by invitation of the committee will not be divulged until after the meeting. Secretary Ballou said yesterday that he had no authority to give out the names, as it was the wish of some members of the committee to withhold the names for the present. This secret policy of the committee is not meeting with general favor from the golfers at large, and unless the names are announced after the coming meeting there is likely to be a strong demand for them. A reply was received from Arthur G. Lockwood this week, but his opinions were not given out. Lockwood is now visiting his home in England. He is a member of the Allston Golf Club, near Boston, and is one of the strongest players in that locality.

Secretary Ballou admitted that he was somewhat surprised at the large number of golfers (thirty-five out of sixty-two) who favored the all-match-play system. He said that the opinions of none of the officers were included among the replies. Mr. Ballou, in a brief discussion, held the view that the all-match-play method might be a good thing, even if for no other purpose than an experiment.

CAMBRIDGE CREW FAVORITE.

For the Annual Boat Race with Oxford, Which Takes Place To-day.

LONDON, March 31.—The weather conditions to-night promise favorably for the Oxford and Cambridge University boat race to-morrow. The forecast is mild and cloudy weather, with light westerly breezes, and if this holds good a good race will be rowed on the flood tide from Putney to Mortlake. The start is fixed for 3:30 P. M.

The Cambridge men are the favorites, as they form a very strong crew. They are not rowing quite so well together as the Oxford crew, but the latter is not regarded as strong enough to hold out till the finish. The Oxford boat will probably make a good fight as far as Hammersmith, after which Cambridge is expected to win easily. The betting to-night is 7 to 2 on Cambridge.

DYING BOY ACCUSES COMRADE.

Michael Bracco, Eleven Years Old, Is Stabbed, and Playmate Flees.

Michael Bracco, eleven years old, of 44 Oak Street, was probably fatally stabbed last night, and he accuses his playmate, Joseph Russo, twelve years old, of 56 Oak Street, of being his assailant. The boys were standing in front of Bracco's home when the stabbing took place.

The boys, with a group of other youngsters, were playing about the streets for several hours after nightfall, and when young Bracco and Russo wrestled very close to the curb, none of their companions knew of the deadly struggle that was taking place between the two boys. Russo fled when his playmate sank to the pavement, and has not been arrested yet. Bracco is in the Hudson Street Hospital.

FINAL ASSESSMENT LIST

No Rush to "Swear Off" on the Last Day.

Amounts of Personal Property on Which Wealthy Residents of the City Must Pay Taxes.

President Wells of the Tax Department made public yesterday the final assessments on personal property of a number of wealthy New York people. The list shows the tentative assessments made by the tax officials and those on which taxes must be paid for 1903.

President Wells, in discussing tax matters, said:

"There has been a large increase in the number and amount of personal taxes this year. Many citizens have shown a desire to pay their fair share of personal taxes, but the total amount cannot be stated now. There will be busy times in the office for several months caused by applications for reduction of real estate assessments."

Yesterday was the last day this year that applications could be made at the tax office for reduction of personal assessments. In previous years there has always been a rush on the last day. President Wells had four Commissioners and seven deputies to do the work, but the crowd did not appear as usual, much to the surprise of the officials. At 12 o'clock all the applications had been examined and during the afternoon there was only the ordinary number of visitors.

The following is the list given out at the tax office:

Name.	First Assessment.	Final Assessment.
Abernethy, Sarah H.	$100,000	$50,000
Agnew, Andrew G.	100,000	100,000
Aitken, John W.	200,000	115,000
Alexander, John E.	250,000	150,000
Allen, Lawrence A.	100,000	12,700

SUES INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Attorney General Cunneen Asks for Injunctions Against Certain Lloyds Associations.

ALBANY, March 31.—Attorney General Cunneen, at the instigation of State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks, has commenced an action in the Supreme Court to procure a permanent injunction to restrain the "United Underwriters of the City of New York" and the "Standard Lloyds of New York City," with its principal business office in Chicago, and the "Lloyds Insurance Company," from doing business in this State. The Attorney General has before him thirteen other Lloyds associations about which there is a question as to whether they have a right to do business in this State under the provision of law exempting Lloyds insurance associations from the State Insurance Act.

The Lloyds insurance associations, which are organizations of individual underwriters, are not under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Department and are not required to make annual reports to it. This exemption applies only to such Lloyds as were lawfully engaged in the business of insurance in this State on Oct. 1, 1892, when the Insurance Code went into operation. At the instance of the Superintendent of Insurance, the Attorney General in 1894 commenced proceedings for the purpose of determining the rights of these insurance associations to the exemptions claimed by them. These proceedings revealed, according to the records in the Insurance Department, that upward of twenty associations were not lawfully and in good faith doing business on Oct. 1, 1892.

The Legislature last year passed an act requiring the Lloyds associations to file copies of their original articles of agreement and amendments with the State Superintendent of Insurance before Sept. 1, 1902. Pursuant to that act, thirty-one Lloyds associations filed their reports. The State Superintendent of Insurance and the Attorney General in November investigated the claims of these associations, and decided that fifteen were in a questionable position as to their standing under that law.

WATER "GRAB" BILL CHANGED.

Senator E. R. Brown Now Thinks That the Storage Measure Will Be Approved.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—Several radical changes were made to the Adirondack Water Storage Commission bill to-day in the Senate Finance Committee. Senator E. R. Brown was responsible for the main amendments and believes that the bill in its present form will better meet the ideas of the people than as it was originally.

One provision will limit the purposes for which a water storage may be permitted to the public health and public safety. The provision that storage may be provided for the purposes of improving navigation has been stricken out. The commission created by the bill will be, the judge of whether the work to be done is required by public health and safety. Water power for consumption by persons may be created by the commission.

Another amendment provides that the expenses of creating a water storage may be assessed wholly by the members of the State Commission and not by the local Assessors. Some members believed that this provision was unconstitutional, but others argued that public health being taken into consideration, the Legislature had authority to adopt the provision.

The third amendment forbids the State Commissioners to make final order for any improvement the cost of which is to be borne in part by the State, unless an appropriation for the purpose has already been made. When assessments for improvements under the bill are levied upon municipalities they shall be levied upon them as a whole and the remainder of the cost shall be assessed upon the individuals benefited. The bill will be reported to-morrow.

PRIMARY LAW IS AMENDED.

Gov. Odell Signs the Bill Which Abolishes the Supplementary Enrollments by Certificate.

ALBANY, March 31.—Gov. Odell to-day signed the Primary Law Amendment bill of Senator Elsberg. It provides that in New York City party enrollments shall be made only on the days of registration for regular elections.

Gov. Odell vetoed a measure passed by the Legislature of 1902, which prohibited the transferring of voters from one locality to another by certificates prior to the primaries. As a result of the Republican factional fights in New York City last year, where it was claimed that there were many transfers from other districts to aid the Platt candidates at the primaries in the contested districts, Senator Elsberg drew up the amendment which Gov. Odell has approved.

Gov. Odell explained his desire for a change in his annual message by saying that those who register their party affiliations on the days of registry during the Fall should alone be permitted to express their preferences at primaries. In answer to the objection that people might be deprived of their right to a selection of party candidates, he said that this equally affects those who remove from one election district to another prior to election.

He pointed out that an abuse in the City of New York was the alliances entered into by district leaders of opposite political faith, so that some of their followers would register themselves as affiliated with the opposite political party that they might influence contests for control at primaries.

MORE BONDS FOR THE SUBWAY.

Bill at Albany to Increase the Power of a City Board.

ALBANY, March 31.—Assemblyman Conkling to-day introduced a bill providing for an increase in the bond issue of the Rapid Transit Commission of New York City for the subway. It transfers from the Legislature to the New York City Board of Estimate and Apportionment the Assembly authority over bond issues by the Rapid Transit Commission. The law limits the bond issues for the subway to $50,000,000, which cannot be increased without the consent of the Legislature.

Mr. Conkling said the bill was introduced at the request of the New York City authorities, having been transmitted to him through the Corporation Counsel's office. "As I understand the situation," he said, "the commission has spent already about $46,000,000, and anticipates that about $55,000,000 will be necessary in all."

GRAIN BROKER EXPELLED.

The Board of Managers of the New York Produce Exchange yesterday expelled William M. Townsend of the firm of William M. Townsend & Brothers, with offices in the Produce Exchange Building, from membership in the Exchange.

The expulsion was the result of charges made against Mr. Townsend over a week ago. The Board of Managers declined to make the exact charges public, but they were based on the connection of Mr. Townsend with an alleged "discretionary pool" with offices in a New Street building.

Mr. Townsend declared that he would bring action to have the board reinstate him. George Gordon Battle, attorney for Mr. Townsend, said that they would apply to the courts for a mandamus to compel the board to reinstate Mr. Townsend to membership.

TO WATCH RAILROAD BILLS.

Corporation Counsel Rives Warns His Assistant in Albany.

Corporation Counsel Rives yesterday sent to Assistant Corporation Counsel Whitman at Albany a memorandum of opposition to the many general railroad bills which have been introduced in the Legislature this term. Mr. Rives holds that in all general railroad bills the interests of the City of New York should be specially protected. A part of the memorandum is as follows:

"It will be sufficient to note the grave danger of interference with and injury to this valuable property of the City of New York which may be caused by general legislation introduced, as it frequently is, for unworthy and selfish motives. In order to safeguard the city's rights and frustrate these attempts upon its property the City of New York should be exempt from the operations of these bills."

"IMPROVES WITH USE."

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE

Mr. Cunneen's Objections Met on the Child's Hospital Bill.

Summer Hotels Included in the Fire Escape Measure—Opposition to the Automobile Bill.

ALBANY, March 31.—Several matters of interest came up in to-day's session of the State Senate.

Senator Elsberg's bill, permitting the sale of the property of the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, recalled from the Governor, was the first business of importance in the Senate to-day. The vote by which it was passed was reconsidered by a unanimous vote, and it was amended so as to meet the objections of Attorney General Cunneen and committed for printing.

Senator Elsberg is somewhat skeptical as to the force of the Attorney General's constitutional objections to his bill, but said that the amendments now meet every objection, by providing for a full consideration to be paid by the hospital for the title to the land before its sale.

"I believe the bill will now be satisfactory, and will be signed by the Governor," he concluded.

Summer hotels were again brought within the provisions of the Townsend bill to provide rope fire escapes in all hotels of the State, excepting in those of cities of the first class. When the measure was reported from the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, Summer hotels were exempted.

Senator Brackett, however, endeavored to have another amendment made when it came up in the Committee of the Whole, asking that the entire Fourth Judicial District be exempted. He said his reason was that there were some Summer hotels in Saratoga which were open a month longer than the three Summer months named in the bill.

"The bill has already been amended almost to death," said Senator Townsend. "I therefore most heartily object to any further amendment. It is demanded by 20,000 commercial travelers throughout the State. It was not introduced at the request of hotel keepers, and I dare say not one hotel keeper in the State is in favor of it. The bill is in the interests of humanity, and there is no reason why Summer hotels should be exempted when they are veritable tinder boxes."

Senator Brackett's motion was defeated. Senator Townsend then moved to strike out the provision exempting Summer hotels. This motion was adopted, and the bill was advanced to third reading.

"I will defeat that bill on final passage," said Senator Hill after the Bailey automobile measure had been advanced, and a hearing asked for by the Buffalo Senator had been refused.

The Bailey bill is a compromise measure agreed on by ex-Senator Cocks and A. R. Shattuck, President of the Automobile Club of America. It is nevertheless opposed by a large number of automobilists, who assert that the restrictions it contains will kill automobiling. The bill makes it mandatory that all motorists shall register with the Secretary of State, and that the license number shall replace the present letters on the back of each machine.

When the bill came up in the Committee of the Whole, Senators Armstrong and Hill opposed it. Senator Hill asked that it be referred to the Judiciary Committee for a hearing. The motion was lost, and the bill was advanced by a vote of 20 to 10.

SENATE BOLTERS AGAIN FIGHT.

Messrs. Brown and Elsberg Give Notice That the Assembly Must Act on Their Bills.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—Senators Elon R. Brown and Elsberg began a campaign to-day to compel action by the Assembly on various Senate measures. Mr. Brown's Spring shooting bill, Mr. Elsberg's Coroner's bill, and various other measures in which the Brown-Brackett-Elsberg combination is interested have been permitted to sleep in Assembly committees.

Mr. Brown started retaliatory tactics in the session of the Senate. Every Assembly bill that came up on the calendar brought forth an objection to advancement from Mr. Brown. After he had held up a score of bills in this fashion he made an explanation.

"So long as the Assembly does not see fit to progress or pass Senate measures," he said, "I shall certainly object to the substitution of any Assembly bill for any Senate measure on the order of third reading, or the advancement of any Assembly measure without reference to third reading. I believe that it is necessary for some member of this body to assume this position because of the unwarranted delays in the Assembly in acting on Senate measures.

"It is not any personal affront or any reflection upon the bills in question, but I have decided on this course and propose to adhere to it until the Assembly changes its attitude toward the Senate bills."

Senator Brown's position was the cause of considerable comment, and many of the Senators spoke harshly, saying that the entire business of the Senate was being impeded simply on account of the delay in the Assembly on the Elsberg-Brown-Brackett measures.

During the close call of the Assembly Senator Elsberg of New York got by the guard, and proceeded to the seat of Mr. Burnett of Ontario, who is Chairman of the Committee of the Affairs of Cities.

There was a little preliminary conversation, and then Senator Elsberg said with determination that all the bills relating to New York City now in the Assembly Cities Committee must be reported out one way or another. None, he declared, is to be allowed to die in committee. The Senator reminded Mr. Burnett that the legislation of this session was not finished by any means, and that the resolution for the final adjournment was yet to be adopted.

VOTING MACHINE BILL.

Elections Commissioner Voorhis Says the Bureau Does Not Want to be Limited to Two Makes.

Misapprehension exists relative to the provisions of the bill introduced by Assemblyman Remsen of Kings regarding the use of voting machines in this State. The bill is on the order of the third reading in the Assembly, and no action has been taken on it in the Senate. An article published yesterday conveyed the idea that Gov. Odell had so arranged matters that the Board of Elections in this city would be compelled to purchase some 1,400 voting machines at a cost of more than $550 each within twenty days after the passage of the measure from one of two companies, the United States Standard and the Bardwell Votometer Company.

The Remsen bill provides that in cities of the first class, New York and Buffalo, the Mayor of New York in the former and the Common Council in the latter, must first approve the measure. If this is done, it is mandatory on the Boards of Elections in those cities to make the purchase. In other communities the Common Councils in cities, Town Boards in towns, and Trustees in villages are vested with discretionary powers.

John R. Voorhis, President of the Board of Elections in this city, said yesterday:

"It is only a matter of time when voting machines will be adopted. We tried the United States Standard machine in Col. Dady's district in Brooklyn in 1901, and the Bardwell Votometer Company's at a district in William Street, in the special Belmont-Lessler Congressional election. Both worked well, and the results of the voting were quickly ascertained.

"Last Fall we used five of the United States Standard machines in Greater New York, one in the Bronx and the others respectively in districts in which John L. Shea, Col. Dadey, Controller Grout, and Mayor Low voted.

"The criticism has been made that there is a lack of evidence on the part of the mechanism to satisfy the voter that the intent of his voting has been carried out. The voter has nothing beyond the assurance of the inventor and the manufacturer.

"The Columbia, a machine manufactured at Indianapolis, has been on exhibition here. It is something like the United States Standard, and application was made to the State Voting Machine Commission to examine it. But meanwhile one of the Commissioners had resigned and the other two did not care to act without a third member.

"In December, 1902, a second member resigned, and the term of the third expired by limitation Dec. 31, 1902. The Commission was not in a condition to do any business subsequent to September, 1902. The matter was called to the attention of Gov. Odell, and I have been informed that he said he had not filled the vacancies because he could not find the right kind of people.

"With the machines in use there is provision for a reapportionment of the election districts permitting 600 voters to a district. Under a reapportionment and making allowances for extra machines in case of need we should want about 1,400 machines.

"If the Remsen bill passes the whole thing, so far as Greater New York is concerned, is up to Mayor Low. If he approved the bill we would be compelled to buy the machines within twenty days, and under existing conditions would be bound to select either the United States Standard or the Bardwell Votometer.

"This bureau does not want to be limited to any two machines. We want an open field and all the competition that is possible."

SUPPLY BILL COMPLETED.

Appropriations Ready Now That the Excise Bill Has Passed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 31.—The Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committees metin joint session at 8 o'clock tonight, and after a two hours' session decided to report the Supply bill to-morrow morning.

The reason for waiting until this late day was because of the uncertainty of the fate of the Liquor Tax bill. This allowed of an estimated revenue under the excise law, as amended, so that the sums required for the support of the Government the coming fiscal year could be apportioned. The contents of the bill are secretly guarded tonight.

Trust Company Bill Is Defeated.

ALBANY, March 31.—The Hammond bill increasing the number of Directors of the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York City from twenty-five to thirty-five failed to pass the Senate to-day. Only twenty-three Senators voted for the bill, while twenty-six were necessary. Fourteen Senators voted in the negative. Not a word was said for or against the measure.

BILLS IN THE LEGISLATURE.

ALBANY, March 31.—These bills were passed by the Senate to-day:

Senator ARMSTRONG'S—Defining the powers of Game Inspectors and exempting from the provisions of the game law New York and Kings Counties.

Assemblyman FOWLER'S—Giving to the Governor power to remove County Treasurers on charges after copies of charges have been served on the officer and an opportunity has been given him to be heard.

Assemblyman FINCH'S—Increasing the salaries of attendants of the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District and the Appellate Division in the First Department.

Senator LEWIS'S—Amending the insurance law relative to officers of title and credit guarantee corporations.

Assemblyman MORGAN'S—Relative to the proper clothing of patients committed to State Hospitals for the Insane.

Assemblyman MORTIMER'S—Incorporating the Grand Lodge of the Order of American True Ivorites.

Assemblyman HEWITT'S—Relative to the use of public rooms in towns by posts of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Assemblyman DOOLING'S—For the free transportation of bicycles on steamboats in this State.

These bills were introduced in the Senate:

By Mr. MARSHALL—Permitting the Borough President to designate an Alderman to preside at meetings of local Boards of Improvement in New York City.

By Mr. RUSSELL—That no railway shall be constructed on any highway that is less than forty feet wide at its narrowest point.

By Mr. LEWIS—Providing additional revenues for the police pension fund in Rochester.

By Mr. BRACKETT—Giving the New York and London Trust Company additional privileges of dealing in bonds, mortgages, &c., as soon as $500,000 of its capital stock shall have been paid in, in cash.

By Mr. HAWKINS—Providing for a boundary line and road between New York City and Mount Vernon and the town of Pelham.

By Mr. ARMSTRONG—Giving Police Justices of the second class cities exclusive power to try petit larceny cases when charges are the second offense.

These bills were introduced in the Assembly:

By Mr. McCORMACK—Authorizing the Mayor of New York City to designate two newspapers, daily, weekly, or semi-weekly, in the Boroughs of the Bronx, Queens, and Richmond, which shall publish official notices exclusively concerning those boroughs.

By Mr. WEMPLE—Directing the Factory Inspector to appoint among his fifty Deputy Factory Inspectors two who shall be practical metal polishers. The law now specifies that ten of the deputies shall be women, one shall be versed in mining, and six shall devote themselves to inspecting bakeries and places where meat products are made.

These bills were passed by the Assembly:

Assemblyman KERNEY'S—Providing that any policeman, constable, or other person connected with police administration who compels or causes a person accused of crime to submit before his trial and conviction to being photographed, or secures from him a photograph by fraud or misrepresentation, or who exhibits such picture as that of a suspected criminal, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Senator ELSBERG'S—Making it a misdemeanor to use a person's picture for purposes of trade without his written consent. The victim of such use may secure an injunction and may also recover damages.

Assemblyman MILLER'S—Fixing the pensions of disabled members of the New York City police force.

Assemblyman ROBINSON'S—Authorizing autopsies upon the bodies of State patients at Craig Colony for Epileptics.

Assemblyman AGNEW'S—Requiring assistant engineers in the Water, Gas, and Electricity Departments of New York City to be civil engineers of at least four years' experience.

POINT FOR TRUCK FARMERS

Court of Appeals Decision in Brooklyn Water Case.

Sets Aside Verdict Giving Nominal Damages to Man Whose Land Was Drained for City Supply.

By a decision just handed down by the Court of Appeals, the Long Island truck farmers who are claiming damages because of the alleged draining of their land by the driven wells and pumping stations of the Brooklyn water supply system, are regarded as having won a point in their fight to recover from the city.

The ruling of the court is in the suit of Reisert vs. the City of New York. Reisert, who owns and works an eighty-acre farm at Foster's Meadow, sued to recover $60,000 past damages, and for an equitable adjustment of future damages, on the ground that his crops had been diminished steadily for several years. A pumping station operated by the city is situated within three hundred feet of Reisert's land.

Justice Marean, trying the case in Special Term, Brooklyn, declared that the damages could not be based on prospective profits as based upon past profits. He excluded all evidence of that character, and ruled that only damages for rental and fee value would be allowed, on the ground that plaintiff's counsel offered the evidence to sustain his contention that the plaintiff was entitled to recover his loss of profits during the six years prior to the beginning of the action. The trial resulted in Reisert being allowed only 6 cents damages, and that judgment was affirmed by the Appellate Division.

This ruling of the lower courts is now reversed by the Court of Appeals and a new trial of the suit ordered on the ground that the record discloses error in the rulings of the trial Judge in excluding evidence as to profits of plaintiff's farm.

"The rule may be briefly stated," says Judge Bartlett, writing the opinion, "to the effect that the plaintiff should be allowed to prove all the facts in regard to the manner of conducting business on his farm, before and after the trespass, calculated to give the court or jury a correct general idea of the condition of the farm and its productive value."

Judge Bartlett says, however, that the plaintiff, after the trespass, would not be justified in efforts, year after year, to raise crops upon his damaged land if experience had demonstrated that they would not mature and produce a marketable or profitable article. That is to say, it would be for the court or jury to determine whether the plaintiff has exercised proper judgment, as a reasonable man in the management of his farm, in view of the changed conditions produced by defendant's trespass. Continuing, the opinion reads:

If it is necessary in the public interest for the defendant to subject the inhabitants of Long Island to the damage incident to maintaining a large number of pumping stations and driven wells, depriving entire sections of the country of its underlying and percolating waters, as well as drying up its surface streams and wells, the least it can do is to meet plaintiffs in a spirit of fairness, eschewing technicality, and settling their actual damages in the premises, and if not contented to pursue such a course to institute condemnation proceedings.

The ruling of the Court of Appeals affects more or less a large number of similar claims of Long Island farmers against the city. About 100 of these cases are now pending, and it is expected that a great many more will be presented. The aggregate amount of the claims, it is believed, will be several millions of dollars.

Assistant Corporation Counsel James McKeen, in charge in Brooklyn, said last night that it might be that the city will ask for the appointment of commissions for the condemnation of the property involved.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

House Passes Primary Election Bill—Republican Senators Make Passaic Pollution Bill Caucus Measure.

TRENTON, N. J., March 31.—The Senate this morning passed the bill permitting the annexation of Irvington to Newark, the bill permitting gas companies that own plants in two or more municipalities to lay pipes to connect the same, and the bill prohibiting the employment of children under fourteen years of age in factories and workshops.

The Republican Senators held a caucus to consider the Passaic Pollution bill. Senator McKee, who has been opposing the bill, together with Senators Lee and Shinn, left the caucaus, and the remainder eleven Republican Senators decided to make the bill a caucus measure.

In the Senate this afternoon these bills were passed:

Providing for automatic signals on engines and in factories to give warning of accidents.

Providing State aid for repairing the Newark Plank Road.

Requiring doctors' candidates for examination as physicians to have a high school education.

Preventing election officers drawing double pay where Spring and Fall elections have been consolidated.

Providing that where a portion of the lines of a company holding a franchise is on a private right of way, the company shall pay a franchise tax on such proportion of its gross receipts as equals the proportion of the company's total mileage that is in the public streets.

The Senate to-night had a short calendar, and Senator Wakelee sought to have brought up for final passage the Passaic Pollution bill. Senator McKee objected, and stated that he wanted to make an extended speech in opposition to the measure and asked to have it made a special order for to-morrow morning. This was finally agreed to.

The Senate passed the House bill prohibiting spitting on the floors of cars and bills creating a Bureau of Statistics of Shellfish and refunding to Jersey City $53,000 unlawfully collected by the State from the Erie Railroad.

The House this morning passed the bill providing for the employment of union labor on municipal work.

At the afternoon session of the House the Building and Loan Codification bill was passed, and also the Lehigh Valley Merger bill and the Senate amendments to the General Tax bill.

The Primary Election bill was passed by the House to-night without opposition. Assemblymen Treacy and Hamill of the minority said that the Democrats have always been in favor of primary reform, and referred to the fact that a bill of that character was prepared by Gov. Wertz.

The House passed a great number of bills, among which were the Senate bills creating the office of Register of Deeds in Union and Passaic Counties and providing for a new Grand Jury every six weeks in Essex and Hudson Counties.

Probation Officer's Report.

E. Fellows Jenkins, Chief Probation Officer of the Court of Special Sessions, read his semi-annual report yesterday morning before the Justices of the court. The report showed that from Sept. 5 to March 28 last, 411 boys and 16 girls had been paroled in his custody. Sentence was suspended in the cases of 218 boys and 6 girls, and 42 boys and 2 girls were committed to institutions for violating the provisions of their parole. There are now on parole 151 boys and 2 girls.

Sphinx Club's "Farmers' Evening."

The Sphinx Club will give a "Farmers' Evening" on Wednesday next. Among the speakers will be J. G. Schurman, President of Cornell University and member of the Philippine Commission; J. H. Brigham, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; Herbert Myrick, editor of The American Agriculturist, and Frank B. Long.

SHAMROCK III.'S TRIAL SPIN

New Cup Challenger Shows Superiority Over Shamrock I.

Yachts Sailed in Light Winds, Shamrock III. Beating Sir Thomas Lipton's First Boat at All Points.

GOUROCK, Scotland, March 31.—The Shamrock III. had a trial spin to-day, and showed herself superior to the Shamrock I. on all the points of sailing on which she was tested. The yachts were out five hours, and experts expressed the opinion that the new boat demonstrated that in fine weather she is by far the fastest challenger yet sent out. The trial was entirely in light winds and smooth water, but under these conditions the challenger beat the Shamrock I. as the latter never before was beaten on either side of the Atlantic.

The conditions were propitious for the trial. Sunshine and a light, steady breeze had succeeded the wild weather of the past week, and no time was lost in getting the two Shamrocks off. Though the breeze was light, it was decided not to risk anything, and the cup challenger's working topsail was accordingly set. Shamrock I. followed suit. The challenger was the first to leave her moorings, and looked the picture of a racer as she headed off shore. Out in Gourock Bay the wind was so light that the motion was more drifting than sailing. Shamrock III. slipped through the water without leaving a ripple and carrying her head well up. The first time the challenger broke tack it was apparent that by shortening her fin Designer Fife had produced a boat which was fast on her heel, even compared with cup racers. She carried her way right through turning and was off on her new course while the older boats would have been still looking at it, thus showing herself free of the greatest weakness of the Shamrock II.

There was no attempt at a set race. The Shamrock I. went off over a mile ahead, and then the sheets were trimmed on both boats and a course was laid down channel. The two yachts were close hauled while crossing the mouths of Holy Loch and Loch Long, and the wind was squally and uncertain. They both sailed faster as they got a better breeze, and the challenger showed herself to be a little tender in squalls. But she sailed with her lee rail just clear of the water. She traveled fast and closed steadily upon the Shamrock I. Under the mountainous Cowal Peninsula the land breeze came true and fairly fresh, and the yachts went fetching down channel on what looked like real racing tests, in which the Shamrock III.'s greater speed was demonstrated. Sailing in the same water and no better served by the wind, the challenger pulled up on her rival like hauling in a rope, as the boats fetched down channel, until off Wemyss Bay the Shamrock III. lay better to the wind and sailed faster. During this eight miles she had closed on the Shamrock I. by fully a mile, and at the same time had edged quite a quarter of a mile further to windward. Experts consider this performance alone sufficient to stamp the Shamrock III. as being, under the conditions prevailing to-day, by far the fastest racer built on this side of the Atlantic to compete for the America's Cup.

The wind fell off early in the afternoon, as the yachts reached out of Rothesay Bay and along the Bute shore. The Shamrock I. at that time was nearer holding the challenger than on any other point of sailing. The Shamrock III., however, still proved the better boat and gained a little. The yachts then squared away and ran across the Firth for the Cambrae shore, with little difference in their relative positions. Off Cambrae the boats, by arrangement, rejoined one another and started afresh on a long turn to windward and back toward the Rothesay shore. This was considered a crucial test, and it would have been more satisfactory if there had been more wind. But as it was the Shamrock III. behaved excellently, going faster and always holding the better wind than the older boat.

On the conclusion of the windward work a turn was made south, to Rothesay Bay. The Shamrock I. was again allowed to go ahead half a dozen lengths, after which the challenger started in pursuit, and with the boats reaching free in the same water and with the wind practically affording them level conditions, she not only rapidly overhauled her opponent on this board, but passed wide to windward, and in an easy reach of about five miles gained a lead of quite a quarter of a mile. Off Cloch Point the challenger dropped her staysail, thus finishing the trial.

Sir Thomas Lipton, in an interview after the trial of the challenger, said he considered that he had every reason for the utmost gratification at the result. Shamrock III. had done all that could be asked of her. He thought that the trial proved her to be undoubtedly the best of the America's Cup challengers. In his opinion, she was the fastest boat afloat in to-day's weather, and he looked hopefully to see her do equally well in heavier weather.

D. F. D. Neill, a leading Clyde amateur yachtsman, who was the only outsider on board Shamrock I. all day, said he was satisfied that she was sailed in an honest endeavor to secure the utmost of which she was capable, and she was honestly beaten. In the windward work, he added, Shamrock III. completely circled Shamrock I., but while he considered the new challenger a wonderful boat, he did not expect to find as much difference between the two racers in heavier weather as was shown to-day.

COMMENTS ON CHALLENGER.

Very Fast in Light Airs and Remarkably Quick in Stays, Experts Say.

Experts here agreed yesterday that the challenger's performance, inasmuch as it was only a sail-stretching spin and not a real test of her sailing qualities, was most promising. In view, however, of the somewhat diverse reports of the weather conditions which prevailed, and on account of some doubt as to the condition of Shamrock I., yachtsmen hesitated to point out where Shamrock III. was strong and where she showed weakness.

Henry J. Gielow, the yacht designer and Chairman of the Regatta Committee of the Atlantic Yacht Club, said: "If it is a fact that the new challenger can beat Shamrock I. one mile in eight, or three and three-quarter miles over a thirty-mile course, in other words, if it is a fact that Shamrock III. is 12½ per cent. faster than Shamrock I., there is no doubt whatever that she can take the cup."

Clinton H. Crane, the yachtsman and designer, after reading an account of the trial said: "If this account be true the Shamrock III. shows herself to be a fast boat in light airs, which I consider quite probable judging from the photographs of the boat which have reached this side. I should pronounce the new Shamrock a dangerous boat in light airs and a rolling sea such as we usually get off Sandy Hook in August, the time set for the races. In a good breeze, I do not doubt that the Reliance could beat her, but in a race where there would be any question of finishing within the time limit, Shamrock III. would have an excellent chance of trimming the American boat, be it Reliance, Constitution, or Columbia."

A racing member of the New York Yacht Club, who did not wish to appear either as a prophet or a critic, was much impressed with the challenger's showing. "In view of the fact that it was her first spin," he said, "and that she was new to her Captain and crew, and that her canvas and rigging were untried, the performance was remarkable. What impresses me most is her quickness in stays, as one report of the trial says that between full and full only seven seconds elapsed. Fife has certainly judged aright in boldly cutting down the length of the keel. Another point in which she shows a distinct and a new superiority over all previous challengers, is the manner—on the basis, of course, that the report is correct—in which she slipped through the water with only the faintest breeze to drive her. Unlike her predecessor, which carried a considerable wave along with her, the new boat seems to have glided along leaving scarcely a ripple, which is proof that she has the easiest possible form.

"One report says that she stood up well in the heavier breeze, and though with all her canvas set, her lee rail was barely awash, and another says that in puffs she was much more tender and less steady than Shamrock I., and that her bow did not take the choppy waves so easily as the older boat. To find out her actual status in a blow we shall have to wait for more trials, but it seems hardly possible that with the sharp drawn out lines of her bow that the photographs show, that she would have more trouble in head seas than her bluffer predecessor. Altogether I am much impressed with the new challenger, and particularly with her ability to get into the wind."

NEW YORK AMERICANS WIN.

Atlanta Team Unable to Score Against Griffith's Men.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 31.—The local baseball representatives of the Southern League were shut out for the third successive time by the New York American League players here to-day, the score being 9 to 0. A large crowd gathered at Piedmont Park, as the weather was delightfully fine, and the men played as if it were in the middle of the regular season. The visitors were particularly snappy in their fielding, and their showing this afternoon augurs well for the coming season's contests. Manager Clark Griffith was well pleased with the New York players, all of whom have rounded into fine shape since they came here nearly two weeks ago. Tannehill and Howell pitched for the visitors, and they were very effective, only four hits being made off them. These hits, however, do not fairly represent the batting ability of the local men, as the pitchers were well backed up by almost faultless fielding. Courtney was particularly conspicuous in centre field, while Conroy, Williams, and Ganzel distinguished themselves in a neatly executed double play.

Craig, Russell, and Vittur, who took turns in the box for the Atlantas, held the Americans to seven hits. These were timely bunched, and with the aid of four errors yielded 9 runs. Conroy and Long led in batting, each of them making a couple of two-base hits.

Chesbro and Fultz will report to Manager Griffith to-night or to-morrow. The score:

Spalding's Baseball Guide Out.

Spalding's Official Baseball Guide for 1903, edited by Henry Chadwick, is out to-day. It is larger than any previous issue, and contains a complete history of baseball from its foundation. The compiler states that the first regular baseball club was organized in 1833, just seventy years ago. The guide gives the statistics of the National League, American League, and National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which comprises all the minor league clubs. The official playing rules, as amended by the Joint Rules Committees, are given in detail. One of the most interesting features of the book this year is the classification, under one head, of the averages of all the baseball players who are playing in the professional leagues, which enables one to make comparisons between them almost at a glance. The college baseball also is well taken care of, and amateur as well as foreign baseball is fully treated.

N. Y. CANOE CLUB SCHEDULE.

Season Will Open with the Spring Regatta on June 13.

The New York Canoe Club has completed its racing schedule for the coming season, and in addition to the regular events of the Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay, it includes a Spring and a Fall regatta and a number of record sailing races.

The Spring regatta, which will be held on June 13, will include a three-mile record sailing race for decked canoes, and a similar event for open canoes; open canoe, double blades; open canoe, single blades; man overboard race, and a tailend race. Flags will be given to the winner of each individual event, and prizes to the boats getting the greatest number of points for the season. The complete schedule is as follows:

June 13—Spring regatta.
June 20—Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay, Brooklyn Yacht Club.
June 27—Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay.
July 11—Record sailing for open and decked canvas Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay, Bensonhurst Yacht Club.
July 18—Record sailing.
July 25—Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay, Marine and Field Club.
Aug. 1—Record sailing, Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay, Brooklyn Yacht Club.
Sept. 5—Yacht Racing Association of Gravesend Bay.
Sept. 12—Fall regatta.

RACING AT BENNINGS.

Orloff Won a Two-Horse Race at Prohibitive Odds.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Pleasant weather, a heavy, sticky track, and a fairly good card were the conditions under which the races at Bennings were run to-day. Favorite players had a bad day, as only two of the first-choice horses won—Orloff in the first and Gould in the third race. Orloff was at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 20, the race, owing to scratches, being only a two-horse affair. The fifth was the prettiest race of the meeting thus far, scarcely two lengths separating the six horses from start to finish. Star and Garter won, with the favorite, Carroll D., second. Summary:

FIRST RACE.—Handicap; five furlongs. Orloff, 114 pounds, (Redfern,) 1 to 20, won; Bass-Verine, 108, (Sloan,) 16 to 1 and out, second. Time—1:07. Two starters.

*SECOND RACE.—Four and a half furlongs. Peter Paul, 104 pounds, (Hicks,) 6 to 1, won; Race King, 112, (T. Burns,) even and out, second; Pleasant Memories, 107, (Redfern,) 3 to 1, third. Time—0:57 3-5. Boy Blue also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Hurdle Handicap; mile and a half over six hurdles. Gould, 156 pounds, (Hunt,) 2 to 1, won; Gibson Light, 138, (Mara,) 3 to 1 and even, second; Alma Girl, 143, (Donahue,) 8 to 1, third. Time—2:59. A. J. Wagner, Captain Conover, Vassar Dance, Willard J., and Concertina also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Selling; four and a half furlongs. Sourie, 99 pounds, (Gannon,) 3 to 1, won; The Brown Monarch, 105, (Fisher,) 7 to 5 and 3 to 5, second; Interlude, 105, (Haack,) 15 to 1, third. Time—0:58. George R. Harrison, St. Roche, Symphony, and Fortune Hunter also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—Selling; seven furlongs. Star and Garter, 96 pounds, (McCafferty,) 6 to 1, won; Carroll D., 105, (Miles,) 8 to 5 and 3 to 5, second; Imperious, 104, (Waterbury,) 6 to 1, third. Time—1:32 3-5. Brisk, Jove, and Lord Advocate also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Mile and a sixteenth. Historian, 90 pounds, (Creamer,) 4 to 1, won; Duke of Kendall, 95, (Redfern,) 9 to 10 and out, second; Blue Victor, 115, (Mulholland,) 10 to 1, third. Time—1:54. Lucky Day also ran.

Bennings Entries for To-day.

FIRST RACE.—Selling, three-year-olds and upward; six and a half furlongs. Ben Howard, Faranlass, 114 pounds; Brisk, 105; Arrahgowan, 103; Blue and Orange, 95; *Ziri, 96; Cloche d'Or, 84; *Breaker, 85; Slidell, 106.

SECOND RACE.—Maiden two-year-olds; four and a half furlongs. Judge, Fortune Hunter, 107; M. Theo, Hoofbeat, Swivit, Listaway, Transmigration, 104.

THIRD RACE.—Three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs. Flying Buttress, 113; Directum, 113; Examiner, 96; Anna Daly, 91.

FOURTH RACE.—Maiden three-year-olds and upward; seven furlongs. Prancer, 107 pounds; Bedlington, 110; Mary Willoughby, Flo Russell, 105; Benduro Wienerwurst, Michaelmas, 100; Adele Harding, Cherubim, Whiten, 95.

FIFTH RACE.—Three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs. Gwynne, 108 pounds; Sir Christopher, Examiner, Give and Take, *Moderator, 105; Tom Cogan, Lady Radnor, 101; Jove, 99; Showman, 96; Turnpike, 93; Bobbinet, 90; *Right and True, 84.

SIXTH RACE.—Handicap for three-year-olds and upward; one mile and a hundred yards. Lord Badge, 126 pounds; Alado, 120; Ben Howard, 118; H. L. Coleman, 116; Athelroy, Bar le Duc, 113; Circus, 112.

*Apprentice allowance.

Eastern Baseball League Meeting.

The annual schedule meeting of the Eastern League of Professional Baseball Clubs will take place at the Victoria Hotel at noon to-day. The schedule for the coming season, which begins April 30 and ends Sept. 26, will be discussed and adopted, very probably without any change, as prepared by President P. T. Powers.

Vanderbilt's Horse Biltmore Second.

PARIS, March 31.—W. K. Vanderbilt's horse Biltmore took second place in the race for the Prix Perplexe at the Maisons Lafitte meeting to-day. J. Ransch had the mount.

The crowning achievement in the development of the PIANOLA

The METROSTYLE

An addition to the Pianola by means of which it is possible to reproduce the exact interpretations of the great masters of the piano.

"The METROSTYLE is the most wonderful invention ever made in music."—MUSICAL COURIER.

THE METROSTYLE is a finger or guide connected with the "tempo lever" of the Pianola. To this finger is attached a pen.

The performer—an authority—plays upon the Pianola any classical or modern composition. As he plays he guides this pen on the unwinding music-roll in accordance with his interpretation of the piece he is rendering, and thus as he plays he marks upon the roll in red ink a line which, as it progresses, indicates in all its angles and curves exactly in expression the ritardando, the accelerando, or any of the various dynamic contrasts of music just as he himself plays it.

After the completion of this work on the roll the pen is removed, and any performer can use the finger or indicator following the red line that has been marked by the performer, and he will thereupon get an exact repetition of the performance as it was played by the authority,

"This is such a stupendous innovation on everything that has taken place in music so far that it stuns the intelligence. It is so far-reaching that it overwhelms ideals. We are completely at the mercy of an entirely new thought in musical development. We now see piano-playing taken out of the realm of automatism and placed at one step onto the very highest rung of the ladder of individualism."

We unhesitatingly state we believe that the Metrostyle is the most important and far-reaching improvement ever made in musical instruments, and that as an invention it rivals the Pianola itself in importance.

Selections have been interpreted and marked by Maurice Moszkowski, John Orth, I. J. Paderewski, Harold Bauer, and Emil Paur.

Music for the Metrostyle will be interpreted by all the world's greatest musicians.

The first catalogue of Metrostyle music (now ready) contains interpretations by Paderewski, Bauer, Moszkowski, etc.

The cost of the Metrostyle Pianola is $300.

PINEHURST GOLF FINALS

Beckwith Defeats Staten Island Champion in Men's Event.

Women's Championship Won by Mrs. M. D. Patterson—Keen Competitions Mark Ending of the Tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 31.—Perfect conditions greatly aided the golfers to-day in the final rounds of the united North and South amateur championship tournament on the links of the Pinehurst Golf Club. All of the competitions brought out keen and close play. The men's championship proved to be the feature of the day's sport, T. Sterling Beckwith of the Cleveland Golf Club, Ohio, finally gaining the victory. Mrs. M. D. Patterson of the Englewood Golf Club, New Jersey, won the women's championship, and Roy S. Durstine of the Lawrenceville Golf Club, New Jersey, captured the men's consolation event.

In the semi-finals of the men's championship Beckwith was paired against F. C. Reynolds of the Essex County Golf Club, New Jersey. The latter displayed excellent judgment in going over the course and was in fine stroke except on his approach shots. At the end of the match Beckwith won by four up and three to play. John M. Ward, the Fox Hills champion golfer, who accomplished such splendid work yesterday, started out well against C. L. Becker of the Woodland Golf Club, near Boston, in the other semi-final of this event. On his drives Ward was slightly short, but he made up for this defect by careful play on the greens. The match created no end of interest, and Ward finally earned his place in the final by defeating Becker by four up and two to play.

At the beginning of the Beckwith-Ward contest for the championship Ward was looked upon as the favorite for the honors. From the first tee to the last hole this match was keenly contested by both men. Their work was very even throughout, and when the match was finished the Cleveland player, Beckwith, had only beaten his adversary, the Staten Island champion, Ward, by one up.

The semi-finals of the women's championship brought out Mrs. M. D. Patterson of the Englewood Golf Club, New Jersey; Mrs. Cora D. Little, Oakley Country Club, Watertown, Mass.; Miss Frances Powers, Alston Golf Club, Massachusetts, and Miss Florence Bradbury of Providence, R. I. It was expected that the women would display their best skill in this round, but much to the disappointment of the gallery Mrs. Little defaulted to Mrs. Patterson, while Miss Powers defeated Miss Bradbury by one up and twenty holes. When the winners met for the final interest centred upon Mrs. Patterson, who just won her place on the previous day with her card of 101. But Mrs. Patterson surprised even her most ardent admirers by the manner in which she played over the course, leading her opponent from the start to the finish. Miss Powers was defeated at the close by five up and four to play.

The four survivors in the play for the Consolation Cup were evenly matched, and the final between Roy S. Durstine of the Lawrenceville Golf Club, New Jersey, and I. C. Bates Dana, Hillandale Golf Club, Stamford, Conn., was filled with brilliant play. The score was close, Durstine winning by two up and one to play. The summary follows:

Men's Championship.—T. Sterling Beckwith, Cleveland Golf Club, Ohio, beat F. C. Reynolds, Essex County Country Club, New Jersey, 4 up, 3 to play; John M. Ward, Fox Hills Golf Club, Staten Island, beat C. L. Becker, Woodland Golf Club, Boston, 4 up, 2 to play; Beckwith beat Ward, 1 up.

Women's Championship.—Mrs. M. D. Patterson, Englewood Golf Club, New Jersey, beat Mrs. Cora D. Little, Oakley Country Club, Watertown, Mass., default; Miss Frances Powers, Alston Golf Club, Massachusetts, beat Miss Florence Bradbury, Providence, R. I., 1 up, 20 holes; Mrs. Patterson beat Miss Powers, 5 up, 4 to play.

Men's Consolation.—I. C. Bates Dana, Hillandale Golf Club, Stamford, Conn., beat J. B. Shea, Allegheny Country Club, Pittsburg, by default; Roy S. Durstine, Lawrenceville Golf Club, New Jersey, beat B. E. Rumbough, Asheville Golf Club, North Carolina, 2 up, 1 to play; Durstine beat Dana, 2 up, 1 to play.

Special Features.—Driving Contest—F. J. Bailey, Chicago, won, 225 yards; approaching contest, G. H. French, North Attleborough, Mass., won; putting contest, George C. Dutton, Boston, Mass., won.

VIRGINIA, 1; PENN., 0.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, Va., March 31.—It took ten innings of as excellently played baseball as was ever seen on a Virginia field to decide the winners between Virginia and the University of Pennsylvania here this afternoon. In the last half of the tenth inning Devlin, who had pitched a magnificent game, hit one batsman and then, assisted by an error and two bases on balls, forced in the one run of the game, giving Virginia a hard-earned victory. Virginia plays Pennsylvania again to-morrow. Score:

R. H. E.

ATHLETIC MEET ABROAD

English Universities Want Harvard and Yale to Challenge.

Cable Said to Have Been Sent Not Received by Americans—Yale Willing to Compete.

LONDON, March 31.—The Oxford-Cambridge athletic authorities cabled to Harvard and Yale to-day that the English universities are now prepared to accept a challenge from Harvard and Yale for an athletic meeting in London this year.

In the event of a challenge being sent the meeting will be held at the Queen's Club, as before. It is suggested that the most suitable dates would be July 11 or July 18, and that the conditions will probably be on precisely the same lines as those of the previous meeting here with the teams of the American universities in 1901. The conditions, however, cannot be formulated until the next term, which begins at Oxford and Cambridge in the last week of April or the first week in May.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 31.—Prof. Ira N. Hollis, Chairman of the Harvard Athletic Committee, had not heard of any official proposition to-day bearing on a field meeting between Harvard and Yale and Oxford and Cambridge, saying that the English colleges were prepared to receive a challenge from Harvard and Yale. Prof. Hollis said he knew nothing about any such matter and that he could not tell at this time what bearing the announcement from England would have.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 31.—The Yale athletic authorities received no cable from the Oxford-Cambridge men to-day. In the absence of such a communication comment is withheld except by way of an observation that Yale would probably be willing to compete if satisfactory arrangements could be made.

Columbia Swimmers to Go West.

Columbia's water polo team and relay swimming team will leave for Cleveland to-morrow, where on Friday and Saturday they will compete in the intercollegiate aquatic championships at the Sportsmen's Show in that city. Clinton G. Abbott, the Captain, yesterday announced that the following men would compose the water polo team: Left forward A. R. Camp; centre, C. G. Abbott; right forward, C. D. Trubenbach; half back, L. B. Alexander; goals, F. H. Duden and L. S. Henes; substitutes, J. B. Shoenfeld, F. Von Saal, and E. P. Halpin. The relay swimming team will consist of A. R. Camp, E. P. Halpin, C. D. Trubenbach, and F. Von Saal. On account of illness, J. W. Spencer will be unable to go with the relay team, and in his place A. R. Camp will be acting Captain. C. D. Trubenbach is entered in the A. A. U. half-mile and mile championship races, and the other members of the relay team will be entered in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

No Foul Strike Rule at Columbia.

Columbia's baseball team has decided to abandon the foul strike rule in her games this season. This is in compliance with the policy suggested by other college nines. The reason for the decision is that the college players feel that the foul strike rule operates too severely against the college nines, although for abler professional teams it may work successfully.

W. L. Douglas 7% Stock

SAFEST INVESTMENT IN AMERICA

Less than $150,000 of the Issue of $1,000,000 Preferred 7% Stock of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. of Brockton, Mass., Remains for Sale in Lots of One Share or More. If you want Some of this Gilt-edge Stock You Must Act Quickly. Stock Pays 7% Annual Dividends, Payable Semi-Annually.

SHARES ARE FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE.

Sold at Par ($100.00) One Hundred Dollars Each

The reason I am offering this stock for sale is solely to perpetuate the business. I am offering the safest 7% investment in America. I retain a one-half interest in the business, my interest being represented by the common stock. Not a single dollar's worth of watered stock is offered the public. The W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. is a successful corporation, probably the most successful from a money-earning standpoint of any shoe concern in this country.

The property of the company is absolutely free from encumbrance of any sort, and it has sufficient cash capital to conduct a business of $7,000,000 a year.

The W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. owns and operates at Brockton, Mass., the largest Goodyear welt (hand-sewed process) plant, and makes more shoes of this kind than any other manufacturer in the world. In 45 of the principal American cities in the very best locations the Douglas Co. owns outright and conducts 64 retail shoe stores, every one of which contributes to the net profits of the business. The company also sells its product to retail shoe dealers in towns and cities where it has no store. The Douglas business has been prosperous for more than 25 years.

In four years the business has more than doubled. The net cash earnings available for the payment of dividends in the year 1902 were sufficient to pay 7% dividend on more than $4,000,000. There has not been a year in the past twelve that this business has not earned much more money than an amount necessary to pay 7% dividend on $1,000,000.

The capitalization of the company is but $2,000,000. This is divided into $1,000,000 preferred stock and $1,000,000 common stock. Only the preferred stock is offered for sale. Behind the preferred stock there is $1,066,966 of actual, tangible assets. I cannot receive one cent of dividend until the 7% has been paid to preferred stockholders.

The business is now, and has been for several years, managed by a Board of Directors composed of capable business men. If you are a careful, conservative investor—one who will be satisfied with a safe and permanent 7% investment—you should buy this stock to-day while it can be secured at par—one hundred dollars per share. This 7% preferred stock will bring a premium of $5 per share within two years' time.

This stock is in the nature of a first mortgage on all the present assets of the company or assets it may in the future accumulate. No bonds or mortgages can be placed on the property of the company to lessen the security of the preferred stockholders.

There is no better investment in the country now available to the public. Large blocks of this stock have been sold to careful business men. I have also sold many single shares to working people and persons who have small amounts of money in savings banks. This is a good investment for the large investor, and it is equally as good for the working man and small investor.

All stock sold this month will receive the full six months' dividend the first day of next July.

The most searching investigation of all the books, papers and records of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. is invited, and every facility will be afforded any prospective investor or his representative who may come to the corporation's office at Brockton. W. L. DOUGLAS.

How to Get This 7% Preferred Stock.

You can get one or more shares of this 7% preferred stock at once by sending cash, certified check, cashier's check, express or postoffice money order to W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

WOMAN PERISHES IN FIRE

Four Other Persons Injured at a Boarding House Blaze.

Victim's Body Discovered After a Fireman, Who Might Have Saved Her, Had Been Called Back.

Miss Mary McLaughlin, sixty years old, was burned to death and four other persons, three of them women, were more or less seriously injured yesterday in a midday fire in the private boarding house kept by Mrs. Eliza J. Mitchell at 58 East Eighty-sixth Street.

The fire was discovered at 1:35 o'clock, a short time after the luncheon hour, and when those of the boarders who had not left the house were in their rooms. The servants, eating luncheon in the basement in the rear, saw smoke creeping through the door leading from the main hall to the kitchen, and gave the alarm. Detective Sergeants Oppenheimer and Dowling of Inspector McLaughlin's staff, who, while standing on the street, had seen smoke issuing from the fourth, or top floor, windows, and had turned in an alarm, also hurried to the house to warn the occupants.

On the third floor the detectives found Miss Isabelle McConnellougue, who occupied a room on the top floor, and who, blinded and half suffocated by the smoke, had stumbled and fallen near the stairs. They assisted her to the street, where it was found that she had been burned about the face and shoulders. She was taken to the office of Dr. William Seward, almost directly opposite in Eighty-sixth Street, and the detectives ran back into the house, and next aided to the street Mrs. M. Brastow, an elderly woman, who had been almost overcome by the smoke.

The firemen who responded to the alarm arrived at this time, and Charles McGuire of Company 22 went up a scaling ladder to the top floor and tried to enter the front windows, but was called down when the firemen were informed that all had escaped from that part of the house. The servants then announced that Mrs. Mitchell had not been seen and must still be in her room on the third floor. Acting Chief Dougherty of the Tenth Battalion, with a squad of his men behind him playing a stream of water on his back, at once made his way to the room in the centre of the building, which he was informed that Mrs. Mitchell occupied, and found the landlady helpless on the floor, nearly unconscious from the heat and smoke. Mrs. Mitchell is nearly seventy years of age and lame, and Chief Dougherty had to carry her through the house to the street, where it was found that she was badly burned about the face and shoulders.

It then was believed that all the occupants were safe, as all who lived there were accounted for, but after the fire had been confined practically to the shaft of a dumb waiter and the upper floor had been extinguished Miss McConnellogue, who had been revived by Dr. Seward, stated that Miss McLaughlin, an old friend who had called on her, also had been on the fourth floor when the alarm was given. Prompt search was made, and Miss McLaughlin's body was found under a bed. Miss McLaughlin lived at 226 East Eighteenth Street.

Mrs. Mitchell was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital, where it was said that her burns, while serious, would not prove fatal unless complications due to her advanced age and physical condition and the shock set in. Friends took charge of Miss McConnellogue. John Welsh, a clerk, received slight burns.

The damage to the house was estimated at $5,000.

COMPLICATED DAMAGE SUITS.

Sullivan Is Said to Have Three Pending Against Railroads and Real Estate Owners.

Justice Gildersleeve yesterday took action in a complex situation growing out of various damage actions brought at different times by Michael Sullivan. The question came before the court on a motion by Sullivan's attorneys to open a default in an action brought against Ehrenreich Brothers to recover $30,000 damages, so that the case could be tried. Fromme Brothers, attorneys for Ehrenreich Brothers, said Sullivan at the same time had three suits against as many defendants pending for damages, and in the complaint in each he swore he was a healthy and robust man until he received the injuries in the action in question.

The suit against Ehrenrecih Brothers was filed on April 4, 1902, to recover for damages said to have been sustained July 20, 1901, by falling over a banister in his house, at 1,373 Third Avenue, of which Ehrenreich Brothers were the owners. He asserted that the bones of his left arm, shoulder, and elbow were fractured. This suit was dismissed with costs last February because Sullivan failed to comply with an order of the court directing him to file his original complaint with the court.

Fromme Brothers asserted that in 1899 Sullivan sued the Third Avenue Railroad Company for $5,000 damages for an accident said to have occurred in 1896, and in which he had his back and hips injured. Another suit was brought to the attention of the court, having been begun in 1901 against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to recover $25,000 damages for an accident which he declared occurred June 28, 1901, soon after the alleged accident in the Ehrenreich house. In this accident he declares he sustained practically the same injuries he had given as occurring in the Ehrenreich house.

Justice Gildersleeve decided to set aside the default in the Ehrenreich case if Sullivan will pay the $79.88 costs. Otherwise the motion is denied with an additional $10 costs.

IN THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Resolution Passed Favoring a Municipal Gas Plant—Bronx Park Expenditures Discussed.

Alderman T. P. Sullivan introduced a resolution at the board meeting yesterday approving the plan for a municipal electric lighting plant, and condemning the alleged high-handed methods and exorbitant charges of the gas and electric companies. Alderman Myers also introduced a resolution approving the municipal electric light plant plan, which was passed without a dissenting vote.

An appropriation of $250,000 was passed to allow President Lederle of the Health Board to erect new buildings.

Alderman Donohue introduced a resolution calling on the Board of Estimate to appropriate $75,000 for the use of the Zoological Society in the Bronx Park. Alderman Behrman opposed its adoption, declaring that the appropriation was unnecessary in view of the fact that the society had received from the city $250,000 last May. Furthermore, said the Alderman, the society is so close a corporation that it was able to change the route of the rapid transit tunnel, when it was intended to push it through the park, thus making the line a mile and a half longer.

Alderman Donohue asked to be excused from voting, and then Alderman John T. McCall, in opposing the motion, said he was in favor of having an investigation of the way in which the great sums of money voted the society had been spent. Alderman Parsons said the reports of the society would show that.

Alderman Mathews thought that it was about time to call a halt and spend the $75,000 in building roads in the Bronx, so that people could get somewhere, instead of spending it for an ostrich cage.

The resolution was defeated, but on motion of Alderman Parsons, the vote was reconsidered, and the resolution was again placed on the calendar.

Dollar Bill Sold for $50.

A one-dollar bill put on the collection plate of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church, One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street and Seventh Avenue, four years ago, by President William McKinley, was auctioned last night in the church, at the Authors' Bazaar, which is going on there. The bill brought $50. The purchaser's name was not given.

Milton (N. J.) Pastor Suddenly Resigns.

Special to The New York Times.

MILTON, N. J., March 31.—The Rev. George F. Dickinson, for three years pastor of the Methodist Church here, has suddenly announced his decision to terminate his connection with the church. He has not said what his future plans will be, or whether he will accept a new pastorate. He is one of the oldest and best-known clergymen in the State, and formerly was pastor of the South Market Street Methodist Church in Newark. He built the Archer Memorial Church in Paterson.

METROPOLITAN'S COLLECTION.

Curator Story Says M. Seligman's Alleged Adverse Criticisms Are Nonsense—Trash Being Weeded Out.

George H. Story, Curator of Painting of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, yesterday characterized as "nonsense" a statement attributed to Arnold Seligman of Paris as to the value of the objects of art collected in the museum. M. Seligman was quoted as saying that, "aside from paintings and one or two rare pieces of tapestry, the contents of the Metropolitan Museum of New York might be destroyed by fire and the world would not be the loser." M. Seligman was further quoted as saying that a pair of ball vases in the Metropolitan marked Sèvres were never made at a Sèvres factory; that there was a lot of trash in the building, and it was a shame New York should be so imposed upon.

Mr. Story said that he did not believe M. Seligman had expressed the views that were attributed to him. In any event, it was palpable nonsense to assert that the world would be none the worse off for the loss of everything in the museum except the paintings.

"To be sure," said Mr. Story, "the Metropolitan Museum has only casts of masterpieces of sculpture, the originals being in European galleries, but they purport to be casts, and as such have their use. Burning them up would simply mean the expenditure of money to replace them. There is no question of the authenticity of antiques like those dug up by Gen. di Cesnola himself," and Mr. Story went on to enumerate other well-known valuable and undoubtedly authentic collections, such as that of iridescent glassware.

Mr. Story said that there were necessarily in a museum accumulations of what might be called trash. For instance, in private collections presented to the museum, along with much that was valuable, there were usually other things which were worthless. Sometimes, also, worthless things were acquired. The museum was by purchase constantly weeding out such things, the most of which had come in in the earlier years of the history of the institution.

"For that matter," added Mr. Story, "all museums have to go through this weeding out process." And he spoke as an illustration of this constant change of the fact that the National Gallery in London during the last decade had changed the names on many of its old paintings, crediting them to other painters than those they had been attributed to before, counting some spurious which were before ranked genuine, and vice versa.

"By the way," said Mr. Story, "if we are imposing upon New Yorkers shamefully, we are certainly imposing upon them in great numbers, for there were 40,000 visitors in three days about a week ago."

FOR A WESTERN HALL OF FAME.

St. Louis Fair Directors to Honor the Memory of Explorers and Pioneers.

At the suggestion of Ernest Thompson Seton, the Directors of the St. Louis Fair have decided to establish a Western Hall of Fame, in which there are to be statues of fifty of the men who distinguished themselves in the winning of the West. The selection of those to be honored it is proposed, shall be determined by popular vote.

Those who have been so far mentioned are Coronado, De Soto, and the Spaniards on the South. They are followed by the Frenchmen Verandrye, Du Luth, La Salle, Hennepin, Marquette, and Des Moines. Among the others are Boone, Bowie, Bridger, Beckwourth, Breckenridge, Crockett, Carson, Clark, Frémont, Long, Macy, Ross, Pike, Brigham Young, and the English pioneers of the East.

It is also proposed that there shall be four large historical pictures illustrative of deeds of the pioneers.

According to the present idea as to the building of the Western Hall of Fame there are to be four doors opening to the four points of the compass to typify the four great gateways, St. Louis on the east, St. Paul on the north, Santa Fé on the south, and San Francisco on the west.

It is also proposed to issue a book giving the lives of the fifty men chosen and containing their portraits. The volume would include fac similes of the Spanish, French, and English maps that were compiled in the reports of the pioneers. Many of these maps are in the archives of Paris and Madrid, and have never been given to the public.

OLD GUARD MEMBER WINS.

Henry H. Brewster, a private in the Old Guard, is entitled to recover $750 from that organization as damages owing to his expulsion last February. That sum was fixed by Justice O'Gorman, in the Supreme Court, yesterday.

Mr. Brewster, who is a rich business man, joined the Old Guard in 1893, and regularly paid his dues. Last February he paid $250, which entitled him to a life membership. Later on he made some strong statements in regard to Major Briggs, for which charges were preferred against him in the organization, and he was expelled. Suit for reinstatement and $10,000 damages was instituted, and some time ago Justice O'Gorman decided that Mr. Brewster was entitled to reinstatement. The fixing of the amount of damages followed yesterday.

Day Too Late in Dismissing Policeman.

James L. Cunningham is placed on the regular police force under a decision rendered yesterday by Justice Bischoff, in the Supreme Court. Commissioner Partridge, the Justice holds, was a day late in removing Cunningham from the force, on which he was an officer on probation, and therefore the man is entitled to his regular position under the law. Under the decision Cunningham, in addition to going back on the regular force, will receive his pay from July 11 last, that being the day of his illegal dismissal.

Young Couple Confess Secret Marriage.

Special to The New York Times.

MILLBURN, N. J., March 31.—Miss Teresa Killoran and Milton Silance astonished their relatives yesterday by announcing that they had been married in New York on Sept 24 last, in the rectory of an Episcopal church. They said they desired to keep the marriage secret until they were ready to start housekeeping. The bridegroom is twenty-one years old, and is the son of John R. Silance, who is at the head of the plant of the Millburn Electric Company.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31.—The coast storm has passed northeastward and is central to-night over the Canadian maritime provinces. A second depression overlies Manitoba, with a barometer reading of 29.18 inches at Prince Albert. Unusually low barometric readings have been recorded in all parts of the country, except the East Gulf States. There has been no rain of consequence, except in California and locally over the Southern plateau.

It is much warmer in the interior valley, the Middle and South Atlantic States, and over the Eastern slope, and colder in the plateau region. Fair weather will prevail Wednesday and Thursday in the Eastern and Southern districts. Showers are indicated for the Upper Missouri Valley and the Southwest Wednesday, and rain is probable Thursday in the Eastern Slope, Upper and Middle Mississippi Valleys, and the upper lake region.

It will be colder Wednesday over the Northeastern Rocky Mountain slope and the Rocky Mountain region, and lower temperatures will prevail Thursday in the Upper and Middle Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys and the Southwest. The winds along the Atlantic Coast will be mostly light to fresh west; on the Gulf Coast light southeast to south, and on Lake Michigan fresh to brisk southeast, increasing.

Steamships departing Wednesday for European ports will have light to fresh west winds and fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

New England, fair Wednesday and Thursday; light to fresh west winds.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, Delaware, and Eastern Pennsylvania, fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday fair; fresh west to southwest winds.

Western Pennsylvania and Western New York, fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday fair; fresh south to southwest winds.

District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia, fair Wednesday and Thursday; light variable winds.

North Carolina and South Carolina, fair Wednesday and Thursday; light to fresh west to southwest winds.

West Virginia, fair Wednesday and Thursday.

North Dakota, showers and colder Wednesday; Thursday fair.

Minnesota, showers Wednesday, colder in north-west portion; Thursday fair, colder in east portion; fresh to brisk southeast winds.

South Dakota, showers Wednesday, colder in Central and west portions; Thursday fair, colder in east portion.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair and warmer; winds west to southwest.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

There was a general agreement in financial circles yesterday with the views announced by Mr. MORGAN in our columns. Naturally the expression of such views by a man of his unique experience and standing would influence many minds, but the recognition of the facts on which his views are based is to be credited with still greater effect.

With what fairly may be called the speculative distress, of which there are signs, we confess that we are not greatly concerned. If the undue speculation which is the cause of that distress were general, if it had led to the excessive locking up of resources and to the straining of credit throughout the country, it would be a very different matter, but of this there is no evidence, while there is much and significant evidence to the contrary. It is found, as we remarked yesterday, in the earnings of the railways, in the state of retail trade, in the promptness of collections, and in the demand for money in regions devoted to trade and not to speculation. It is found in the rapidly increasing imports of the materials of manufacture and in the increased consumption which maintains the internal revenue far above the level expected when the "war" taxes were taken off.

It is all the more unreasonable to attribute the present tendency toward hardened money rates to restriction of credits or added need of credit, when whatever of embarrassment exists throughout the country can be traced in considerable degree to the inability of the banks to issue the currency required by active trade. During the coming week a special committee from the Finance Committee of the United States Senate will convene in this city to lay out its plans for an investigation of this point. The members of the sub-committee are Senators ALDRICH of Rhode Island, ALLISON of Minnesota, PLATT of Connecticut, and SPOONER of Wisconsin. They were authorized, after the failure of the Aldrich bill last session, to take up the subject and try to frame a plan that would stand some chance of success in the next Congress. As it is understood now that the Congress will be called in extraordinary session on the 9th of November, it is extremely desirable that a working plan may be agreed on. In such legislation the bankers and financiers of New York should certainly have much influence. They are at present going through a period of some annoyance and inconvenience and even perturbation. So far as the actual situation is due to a defective currency system, and it is in large part due to that, it will inevitably be rendered somewhat more difficult next Fall, if measures are not taken to guard against it. The prospect of practical legislation at an early point in the session would be reassuring. It should be promoted in every way feasible.

THE POWERS IN CHINA.

It is unpleasant, of course, that the United States should be compelled to dissociate themselves from all the other Powers on an important point in the settlement of the Chinese question. But it would be more unpleasant if we should go back upon our own professions. These were expressed in the communication of the State Department during the Summer of 1900, when a thirst for vengeance seemed to have taken exclusive possession of all the other Christian Powers, and particularly of all the Christian missionaries, in these words:

> The policy of the Government of the United States is to seek a solution which may bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve China's territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese Empire.

It cannot be decently pretended that any official act of our Government since has belied these pretensions. Especially they are not belied, but contrariwise confirmed, by the position which it seems we occupy alone in the conferences about the Chinese indemnity. The Bankers' Commission seems to have arrived at an "impassé." It is reported that the commission declines to submit the American proposition to the Chinese Government upon the ground that the commission has already ruled out the construction of the protocol upon which it was drawn. The American delegate insists that it is the duty of the commission to submit it under the protocol.

It is necessary to bear in mind that the "haikwan tael," in which the amount of the indemnity is computed, was worth $1.06 in gold when the Chinese tariff was first established, and is now worth 58 cents. The depreciation has of course been marked even since the protocol was signed. But silver has never, during the forty years of the existence of the haikwan tael, ceased to be the currency of China, nor the haikwan tael the standard and unit of value. The indemnity agreed by the Peking protocol to be paid by China consists of "450,000,000 of haikwan taels," and it is explained that this amount "constitutes a gold debt." The relation of value of the haikwan tael to the currency of each nation represented is thereupon computed and the computation inserted in the protocol. Of course the fall in silver since then would greatly increase the burden of China if the present rate of exchange between gold and silver were taken as the basis of computation instead of that set forth in the protocol itself. Considering these things, the United States has adhered to its bargain and agreed to accept the actual number of silver haikwan taels stipulated. The Bankers' Commission has decided that not only shall the pound of flesh be exacted from China, but an ounce or two over, to cover the subsequent emaciation of the debtor. We think most Americans will agree that this is sharp practice and very shabby business, and will applaud their own Government for taking no part in it.

A PROBLEM OF THE STREET.

When the driver of the Irish jaunting car who had confidentially informed his fare that there were 50,000 home rulers in Ireland armed to the teeth, thoroughly organized and well drilled, was asked why they did not rise and set the island free, he was ready with the answer: "Sh! We are afraid of the police." This would seem to be about the situation in Wall Street, where one well-known bear—we believe he is a sick bear, too—appears to have subdued to his purpose and policy a whole pasture full of livestock that is most anxious to exhibit itself as triumphant bulls.

The spectacle is one that fills the philosophical beholder with astonishment. The bears and bear tactics seem to be dominant and unrestrained. Some of their tactics have an interest for the general public, since they unmistakably tend to business disturbance and demoralization. For months past much has been heard of "raids" upon certain great corporations. The United States Steel Corporation has been obstructed in some of its policies by suits more than questionable in their motive. The group of raiders who tried to shelter themselves behind the inconsiderable person of Mr. PETER POWER undertook operations against the Northern Securities Company which are well remembered. Of late the Metropolitan Street Railway Company has been subject to an attack as to the nature and purpose of which the public has been able to judge from the testimony of witnesses in court. The Union Pacific Company is now being "hammered" by a speculative pool which seeks to compel the payment of dividends upon Southern Pacific stock. There is evidence that the attacks upon the Metropolitan and upon the Union Pacific have a common origin. Encouraged and favored by the raids upon these great properties the little bears organize assaults all along the line, with the result that the securities of the stock market, investment securities as well as those of a more speculative nature, are forced down to figures which give uneasiness or cause embarrassment to innumerable innocent holders, while there is unmistakable evidence that the great conservative interests of the financial district are disturbed by the prevailing bear conditions, which occur at a time when a currency shortage makes easier and more effective the tactics of the "short" side of the market.

The wonder is why the big interests allow the thing to go on. In times of disorder the indiscriminate sale of firearms is usually prohibited. It would naturally be thought that in a period of depression and nervousness such as that through which the Street is now passing weapons of offense would be kept out of the reach of wholly reckless and selfish persons. Bank accommodation is as necessary to great operations for a fall as it is to similar operations for a rise. It has been said that one of the more reckless operators could command accommodations to the extent of $25,000,000 in a Western city. There would seem to be no reason of public or financial policy why any person or pool seeking by misrepresentation, conspiracy, or litigation to destroy the value of widely held investment securities should be looked upon with favor just at this time by the loan and discount officers of financial institutions. It is not merely a question of the comfort of speculators or wholly a question of the course of prices in the Stock Exchange. It is a question of the business of the country, which, while it is too solidly based and too prosperous to be long or dangerously affected by the operations of raiders, may nevertheless be visibly checked through the exercise of the considerable power of evil, disturbance, and loss lodged in the hands of these gentlemen, a power which ought not to be increased.

THE EXPANSION OF NEW YORK.

The magnificent scale on which New York is expanding, developing, and making provision for the future may very well induce vertigo in the average citizen who hears of sums involved which are in one way or another easily available, but which are as far beyond the individual comprehension as are the interplanetary distances. The State is not disturbed by the prospect of an expenditure of a hundred million dollars in canal enlargement, and the city discusses the matter calmly as something essential to its commercial welfare in the increasingly keen competition of other ports. It is a large undertaking, but what we are doing locally is so much more costly in the aggregate that the enterprise of the State seems really a very little thing. The subways under construction will represent something over thirty-five millions, and those in embryo, which must surely be undertaken in the near future, will cost probably seventy-five millions more. The plans for the new Pennsylvania and New York Central terminals will cost together some ninety millions, and perhaps half as much more will sooner or later be required to do what the roads not accommodated by these terminals must do to hold their passenger traffic and build up the sections of country they traverse. They are already planning "submerged bridges" and looking out for terminals in the heart of the city. The new East River Bridge will call for at least twenty millions, the Blackwell's Island Bridge for about twenty-two millions, and other bridges for some six millions. Among the smaller enterprises in hand, which are not large enough to be interesting in comparison with those mentioned, are dock and water front improvements calling for some three millions, the Jerome Park Reservoir and aqueducts to cost five millions, and the New York Public Library, to cost about three and a half millions.

The improvements in hand or projected in or near New York by the Federal Government, including the new Custom House, the up-town Post Office, channel improvements, the enlargement of Governors and other islands, and the improvement of our harbor fortifications, will consume not far from twenty millions. What the sum of these expenditures for the immediate or ultimate benefit of New York would be we have only a vague idea, at best. Not a dollar of it represents premature or unnecessary expenditure, and within the next five years it is fair to assume that as much more equally necessary work will be undertaken.

To summarize the private enterprise which supplements, and is to some extent the outgrowth of National, State, and municipal enterprise directed to the upbuilding of New York, would be impossible in the limits of convenient space. One fact will serve to show that forces are at work to make New York magnificent as well as great. Within a few hundred feet of Long Acre Square it is reported that real estate operations involving the immediate investment of about forty millions of dollars are in course of execution. The outlook is bewildering. Five years will change New York in most of its familiar characteristics; ten years will remodel it; fifteen years will give us a new city on the site of the old one; what to expect in twenty years may be left to the imagination.

THE NEW ABATTOIR BILL.

Mayor Low will give a hearing to-morrow at 11 A. M. as to the measure known as Senate Bill No. 598, entitled "An act granting permission to the New York Butchers' Dressed Meat Company to erect an abattoir in the City of New York." The purpose of the beneficiaries of this bill is to erect an extensive slaughter house at Eleventh Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street. Permission to erect this building for the purpose intended was some weeks ago denied by the Board of Health on the ground that it would not be on the water front, as required by the charter, and on the further ground that the Medical Advisory Board of the department had advised Commissioner LEDERLE that any extension of the slaughter-house facilities in the Borough of Manhattan would be improper. The board, having adopted this view of its duties and responsibilities, refused the permit desired; whereupon the parties in interest took the matter to Albany and had prepared and presented a mandatory bill giving them permission to erect the abattoir, and requiring the Board of Health to grant a permit to build it and conduct therein the business of killing cattle, sheep, calves, swine, and poultry. The discretion of the Board of Health in its oversight is limited to requiring that "its sanitary equipment shall be substantially similar to that of abattoirs now conducted in said city."

Leaving the merits of the enterprise or the avowed purpose of its projectors to create and maintain a model establishment out of consideration, the fact remains that the bill in question establishes a vicious precedent. It is wholly subversive of the principle of home rule for cities, and if approved would open the door to abuses so grave that the work of a quarter of a century in the upbuilding of municipal responsibility for municipal conditions would be undermined and destroyed. The members of the company seeking this extraordinary and dangerous privilege claim that they are seeking only their rights. If this is so, they can secure them by mandamus proceedings through the courts. Mayor Low should veto this bill without regard to the influences, political and financial, behind it.

ANTHRACITE.

The anthracite coal situation is possibly satisfactory to the operators, but it is scarcely so to the miners and not at all so to the consumers. For April the net price at tidewater will be $4.50 per ton. This is 50 cents a ton above the price of last Spring. In May there will be another advance of 10 cents a ton. If we assume that the average price for the year will be 55 cents a ton over that for 1901, the output of the anthracite mines will cost the consumer in round numbers $33,000,000 more than the same quantity of coal would have cost him before the strike. From this point of view the consumer has no great cause for satisfaction in the outcome of the contention of last Summer.

The miner is probably disappointed. On the basis of $4.50 he will receive an advance of 10 per cent. over the wages he earned before the strike. At $4.60 he will have a further advance of 2 per cent. If in the Fall the price is again made $5, his advance over the 1902 wage average will be 20 per cent. A little calculation will lead to the conclusion that, under the most favorable conditions in sight, the increase of wages will not in three years, and perhaps not in five years, amount to more than his loss from idleness during the five months of the strike. This cannot commend itself to his appreciation as satisfactorily profitable. What the consumer thinks is, of course, negligible.

CITY HALL STATION.

There is one detail of administration of the Manhattan Railroad to which the live man in its management ought to give his attention.

Without doubt the additional sidewalk on the east side of the tracks at City Hall station is a great convenience, and a provision in the interest of comfort as well as of decency. It vindicates its usefulness every minute during the "rush hours," and every day it pays for itself in economy of time and temper.

But it is only in the rush hours that it is needed or useful, that is to say, when there is a steady throng of passengers bound up town blocking the central platform. The sidewalk serves the purpose of enabling the down-bound passengers to avoid this crowd instead of further confounding its confusion and fighting their way through it. When it is not needed it is a nuisance. It is so narrow that it reduces the pace of the procession over it to that of the slowest passenger. It is, and has to be, unsheltered from end to end. In the midday hours, and in a stormy day, it is extremely vexatious to have to walk the length of a six-car train at a very slow rate and entirely unprotected from the weather, and infuriating to look from the storm-beaten sidewalk over to the unoccupied expanse of a central platform broad, sheltered, and empty.

All this could be avoided and all the utility of the sidewalk kept if the guards had orders to let out their passengers on either side, except during the rush hours.

JAPANESE VIEW OF MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read the account in your paper this morning of the public meeting held in Cooper Union last night, at which there was one man who voted against the resolution regarding a municipal gas plant favored by fourteen hundred persons, and that that man, upon investigation, "proved to be a Chinaman who had not clearly understood the speaker."

Upon investigation I found that the very man who seems to have made himself an object of ridicule to fourteen hundred persons was my most intimate friend, who happened to be in the meeting last night, and who is not, as he seemed to them, a Chinaman, but one whose countrymen a few years ago fought single-handed against the Chinese, not because they were desirous for the destruction of the benighted empire, but because they were anxious for the consolidation of the Far East.

I inquired his reason for his action, because I was solicitous to clear away the popular misunderstanding in regard to his attitude. Thereupon he explained that, though it is a fact that he had not clearly understood the speaker, he might have done so had the speaker presented clear reason to be clearly understood; that he acted as he did because, in his opinion, a resolution such as was adopted last night is one of the many which contemplate a Utopian state of affairs which is highly desirable, but cannot be brought about at this stage of civilization nor at any other, unless things are fundamentally altered. The introduction of such a resolution he considered as detrimental to the education of a mass of people such as assembled last night, because it merely appeals to womanish complaints and excites the hearers' temper to such a pitch that they are wholly driven out of the normal state of mind, and with no profit.

There is a class of industry which may be carried on successfully by the municipal government and another which may not. The former includes those industries which do not require any more than an ordinary degree of skill in management, while the latter includes those which require great skill in management. The artificial lighting business belongs to the latter, and should be, as it is, left to the management of private companies, because they can adjust their business to the need of the community better than the officials of the municipal government could. Also, there would be a deficit which must be met somehow, and, very likely, it would be met by taxation. There would be practiced many political abuses also which could never be stopped.

Therefore, my friend believes that the resolution adopted last night by fourteen hundred persons is detrimental to the best interest of New York City.

SPRING IN NEW ENGLAND.

From The Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

The patient earth is silent waiting
The blessing sure from God's own hand;
'Neath woodland moss all life is stirring,
And greening grass bedecks the land.

From south lands joyous birds are winging,
To fill the softening skies with song;
Rivers and brooks are overbrimming,
And leap with hurrying steps along.

In sheltered nooks the flowers are pushing
Their lovely heads above the mold,
And soon the fields will show the lustre
Of blossoms fair like shining gold.

Soft, downy willows long have greeted
With garments gray our longing eyes,
And arbutus, with pinkest blushing,
Has upward gazed in shy surprise.

All life takes on a fresher meaning
For man and beast and all that lives,
And Nature's ample hand, o'erflowing,
Her generous largess freely gives.

O life renewed, O joyous promise!
That breaks the gloom of wintry days,
And lifts the saddened, weary toiler
To greater cheer and thoughts of praise.

CUBAN TREATY SIGNED.

Ratifications Formally Exchanged at the State Department in Washington Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Ratifications of the Cuban reciprocity treaty were exchanged at the State Department to-day by Secretary Hay and Señor Quesada, the Cuban Minister.

There was little formality about the exchange. One copy of the treaty served, and this was delivered to the Cuban Minister. In addition Secretary Hay and the Cuban Minister signed a protocol reciting the fact of the exchange. The copy of the treaty signed to-day will be sent to Cuba, and when the other copy bearing President Palma's signature is received here, it will be placed on file in the State Department.

The next step in order will be the proclamation of the treaty, but this cannot be done until the House of Representatives acts on it.

THE COLOMBIAN CONGRESS.

No Date for Convening in Special Session to Act on the Canal Treaty Fixed Yet.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Colombian Legation has received a dispatch from Bogota in reply to an inquiry announcing that the date of the convening of the special session of the Colombian Congress to act upon the Panama Canal treaty has not yet been fixed by the President.

Dr. Thomas Herran, Chargé d'Affaires, said to-day that he believes the Colombian Congress will meet not later than May 10. It is assumed at the legation that complete returns from the late election have not yet been made. Some of the districts are reached from Bogota only in a most roundabout way, which it is said would account for delays in determining the results of the elections. The regular session of the Colombian Congress meets on July 20 next.

CHANGES IN ENGINEER CORPS.

The Promotion of Col. Hains Necessitates a Shifting of Officers.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The promotion of Col. Hains of the Engineer Corps to be a Brigadier General has necessitated some changes in assignments in the corps. Gen. Hains was in charge of the Baltimore district. Col. Stickney has been assigned to relieve Gen. Hains on the Lighthouse Board, and the Eastern Division of Fortifications and River and Harbor Works has been extended so as to include Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and has been placed under Col. Stickney. Capt. Charles Sanford has been assigned to Philadelphia as Col. Stickney's assistant.

Lieut. Col. Quinn, at Norfolk, has been assigned to the work south of Norfolk, which was formerly under Gen. Hains. The river and harbor improvements and fortifications at Baltimore and vicinity will be placed under charge of Lieut. Col. Allen.

SOLDIER KILLED IN A DRILL.

Practice for the Military Tournament in This City Results Fatally at Fort Myer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Zeal of officers and men to make a thrilling display at the Madison Square Garden, in New York, in April, is responsible for the death of one member of the Fourth Battery of United States Artillery and the serious injury of two others yesterday afternoon.

There has been in progress all Winter severe practice drills of the various troops of the Second Cavalry, and the batteries of artillery stationed at Fort Myer. As the time approached for the competitive drill which was to decide which troop and battery was to go to New York the men went to the limit of daring.

The field guns used in the drill are heavy pieces and they are pulled by four powerful horses, trained to run at the top of their speed. The drills take place in the riding hall, which is hardly large enough for the artillery. There is no especial danger for the cavalrymen, but in tearing up and down and around the hall with the heavy pieces of artillery there is great danger that in making a turn a caisson will be turned over.

The officers at Fort Myer have been fearful of just what took place. While the battery was making the "figure eight," in turning a corner at one end of the hall, a caisson made a wide veer, slid over the tanbark, and struck the clay soil with great force. The heavy vehicle was upset, hurling its five occupants to the ground. The carriage rolled over on and disembowled Corporal Slavin. He had just saluted as the order to charge was given.

So great was the impact that the horses were sent whirling to one side. The drivers were thrown, but fortunately escaped serious injury.

Capt. Foote had put the battery through two drills and, not satisfied with the speed that had been made, gave the order for an increase of energy. The injured men were removed and the drill continued for ten minutes to calm down the excited men and horses.

VON HOLLEBEN NOT TO RETURN

Interpretation of the Order for Him to Go to Washington Changes the Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—According to information received here from Berlin, it appears now highly improbable that Dr. von Holleben, who is still officially accredited as German Ambassador to the United States on leave of absence, will return to Washington in May for the purpose of presenting in person his letters of recall.

Chancellor Count von Buelow, who has always remained the steadfast friend of Dr. von Holleben, was responsible for the order that the Ambassador should return to Washington and present his letters of recall, taking formal leave from the United States authorities as well as from his colleagues in the Diplomatic Corps, a formality which he had been prevented from observing by the order directing his sudden departure from Washington. His friends looked upon this concession as due to his dignity as a diplomat.

The enemies of Dr. von Holleben assumed an attitude of exuberant satisfaction when the order was given, however, asserting that this would only be what they themselves would have asked to have done. In their view of the matter it would be an added humiliation for Dr. von Holleben to come back to Washington and in the presence of his successor go through the formalities of a diplomatic departure.

This interpretation of the final order was so loudly and so boldly proclaimed that it became out of the question for Dr. von Holleben to comply with the duty required of him. He will therefore, it is understood, not reappear at Washington even temporarily. It is expected that Baron Speck von Sternburg will present Dr. von Holleben's letters of recall at the same time that he formally presents the notification of his own designation as Ambassador. This will probably take place when the President returns from his Western journey.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT CHANGE.

Rumors in Washington as to Who Will Succeed Assistant Secretary Ailes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The retirement of Assistant Secretary Ailes of the Treasury Department has given rise to gossip as to who will succeed him. Mr. Ailes had charge of the Bureaus of the Mint, Engraving and Printing, Loans and Currency, Public Moneys, &c. Recently Mr. Armstrong, who was the Private Secretary of Secretary Shaw, was advanced to the office of Assistant Secretary and given the place held for many years by Gen. Spaulding. The Customs Service comes under that division of the Treasury business assigned to Assistant Secretary Armstrong, and there was considerable surprise expressed when his appointment was announced as successor to Gen. Spaulding, who is one of the best-informed men in the country on Customs matters and an expert in the administration of the Customs laws.

There was objection to Mr. Armstrong's appointment on the part of the Senate Finance Committee, of which Senator Aldrich is Chairman, and in consequence the confirmation was held back. About that time Mr. Ailes's intention to resign became known, and it is understood that an arrangement was made that on the retirement of Mr. Ailes Mr. Armstrong would be assigned to the desk vacated by the former and that a new man would be appointed in his place who is familiar with Customs and revenue matters.

CRUM NOW COLLECTOR AT PORT OF CHARLESTON.

Is Now in Full Charge of the Custom House—Chief Inspector Resigns.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 31.—W. D. Crum took charge of the Custom House to-day as Collector of the Port. There was no incident of interest in connection with his assuming office, except the immediate tender of the resignation of the Chief Inspector of Customs, which had been placed in the hands of the Deputy Collector to take effect on Mr. Crum's entrance to authority.

It is not expected that anything will come of the talk of an appeal to the courts for an injunction to restrain Mr. Crum from serving as Collector.

PRESIDENT'S TRAIN READY.

Will Consist of Six Cars and Be One of the Finest Ever Run Out of Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The special train on which the President will leave here to-morrow for his Western trip will be furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and will be one of the finest ever run out of Washington. It has been specially decorated and equipped for the trip. It will consist of six cars, manned by a picked crew, with Conductor William H. Johnson, who has been with the President on many trips, in charge.

Spencer Murray will be in charge of the President's car, which will be the private car Elysian. It has a parlor and observation compartment, three state sleeping rooms, a dining room, two sleeper sections, a kitchen, and sleeping sections for servants. The other cars of the train will be the Texas, a compartment sleeper; the Senegal, a section sleeper; the St. James, a diner; the Atlantic, a combination buffet and baggage car, and a regular baggage car.

The trip will continue from April 1 until June 5—nine weeks and three days. During that time the President will travel about 14,000 miles.

John Burroughs, the poet-naturalist, arrived here to-day. He will accompany President Roosevelt until he arrives at St. Louis, making the tour of the Yellowstone Park with him. From St. Louis Mr. Burroughs will return to New York. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University will join the party at St. Louis, and will be the President's guest until he arrives in California. When that State is reached the President will be joined by Benjamin Ide Wheeler, President of the University of California, who will accompany him through the State.

MARKSMANSHIP IN THE NAVY.

General Board Gratified with the Improvement Shown in Big Gun Work.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Ever since the manoeuvres in the Caribbean Sea began last Winter the Navy Department has been watching the big gun work of the American ships and a separate sheet in the department shows exactly the results obtained from every shot fired in target practice on every ship. When the manoeuvres began the practice was not very good, because of the large amount of green material in the crews, but the reports show a steady increase in proficiency that is extremely gratifying to the general board here.

Last week Commander Winslow brought a report of extraordinary practice by the Massachusetts with the big turret guns, and now comes a report from the little battleship Texas of Santiago fame that is satisfactory. This shows that when engaged at target practice at 1,600 yards, (the target measuring 21 by 17 feet high,) one pointer made 100 per cent. of hits, another 70 per cent., and many 50 per cent.

LIEUT. CAMPBELL DISMISSED.

The President Approves the Findings of the Court-Martial in Army Officer's Case.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The President to-day approved the findings of the court-martial dismissing from the service First Lieut. Neil A. Campbell, Twenty-first Infantry, who was tried on charges of disobedience of orders.

He was serving in the Philippines, and some errors were found in his accounts as commissary officer. Gen. Weston wrote to him asking him to correct the mistakes, and he paid no attention to the letters, several of which were dispatched to him. The matter was brought to the attention of the Secretary of War, and an order was issued directing him to reply to the Commissary General, and it was this order that he disobeyed. It was found that he had never opened the letters regarding his accounts.

Campbell served in the First Rhode Island Regiment during the Spanish war, and was appointed from that State in the regular army in April, 1899.

Gen. Wood Will Not Be Governor.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—It was stated at the War Department to-day that Gen. Wood is not to become Governor of the Philippines as a successor of Gov. Taft, even should the illness of the latter cause his resignation. This statement is made because of the rumors afloat regarding the government of the Philippines and Gen. Wood's commission.

DAVID LEVY'S LIBRARY SOLD.

Editions de Luxe and Works in Choice Bindings Disposed Of for $8,200.

The fine library of Lawyer David Levy was sold at auction by John Anderson, Jr., 20 West Thirtieth Street, last evening. There were 184 lots, comprising the works of noted authors, in the choicest of bindings, editions de luxe of limited issues, fine are, and illustrated books sumptuously produced, and the works of the great romancists and historians in specially printed editions. DECISION ON A RAILROAD TAX.

Court of Appeals Holds Against the City in a Central Suit.

ALBANY, March 31.—In the action brought by the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company against Thomas L. Feitner, Commissioner of Taxes and Assessments in New York City, to have the assessment of $361,000 on the Spuyten Duyvil and Port Morris Railroad Company stricken from the assessment roll, a decision was handed down in favor of the plaintiff by the Court of Appeals. The order of the lower courts was affirmed.

WOOD-SULLIVAN PICTURES.

Early Paintings by American Artists—The Rosa Bonheurs—Recent Work by Murphy and Kost.

Nearly 100 paintings belonging to the estate of H. Wood Sullivan of Brooklyn are at the American Art Galleries, 6 East Twenty-third Street, where they will be sold on Friday evening next, April 3. For the greater part they are by living or recent American painters; only a few European pictures are among them.

Mr. Sullivan seems to have been a steadfast patron of a number of our younger artists, notably of J. Francis Murphy, Childe Hassam, and Frederick W. Kost. Blakelock was another of his admirations, and he certainly managed to obtain several of the better sort from that very unequal painter's tonal bits of landscape.

That which is catalogued under No. 82 has better aerial perspective than is usual with him; the warm glow of light late in the afternoon is rendered with measurable truth to nature. "Sunset on the River" is another attractive panel, on a very small scale as to size, scarcely 4 by 8 inches. "Evening Glow" and "The Hunters" are little pieces with shining faces of the usual kind.

Perhaps it is Francis Murphy who should carry off the honors of this gallery. Several painted last year have the tones that suggest pastels, but not disagreeably so; on the contrary, No. 69, "Indian Summer"; No. 83, "Afternoon in September"; No. 54, "Hazy October"; No. 49, "The Brook," and No. 48, "After a Rain," are uncommonly good specimens of Mr. Murphy's recent work. In the last mentioned the yellowish green of the wet pasture is in accord with the golden light of the sun, which is trying to pierce the broken storm clouds near the horizon; the level beams enrich the greensward with a very different light from that which falls from above at other times. In No. 49 we have farm land, a wood on the right balancing a more distant hill on the left, and the clouds playing their part to enliven a landscape which suggests happiness and peace. More warm tones are in "Hazy October," where the foreground has the colors of the season on grasses and shrubs. The birch trees on a slope in the background have Corot effects, with their scattered leaves against a white cloud. Much in the same general spirit is the September landscape. The finest example of this "crop of 1902" is No. 84, "Silence," with a hilltop in sunlight and its foot in shadow, the distance occupied with fields, orchards, and a farmhouse, all painted with a quiet enjoyment of the scene.

Nine canvases by Childe Hassam are divided between townscapes taken here in Manhattan, and glimpses of Gloucester and the Isles of Shoals. "Snowy Day in the City," and "Snow Storm, Seventh Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street," give the broad facts of the case with no great subtlety of touch. More attractive is "Spring Morning, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street." More curious than convincing is the young woman with straight straw hat who sits in "The White Dory" in the sunlight; for Mr. Hassam's method is better suited to landscapes than figurework. At a proper distance—and the distance that is proper is a long one—the bit of rock and stretch of sunlit sea in "Isles of Shoals" stand out in brilliant colors that might well embellish the dark rooms of a city house. Another fine canvas is a recent shorescape called "Moonrise at Sunset" (1902;) it has true decorative qualities and would glow from a shadowy wall in a corridor with the best effect. "Indian Summer, Colonial Days," was painted in 1899 for the exhibition of Colonial Dames in Boston, where it received a prize. It contains an antique wooden dwelling of the modest Colonial sort, and two figures in old-fashioned garb.

The late Theodore Robinson, whose pictures have many admirers, is seen in a view taken at Giverny, the home of Claude Monet, in "Halt on the Towpath," a New Jersey bit, and in "Willows and Wild Flowers." The last was painted four years before his death, and may be considered the best. The pollard willows and the pasture dotted with flowers, are painted with the greatest lightness and feeling for out-of-door effects.

Impressive in its quiet robustness is an early Ochtman dated 1888 called "Mia-wood." It is a grove of noble beech trees in Autumn, and represents the solitudes of the sylvan deities in a big spirit. An early picture by George Inness, Jr., "Abandoned," gives ewe and lamb in a snowy waste, the bleating of the ewe indicated by her raised muzzle and the stream of breath that becomes visible as it issues into frozen air. Twachtman, whose studio was sold the other day in these galleries with gratifying results, appears in these examples—"Indian Summer," "Autumn Afternoon," and "A Gray Day." The second appears to be a view of his house at Greenwich, Conn., seen through the rich foliage of Autumn from the front, with one gable end in the sunlight. It vies with "A Gray Day" in quiet charm.

Among the foreign work appear two small specimens of Cazin, hardly representative of his latest work; "A Wood Nymph," in water color by Charles Chaplin; a pleasing little landscape by Veyrassat, called "Harvesting," and three pictures by Rosa Bonheur. "Plowing," a small picture of oxen, is from the Bonheur sale; "White Horse in Sunshine" is not without merit; best is the largish "White Horse," painted in the stable near a hayrick. It is a very accurate, conscientious portrait of one of Mlle. Bonheur's equine pets, a horse of no distinguished pedigree and a hide that does not usually attract buyers—a real farm horse for the cart. It is an unusually good example of the minor work of this much-decorated and much-medaled lady.

A good early example of Horatio Walker is a landscape with cattle called "In the Meadows"; among the four Bruce Cranes the best is "Winter"; Charles H. Davis is represented by a fine "Rosy Twilight" landscape, dated 1888; Du Bois F. Hasbrouck by a very attractive "Winter Morning in the Catskills," full of color; Arthur Hoeber by three landscapes, Robert C. Minor by a "Twilight," and H. Bolton Jones by a "Spring" landscape.

No less than ten pictures are signed Kost. "Surf Fishing" and "The Kelp Gatherers" are rugged scenes of shore life painted in 1901 and 1900; by comparison with the earlier work here to be seen they show what an extraordinary change for the better has taken place in his case, how much truer, more robust, and individual his present style is than it used to be, although that earlier work, chiefly dealing with views of the salt meadows of State Island, did not lack merit and often had particular charm.

One should not forget the peacock-colored sea of Alexander Harrison with the two high-prowed galleys rushing forward under stress from their lateen sails, nor the four early examples of George Inness. These are works surpassed in later years by their makers, but they are not uninteresting. Homer D. Martin, William Bliss Baker, R. A. Eichelberger, Harry Chase, Richard Pauli, all five being deceased; Julian Rix, Carleton Wiggins, Albert Sterner, H. W. Ranger, Arthur Parton, Ben Foster, G. Henry Mosler, Lawrence C. Earle, Paul Dougherty, C. W. Dewey, and George H. Bogert have one or more examples. There are figure pieces by Joseph H. Boston, Miss Elizabeth Nourse, Benjamin Eggleston, and Francis C. Jones. The well-known military picture by Gilbert Gaul, "Charging the Battery," which took a bronze medal at the Pan-American, is one of the most striking pieces in the gallery.

FIRST PUBLIC COACH RUN.

The Liberty Reaches Lakewood Seven Minutes Late Because of Slight Delay on the Road.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 31.—James H. Hyde's coach Liberty made its first run as a public coach between New York and Lakewood to-day, arriving here at 6:27 o'clock this evening, just seven minutes behind the schedule time. Mr. Hyde was a bit disappointed, as it was his ambition to make the first trip according to schedule. Mr. Hyde's guests on the trip were Mrs. George J. Gould, who occupied the box seat with Mr. Hyde the greater part of the journey; Mrs. Hastings, Miss Greeta Pomeroy, T. Suffern Tailer, and Roger Winthrop. Mr. Hyde set the party down at Georgian Court, where they were entertained by Mrs. Gould.

After the New Brunswick change was made Mr. Hyde turned the reins over to Mrs. Hastings, who, as Miss Helen Benedict, was a clever horsewoman. The only incident during the entire trip occurred while Mrs. Hastings was driving. As the coach was going down a steep hill near Old Bridge the off lead trace came off and struck the off leader. He jumped and veered off, pulling the other leader and the wheelers with him. The coach left the road, but before anything happened Mr. Hyde had seized the reins and pulled the horses up. The trace was fixed up and the journey was continued without accident.

As a result of this incident the Liberty was fifteen minutes behind schedule when Mount Pleasant was reached, at 3:11 o'clock. Mr. Hyde made up eight minutes of this during the remaining two stages. He fully expected to reach Lakewood on time, but the leaders made a little trouble on the last stage.

GERMAN INDUSTRIAL CRISIS

Outlook Gloomy Despite Some Slight Improvements.

Not a Good Market for Coal, and Miners' Wages Are Low—Activity in Lace, Woolen, and Machine Industries.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times's Berlin correspondent says that there are slight signs of improvement in the German industrial situation, although it is yet uncertain whether they are not ephemeral. The United States is still a good customer of the German iron industry, and some furnaces that have long been cold have been restarted. On the other hand, it does not appear that there is a very good market for coal, and the miners' wages are lower than for some years. Some of the larger machine-building firms have foreign contracts enabling them to tide over the depression. The lace and embroidery trade in Saxony appears to enjoy the most favorable position. The cotton and woolen mills show considerable activity, but the demand for artificial manufacture, such as electrical machinery, is suffering for want of foreign contracts.

The annual report of the Cologne District Association of Industrialists alludes to the unfairness of the American customs policy and the vexatious way in which the American tariff is applied to the detriment of German exporters. The report says that the new German tariff makes reprisals wherever possible, and hopes that the Government will employ it in the interests of German commerce.

The recent export of iron to America is due to transient circumstances, the iron being exported at unremunerative prices in order to keep up the usual production.

CHINESE EMPEROR GRATEFUL.

Decorations for Japanese Officers of Force Occupying Peking During Boxer Troubles.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times's Tokio correspondent says that the Khan of Mongolia has arrived in Japan incognito to visit the Osaka Exposition. His suite includes two sons of Prince Su.

The Emperor of China sent two hundred Orders of the Dragon for distribution among the officers of the Japanese force occupying Peking after the Boxer troubles, in recognition of their services in guarding the palace.

SVEN HEDIN'S EXPLORATIONS.

Swedish Government to Publish Results of Noted Traveler's Journey Through Central Asia.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times says this morning that the publication of the scientific results of Sven Hedin's great three-year journey through Central Asia in a manner worthy of the importance of the work is now well assured.

Owing to the liberality of the Swedish Riksdag Hedin receives 85,000 kroner wherewith to produce an atlas, in two large volumes, and a report of the geography of the country visited and explored. There will also be several volumes devoted to the astronomical, geological, botanical, and zoological collections, and Chinese manuscripts and inscriptions.

It has been decided to publish the work in English.

Increase in Cape Colony Revenues.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times's Cape Town correspondent says that the revenues of Cape Colony during the eight months ending February show an increase of over £2,000,000, or about 30 per cent., compared with last year. The movement appears to have been arrested, however, as the February increase shows a much smaller average than the whole period.

Bulgaria's New War Minister.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times's Sofia correspondent says that though losing M. Paprikoff, Prince Ferdinand has in the new War Minister Savoff an officer of proved loyalty and capacity. He was a member of the Stambuloff Cabinet from 1889 to 1894, when he showed conspicuous energy and ability in reconstructing the army.

BRITISH TREASURY REPORT.

Increase in Revenues for Financial Year Ending Yesterday, $42,990,715.

LONDON, March 31.—The Treasury returns issued to-night show that the total revenue of the United Kingdom during the financial year ended March 31, was $805,998,900, compared with $763,008,185 for the previous year.

The principal increases were: Property and income tax, $20,000,000; customs duties, $17,234,325; excise duties, $3,101,840; stamps, $2,600,000; Post Office receipts, $2,250,000.

The leading decreases were: Estate duties, $2,163,855; miscellaneous, $823,335. The net increase of revenue over the previous year was thus $42,990,715.

The total paid into the Exchequer was $757,768,400, the balance of the total revenue being paid to local taxation accounts. The net increase in the Exchequer receipts over the previous year was $42,768,495.

Last April the Chancellor of the Exchequer estimated the revenue of the Exchequer, which does not include the local tax collections, at $760,925,000. The returns for the closing quarter show net increases over those of the previous year.

DANCERS AT DAGGERS' POINTS.

Russian and Italian Rivals Cause Lively Demonstration at Vienna Opera House.

VIENNA, March 31.—The opera-going public here is greatly excited over the rivalry between the Italian premiere danseuse, Signora Sironi, and the Russian danseuse, Mme. Kschessinska. The latter is the premiere danseuse of the famous opera house at St. Petersburg, and is now appearing at the Vienna Opera House, in which she desires to obtain an engagement. The friends of Signora Sironi, who has led the Vienna ballet for several years, are opposing the engagement of her Russian rival. Last night both stars appeared for the first time together. Signora Sironi was loudly cheered, while Mme. Kschessinska received little applause. After the performance Signora Sironi's admirers escorted her to her carriage, which was laden with flowers.

Mme. Kschessinska is one of the most famous dancers in Europe, and was supposed to be a great friend of the Czar. She is reputed to be enormously wealthy. She occupies a suite of eight rooms at the hotel in which she is staying, has a retinue of twenty-two servants, and possesses a collection of diamonds worthy of an Empress.

RACE TO CARACAS.

Señor Pulido and a Seligman Representative Trying to Get President Castro's Ear First.

A dispatch was received in Wall Street yesterday saying that a race upon which millions depended was believed to be on. "The course," said the dispatch, "is from La Guayra to Caracas, and the contestants are Señor Pulido, the Venezuelan Minister to Washington, and a representative of the Seligman Brothers, bankers of New York. Minister Bowen believes that whichever of the contestants reaches the ear of President Castro first will decide the question as to whether Venezuela shall fight out her case against the powers before The Hague court of arbitration, or pay her debts to them now, by incurring increased responsibilities to another creditor."

At the office of J. & W. Seligman & Co. it was stated that the firm declined to make any comments.

AFTER VENEZUELA'S DEBT.

French Financial Houses Compete with American and Others for Permission to Take It Up.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—French financial houses are contending with American, British, and German bankers for permission from President Castro to take up the Venezuelan debt. Mr. Bowen to-day received information from Caracas that the French Minister there was in frequent communciation with the Banque d'Escomptoir with a view to converting the Venezuelan debt and establishing a French bank in Caracas.

Until the arrival at Caracas of Señor Pulido, the Venezuelan Chargé at Washington, with advices for President Castro from Mr. Bowen, it will be impossible to ascertain the outcome of the efforts of the various financial syndicates which are in the field.

The British Ambassador is still awaiting instructions from his Foreign Office to proceed with the negotiation of The Hague protocol, but it is generally admitted that the allied powers are waiting on Castro's answer to the syndicates before closing negotiations to send the controversy to The Hague.

WAYNE MacVEAGH APPOINTED.

He Will Represent the United States at The Hague When the Venezuela Case Comes Up.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The President has selected Wayne MacVeigh of Pennsylvania, who was a member of the Cabinet of President Garfield, to represent the United States at The Hague when the arbitration tribunal considers the question of preferential treatment as between the allied and non-allied powers having claims against Venezuela.

In view of the smallness of the claims of some of the non-allied powers it is not improbable that Mr. MacVeagh may be requested also to assume charge of the interests other than those of his own countrymen. Otherwise there will be a most formidable array of legal talent to present some rather insignificant issues.

RUSE OF A BANK CASHIER.

Took $70,000 of Berlin Institution and Caused Directors to Compound a Felony.

BERLIN, March 31.—While the Board of Directors of the Mayence People's Bank was in session a few days ago the cashier, Herrmann, who had been with the bank for twenty-seven years, entered the room and told them he had taken $70,000 of the bank's funds. The amazed Directors, when they were really convinced that this was true and that the old employe had not suddenly gone mad, asked him why he had robbed the bank. Herrmann replied:

"This is my revenge for not having been elected a Director in 1900 as I was promised. I had been preparing this stroke for three years."

The cashier added that he was willing to go to the penitentiary for life as he had "got even by inflicting life pangs on the Directors and stockholders" by taking the money.

The bank's officers, dropping the high tone which they had at first assumed toward Herrmann, begged him to restore the money and retain their esteem. Herrmann slowly yielded so far as to say that if they would give him $6,250 down and a life pension of $900 a year he would return the stolen money. It was daylight when the Directors promised to give the cashier $6,250 and a pension. Herrmann then went to the outer office, brought in $70,000, counted out $63,750 and put $6,250 in his pocket. The Directors said this was not fair, that he must return all the money, and that then he would receive the $6,250 promised to him. Herrmann, however, refused, and the bank has now brought legal proceedings to recover the $6,250.

The complaint sets forth the bank's grievances substantially as in the foregoing account of the affair.

KING SAILS FOR LISBON.

Royal Yacht Leaves Portsmouth with British Monarch—The Visit to France.

PORTSMOUTH, England, March 31.—The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward on board, sailed for Lisbon this morning. Royal salutes were fired and all warships dressed and manned ship as the yacht put to sea, escorted by two warships.

A statement was secured from an authoritative quarter to-day to the effect that official negotiations now in progress make it practically certain that King Edward will visit President Loubet, about the only question remaining open being whether the meeting will occur before or after the President's voyage to Algeria. If before, the King's visit will take place within the next two weeks, while his Majesty is on his way to the Riviera, either at Paris or at a place to be hereafter determined upon and conveniently near the capital. If the visit is paid after the President's Algerian voyage, it will probably be about May 1 at or near Toulon, the President's returning itinerary being changed so as to take him near the place where King Edward will sojourn.

The King's visit to the Riviera gave rise to reports that a meeting between the President and the King would take place, but the officials had heretofore refused to admit this to be the case, and the foregoing is the first official admission that the plans are actually under way.

Considerable significance is attached to the meeting, owing to the recent movement for rapprochement between Great Britain and France and the parallel courses they pursued toward Turkey and Morocco. It will be the first meeting between a French President and a British sovereign since the late Queen Victoria was received by the late President Faure on her Majesty's private car while she was on her way through Paris to the South of France in 1897, after which the Boer war severely strained Anglo-French relations.

MARCONI CHARGES JEALOUSY.

LONDON, March 31.—At the annual meeting of the Marconi Company to-day Signor Marconi said he attributed the criticism of his system chiefly to the "cable companies and the sections of the English technical press controlled by the cable companies."

He announced that Lord Kelvin, Lord Rayleigh, and Prof. J. A. Fleming, Professor of Engineering, University College, London, were shortly going to Poldhu, Cornwall, at his invitation to thoroughly examine his transatlantic wireless system of telegraphy.

An extension of the plant, he added, was necessary before the company entered into commercial business of large scope. The capital of the company was then increased from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

American Sculptor Honored.

BERLIN, March 31.—Emperor William has ordered that the statue of Eve by Moses Ezekiel, the American sculptor, be placed in the Sans-Souci Palace, for the benefit of the public. The statue was presented to his Majesty by a friend.

Briton to Take American Bride.

LONDON, March 31.—A marriage has been arranged between Roland Huntley Gordon, son of the late Cosmo William Gordon of London, and Mary, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kuhn of Philadelphia.

IN THE SHOPS.

They have prepared in the shops for those all-over lace waists which must have a lining of some kind or another. There are little silk slips to be worn under them in white or in different delicate colors. They cost $2.75 each, and one can make various combinations of color with the same waist. The slips are of China or India silk, and can be washed if desired.

⁂

Golf sunbonnets are out, and a pretty one of plain colored lawn, corded, will cost $1. Others with a couple of lace-edged ruffles around the face and applications of embroidery inside the ruffles will cost $1.25, $1.50, and $1.75. They come in red, blue, white, and pink.

⁂

A pretty negligee is made tunic effect. It has a low-cut neck, is of all-over lace made up over blue, short waisted, and with a short girdle of chiffon finishing in front with two rosettelike effects, formed by the chiffon being drawn through as many ovals of white embroidery. One of these finishes the girdle in the back. The tunic is short, reaching only a few inches below the waist line in the front, separating to form two long points on either side. In the back the material is carried from the shoulders in a surplice fashion to the centre of the short waist line, plaited in full folds, and then falls out to the edge of the skirt like a narrow Watteau train. The skirt is of a plain, thin, white material made over blue with inserts of lace. The sleeves are banded with the blue chiffon above the elbow, and deep ruffles of lace fall from it over the lower part of the arm.

⁂

A Loie Fuller gown is one of the pretty negligees that are being shown up town. It is made of white canvas falling in shawl points on either side of the front, and the long pointed sleeves reach to the edge of the skirt. Narrow bands of red finish the edges, and there is a shirred front of red silk to the stock. A narrow, full panel of the silk is carried the full length of the gown.

⁂

Deep cream, almost a café au lait with white, forms one of the prettiest combinations that is seen this year. One of the negligees of white crêpe de chine, which is simply made, has a deep collar, sail shape at the back, but with front carried down the full length of the gown in two broad straight pieces like stole ends. A straight band of deep toned lace is set just inside the edge of the collar, and two bands continue down the two stole ends. The gown hangs in straight lines, and there is a scant flounce around the lower edge, also finished with the lace bands of insertions.

⁂

Many short jackets are to be seen in different styles of street suits, these short, ending a few inches above the waist line, usually straight around and made with box plaits as a rule.

⁂

A smart dark blue wash gown has an attractive jacket made something on those lines. But the plaits are only set into the lower half of the jacket. Above there is heavy cream lace insertion, bands of this crossing the shoulders, running into the box plaits which finish the lower part of the jacket. On the jacket on either side of the plaits are set narrow pointed edges of lace which show a trifle and give the effect of a lace foundation. There is a band of the lace half way down the centre of the front of the jacket, finishing in the same way with the lower half a plait, making three of these when the jacket is fastened. As in most outer garments, there is no collar, but a narrow edge of lace appliquéd around the neck.

⁂

Braided silk cord belts with two short ends in front and finishing with some kind of a clasp will cost $1.

⁂

All shapes of jardinières are to be found in all shades of gold, silver, and bronze, soft, dull effects predominating, and they can be used without producing discordant effects. They are simple in design, with some simple figure in bas-relief, a flying stork, or bird.

⁂

All sorts and kinds of baskets for bonbons are trimmed with fruits nowadays, and big bunches of grapes and clusters of rich red cherries are pendent from arched handles.

⁂

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

The Wednesday sewing classes now form about the only kind of meeting or amusement during Passion Week. Miss Leary received yesterday, but there was no music. The outgoing ships have neither large nor interesting passenger lists. The one large bridge party for the week will be that given by Mrs. Gilbert E. Jones on Saturday. Shopping takes a great deal of time, the avenue being crowded in the morning and the afternoon with carriages, and the restaurants are well patronized afterward.

⁂

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Barton French are booked to sail to-day for Europe. They will be absent during the Summer, having chartered the Catania, in which they will cruise. Mrs. Fearn, who sailed two weeks ago, will join them.

⁂

Preparations are being made rapidly for the Vanderbilt-Neilson wedding. The cards are to be out within the next twenty-four hours. Mrs. Neilson, Miss Neilson, and Alfred Vanderbilt have been in town. Miss Neilson will give a luncheon on Saturday. There will be no special trains to Newport, from the fact that all passengers have to take the Wickford Junction boat. There will be special cars, however, on the afternoon before the wedding and on the day of the wedding itself.

⁂

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dinsmore are at Cannes, where they will remain until after Easter.

⁂

The fourth of the musicales and lectures at the studio of Dr. Gerrit Smith was given yesterday afternoon. Among the artists were Miss Jeanne Faure, Miss Marguerite Hall, Miss Selma Kronold, Mrs. F. A. Hoogan, Mrs. Delhaze Wickes, Albert Donaldson Wickes, and William H. Riegel.

⁂

Mrs. George T. Bliss, Miss Bliss, and Miss Amy Townsend will sail for Europe to-day in the White Star liner Celtic.

⁂

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery Hare and F. Kingsbury Curtis on the death of Mrs. Curtis, who was Miss Marian S. Hare. Mrs. Curtis's sister was the wife of Barclay Rives. She died a month after her wedding, two years ago, in London.

⁂

There is a report from London that Miss Eva Palmer will go on the stage. Miss Palmer is the daughter of the late Courtlandt Palmer. Her mother is Mrs. Robert Abbe. Miss Palmer took part in private theatricals in New York on several occasions with great success. At one time it was reported that she was engaged to George Vanderbilt.

⁂

The Adirondack sewing class met yesterday at the Misses Clarks' Madison Avenue residence. Mrs. Benjamin sang, Miss Roselle was another artist, and Miss Warner played the harp. There are about 100 members of this class, and among those present yesterday were Mrs. Walter Rutherfurd, Mrs. J. Muhlenberg Bailey, Mrs. J. Hooker Hamersley, Mrs. Banyer Clarkson, Miss de Peyster, Miss Grace Dobson, and Mrs. Sydney de Kay.

⁂

Howard Gay of Boston gave an opera party for Mrs. Henry Sedley and Miss Barbara Sedley of New York in that city on Monday evening, and after the performance of "Don Giovanni," gave a supper. Mrs. "Jack" Gardner and other notable Boston women were among the guests.

Edward F. Whitney's Summer Home.

Edward F. Whitney of J. P. Morgan & Co. has rented, furnished, the country place of U. D. Eddy, known as the Anchorage, at Rye on the Sound, for the coming season. The lease was negotiated through Herbert A. Sherman.

Mrs. Henry Mosler Better.

The condition of Mrs. Henry Mosler, who has been ill in the German Hospital, is so much improved that she has been taken to her home, Euclid Hall, Broadway and Eighty-fifth Street. It is thought that in a few weeks she will be entirely well.

THE NEWS OF NEWPORT.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 31.—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt arrived from New York to-night and was met at the boat by her son, Reginald C. Vanderbilt. She was accompanied only by her maid.

A branch of the ladies' auxiliary in connection with the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association was organized here this afternoon with Mrs. Luce, wife of Rear Admiral S. B. Luce, United States Navy, as Chairman; Mrs. C. Ogden Jones as Vice Chairman, and Mrs. Chadwick, wife of Capt. F. E. Chadwick, United States Navy, as Secretary. A large number of well-known women in army and naval circles and in social circles are interested in the work of the association, which has recently been established here. Miss Helen Miller Gould has contributed largely to the furnishing of the new rooms. Mrs. McAlpine of New York, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the International Young Men's Christian Association, was expected to be present to organize the local branch, but was detained in New York by the illness of her son.

Mrs. I. Townsend Burden arrived this afternoon for a short visit to inspect her villa, Fairlawn.

Miss Edith Colford returned to-day from a long visit to New York.

Miss Ellen F. Mason has rented her cottage on Gibbs Avenue and Champlain Street to Lieut. A. J. Hepburn, United States Navy, for the Summer season.

Work has been commenced for a new cottage for Francis K. Sturgis of New York on his recently purchased land near the Gammell estate. The plans are for a house in old English style of wood and stucco. It will not be completed before the end of the year, but the stable will be finished for use this Summer.

The work of preparing the Pratt cottage for Mrs. Neilson's use was commenced this morning and will be completed within a week.

MRS. W. C. WHITNEY'S ESTATE.

Valued at $243,035, and Is Bequeathed to Her Husband and Children.

An appraisement of the estate of the late Mrs. Edith S. Whitney, wife of William C. Whitney, was filed yesterday. Mrs. Whitney died at Westbury, L. I., May 6, 1899, as the result of an accident while riding horseback. William C. Whitney was named under her will as executor of the estate, which consisted of $243,035 gross, of which the jewelry was worth $128,785.

Under the will a son, Arthur B. Randolph, gets a diamond necklace with a diamond and pearl ornament, worth $17,000; a stepdaughter, Dorothy Whitney, receives jewelry worth $2,400; William C. Whitney receives a life interest in the tapestries and jewelry to the value of $110,335, which revert to her daughter, Adelaide D. Randolph. The residuary estate goes to the son and daughter equally. It also develops that on March 17, 1890, Mrs. Whitney, then Mrs. Randolph, deposited $133,350 with the Central Trust Company, forming a trust fund, of which she was to get the income for life and at her death the money was to be divided between her children.

GOSSIP OF THE THEATRES.

Receipts of Metropolitan and Paris Opera Houses—Hammerstein's New Theatre—Anthes to Sing in Concert.

Attention has recently been called to the difference in the receipts of the Metropolitan Opera House with those of the Paris Opera House. Last year the Grau company, besides paying $50,000 for the lease of the house and buying new scenery and incidentals, made quite a handsome profit on its season. This year it did the same, and is said to have made about $100,000 on the New York season alone. The recent report of the French Minister of Fine Arts shows that the Grand Opera in Paris is still far from being on a paying basis. The institution receives $160,000 annually from the State, and, in addition to this, the Director gets the house rent free and is provided with all the scenery and costumes. In return for this he is obliged to produce each season two new works by native composers. Last year the expenses exceeded the receipts by $27,630.

⁂

When Oscar Hammerstein's new Drury Lane Theatre, in West Thirty-fourth Street, just beyond Eighth Avenue, is completed early next Fall, it will seat about 4,800 people, making it perhaps the largest theatre in the United States. The main walls are almost up, and the work is being centred about the stage, which is being arranged for the largest possible scenic and melodramatic effects. On it Mr. Hammerstein proposes to produce immense spectacular melodramas. If need be, he is prepared to sail a boat on his stage. Several plays have been offered to him for the opening of the Drury Lane, but it is understood that David Belasco will write one for it, and, in any case, superintend the stage management. Popular prices will be charged in the theatre.

⁂

Georg Anthes, the German tenor of the Grau Opera Company, ran over from Boston yesterday, where the company now is, and remained in New York a few hours. He says that since it became known that Heinrich Conried might not be able to engage him for next season at the Metropolitan because of the German Stage Association's objection, he has received several offers of other engagements. One of them is to sing in Budapest next season, and another to appear in concert here. The latter offer, made by Mr. Parkin, a musical manager, for two months, he has accepted. Mr. Anthes will also sing ten or more times at Covent Garden, London, in May and June.

⁂

The report that the Shuberts were to build a new theatre adjoining the Normandie Hotel, on Broadway, between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Streets, proved unfounded. The Shuberts did buy, however, from Theodore W. Myers, a lot 25 by 100 feet, immediately in the rear of the Casino Theatre, where an extension of the theatre will be made at once. The present stage will be altered until it is 54 feet deep and 80 feet wide. The Casino Roof, which will be reopened this Summer, will also be extended back 25 feet on Thirty-ninth Street.

⁂

Edith Ellis Baker has leased Mrs. Osborn's Play House, and on Tuesday evening, April 14, will make her début as a star in a new society comedy called "The Point of View," of which she is the author.

⁂

Col. William Lightfoot Visscher is the latest addition to the company that will present Opie Read's character comedy, "The Starbucks," at Daly's Theatre April 13. Col. Visscher is well known in the West as a humorist and laureate, and for years in company with the late Bill Nye and Opie Read stumped the country.

⁂

The testimonial that was to have been given at the Metropolitan Opera House in early May to A. M. Palmer by a number of managers has been postponed until next Fall. The reason stated is that Heinrich Conried will commence tearing up the stage for its reconstruction previous to the date set for the testimonial.

⁂

Marion Winchester, the girl who danced down a flight of steps in "The Hall of Fame" at the New York, sails shortly for a tour of European music halls.

⁂

Maurice Campbell announces that he will next season send "The Sword of the King" on tour in the Stair & Havlin houses. Eugenie Blair will probably appear in the rôle that Henrietta Crosman is playing.

⁂

Twenty-two-year-old Roy S. Sensabough, a printer, of 420 South Second Street, St. Louis, has been declared the winner of George Fawcett's annual play competition, and will receive the prize of $1,000, together with 7 per cent. royalties resulting from the production of the play. The piece is called "The Favor of the Queen."

⁂

Gertrude Bennett, who began her stage career with Liebler & Co. in "A Royal Box," and who finished it some months ago with Henrietta Crosman in "The Sword of the King," will be married April 15, at All Angels' Church, in this city, to William Coper Dickey.

WILLIAM HARPER'S RECITAL.

A song recital was given yesterday afternoon in Mendelssohn Hall by Mr. William Harper, a bass singer who is not known in New York to the frequenters of public concerts. There was much about the recital to give pleasure and excite interest. His programme departed widely from conventional lines. There were upon it songs by Holländer, Brahms, Bach, and Richard Strauss that are more or less familiar; there was Meyerbeer's song, "Il Monaco," and the song of Marcel, "Piff, Paff," from his opera of "The Huguenots," which seemed an unnecessary component of any song recital; there was a song, "Sorge Infausta," from one of Handel's forgotten Italian operas, "Orlando;" there were two extremely charming songs by Henry Purcell, "More Love or More Disdain I Crave," and "Sylvia, Now Your Scorn Give Over," for which Mr. Harper ought to be thanked; there was a cycle of songs (though it was not so styled) comprising selections from Tennyson's "Maud," set to music by Arthur Somewell, and, finally one dedicated to Mr. Harper by Mr. Buzzi Peccia of this city.

Mr. Harper sings intelligently and musically; but his equipment is not such as wholly justifies him in public appearance. His voice is a powerful organ, rather rough in quality, not extensive in compass, somewhat veiled and uncertain in its upper tones. His enunciation is lacking somewhat in distinctness, and his style upon the whole is not of great finish. But that he has real intelligence and unmistakable musical feeling, and a certain power of characterization was shown in a number of his songs. The "Piff, Paff" song, so far as it went, was well done, with a good understanding of its significance, though Mr. Harper was far from producing all its effects, and the two charming songs by Purcell were charmingly sung. Mr. Harper, in short, proved himself to be a singer of respectable powers, that are competent to afford pleasure within their own sphere.

THE KNEISEL QUARTET.

Schumann, Brahms, and Beethoven at the Last Concert of Their Season.

The Kneisel Quartet finished the most successful series of concerts they have ever given in New York last evening. It was the sixth of their season, and was attended, as the five previous ones have been, by an audience that completely filled the hall; and there were a number of people who could not get in. This closing concert was one that offered no problems and raised no doubts.

The programme contained three pieces of incontestable and lasting beauty in the form of chamber music—Schumann's first string quartet in A minor, Brahms's C minor pianoforte trio, and the second of Beethoven's Rasoumoffsky quartets, in E minor. There is not much that can be added to what has been said of the quartet's playing of works of this sort. They played with inimitable devotion, with love, with enthusiasm, and with the perfection of ensemble that is the high distinction of everything they do. Absolute balance of tone, symmetry, and clearness of outline marked every movement, and there were golden purity and euphony in it all.

It has been said that the Schumann quartets are written in a style more recalling the characteristics of the pianoforte—"Klaviermässig," as the Germans say—than those of the stringed instruments; yet of these more than almost any others it may be said that each new hearing brings home afresh the ravishing beauty of the tonal effects (quite apart from the quality of the musical ideas) that Schumann achieved in them, now melting and glowing with saturated color, now keen and brilliant, but always rising above the consideration of technical procedure, and, in a way, confuting them.

Such playing as that of Mr. Kneisel and his associates sets forth this beauty in its most radiant attributes. If there was anything more to be wished for in their presentation of this quartet, it was in certain places a more drastic accent, even at the sacrifice of some of the euphony. Perfection of style marked the playing of the Beethoven quartet, a largeness of view and absolute artistic rectitude, not only in technical matters, but in the complete assimilation of the spirit of the work and all its significance. Here the Kneisel Quartet published most indubitably their title to mastery.

Mrs. Clara Damrosch Mannes played the pianoforte part of the Brahms trio with Messrs. Kneisel and Schroeder. She has previously this season shown her fine qualifications as an ensemble player, and she acquitted herself of the very considerable task that this trio imposes in a highly successful manner. She has the right understanding of the matter, the correct instinct. It was clear from her performance last evening that she is no novice in this position; there were a few matters of detail—of detail that counted for something—in which her reading could have been improved; certain points of phrasing that would have given a greater unity to the effect, as for instance, in the andante grazioso. But her playing was full of excellent and musicianly qualities, and showed a conception of the work lucid and clearly wrought.

Mrs. Mannes is a valued addition to the ensemble players of the city, and is likely to be heard of frequently in the future among that band to which many are called but few chosen. The trio was greatly enjoyed by the audience, which recognizes in Mr. Kneisel and his fellows interpreters of Brahms's chamber music of the rarest sympathy and an authority gained from personal contact with the master himself. It is certainly one of his most superb works, full of high imagination, a sweep of eloquent power, and in the slow movement of some of Brahms's tenderest and most potent deliverances in the folk-song spirit.

"THE HOLY CITY" PRODUCED.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 31.—A new Biblical drama "The Holy City," by W. B. Hurst, was presented for the first time at the Collingwood Opera House to-night by Thomas W. Broadhurst's company, headed by Miss Iva Merlyn, who appeared in the rôle of Mary Magdalene.

The story covers the events preceding and immediately following the Saviour's death. The author has followed the Biblical narrative closely and the character of Mary Magdalene is presented with a faithfulness that is almost startling. The play closes with a scene representing the Garden of Gethsemane with Mary Magdalene asleep at the Saviour's tomb and an allegorical picture typifying the joy of the world at the advent of the first Easter morning.

The costumes were designed by Miss Merlyn, who, besides being an attractive young woman, is a Biblical scholar, the daughter of a clergyman, and the sister of another clergyman.

The play was well received.

FUNERAL OF EDMUND WILSEY.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Edmund Wilsey, one of the oldest residents in the Bronx, who died at his home, 1,817 Clinton Avenue, on Sunday. He was ninety-one years old. Interment will be at Kensico Cemetery to-day. Mr. Wilsey was a descendant of Hendricks Martensen Wilsey, a Hollander, who came to this country in 1659, and settled at Wiltwick, which is now Kingston, N. Y. Benjamin Archer, the great-grandfather of Mr. Wilsey, fought through the French and Indian wars, and six of the eight male members of that branch of the family did likewise.

His grandfather, Jacob Wilsey, was "a minute man" of the Revolution, and his father, Benjamin Wilsey, was an officer under Gen. Collins during the war of 1812. When the civil war broke out Edmund Wilsey tried, without success, to volunteer as a Lieutenant, as he had served in that capacity before. Being unable to do so he wanted to enlist, but was above the age limit and was rejected. He leaves a wife, Eliza Adelaide Grove, who was the daughter of a British naval officer, and two sons and six daughters.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

Dr. Russell P. Fay.

Dr. Russell P. Fay died Monday night at his home, 101 Warburton Avenue, Yonkers, from pneumonia. He was born in Burlington, this State, in 1864. He was graduated from the New York Homeopathic College in 1887, and after a year's service at Ward's Island, went to Yonkers to practice. He was President of the Westchester County Homeopathic Medical Society, and was a member of several New York City homeopathic societies. He founded and was the head of the Yonkers Homeopathic and Maternity Hospital.

H. W. Corbett.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—H. W. Corbett, ex-banker and ex-United States Senator from this State, died at his home in this city to-day of heart trouble. Mr. Corbett was seventy-six years old.

Henry Winslow Corbett was born in Westborough, Mass., Feb. 18, 1827. After an academic education he started as a clerk in Cambridge and removed to New York, where he engaged in the mercantile business for seven years. In 1850 he shipped goods to Oregon Territory and in the following Spring went there. When the Republican Party was organized, in 1856, Mr. Corbett was one of the prime movers in Oregon. He was a delegate to the convention in 1860, when Abraham Lincoln was nominated. In 1866 Mr. Corbett was elected United States Senator from the State of Oregon, serving a full term.

He came before the Legislature again in 1897 as a candidate. There was a long fight in the Legislature, which resulted in no election, and Mr. Corbett was appointed a Senator by Gov. Lord. In the special session called by President McKinley in March, 1897, there was a controversy over his eligibility, and finally, on Feb. 28, 1898, he was declared ineligible by the Senate by an overwhelming vote, on the ground that his seating would mean that a minority could hold up a Legislature and throw the appointment of a United States Senator into the hands of the Governor.

While Mr. Corbett's death was sudden it was not entirely unexpected, as he had been in poor health for some time. Only yesterday Mr. Corbett, realizing that his strength was failing, resigned as President of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. His fortune is estimated at about $5,000,000.

Ebenezer Butterick.

Ebenezer Butterick, the originator of the tissue paper dress pattern and the founder of the Butterick Company, died yesterday at his residence, 406 Franklin Avenue, Brooklyn, in the 77th year of his age. He retired from business in 1881, and four years ago turned over all his interest in the firm to the sons of his late partner, J. W. Wilder. Mr. Butterick was born in 1829, at Stirling, Mass., where he served an early apprenticeship as a tailor. In 1859 he started in business for himself at Fitchburg, Mass., and soon after began experimenting in paper pattern making. In 1864 he came to New York. He leaves one daughter, who is unmarried.

Obituary Notes.

DUDLEY GILL, aged fifty-two, Sheriff of Warren County, this State, is dead of heart disease at Lake George. He had been Supervisor, Deputy Sheriff, and Game Warden, and was elected Sheriff in 1900.

JAMES A. STEWART, General Superintendent of the Utica and Mohawk Valley Railroad, died at the home of A. H. Mills, his father-in-law, at Fonda, N. Y., yesterday. He was forty years old.

SIDNEY V. ROWLAND, Superintendent of the Pittsburg Coal Mining Company and a leading citizen of Kentucky, died yesterday. He was an uncle of David R. Francis, President of the St. Louis Exposition.

HUGH MULLEN, a Democratic politician and business man of Montclair, N. J., died at his home there yesterday from a complication of diseases. He was born in 1839. In 1898 he was a candidate for the Assembly, but was defeated. He was President of the Essex County Road Drivers' Association. He is survived by a widow and four daughters.

WILLIAM N. SAMMIS died in Northport, L. I., Monday night. He was sixty-eight years old. He was Postmaster there for ten years, and was the first President of the village under the incorporation act. He was interested in steamboat and electric light companies, and was a large real estate owner. He was a charter member of Alcyone Lodge, F. and A. M., and was the first Master of the lodge, which office he held for fifteen years.

WILLIAM S. WHITLOCK, an old time New York merchant, died in Poughkeepsie yesterday, in his ninety-first year. He came to New York from New Jersey in 1827 and entered the employ of Sydney & Augustus Whitlock, shipping merchants in South Street. A few years later, when that firm dissolved, he became a partner with Augustus Whitlock under the firm name of Augustus Whitlock & Co., and in later years conducted the business under his own name. He was one of the founders and was First Vice President of the Union Dime Savings Institution, and was an incorporator and Director of the Ninth National Bank. In 1837 he married Rebecca S., daughter of Daniel Fanshaw. During the last few years he had lived with his daughter, Mrs. Vanderbilt Whitlock, in Poughkeepsie. His three daughters survive him.

LINCOLN HOSPITAL AND HOME,
East 141st Street and Southern Boulevard,
NEW YORK CITY.
IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God, our Vice President, Mrs. William E. Dodge, Senior, has been taken from our midst after a long life of active service for our beloved Institution, the Lincoln Hospital and Home,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we, the Board of Managers, do hereby express our most tender love for her, who, through fifty-two years, has shed a gracious influence, and by her Christian example ennobled all with whom she has been associated.

As fellow-workers we shall feel a deep sense of loss in going on without her encouraging words, but, remembering her life of devotion, will strive to do our best work for the cause which was so dear to her.

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Resolution be placed upon our records, copies sent to the family, and published in the daily press.

Signed HARRIET PARSONS JAMES, Corresponding Secretary.

MRS. EDWARD A. BOND DEAD.

Wife of the State Engineer Dies While He Is Away Attending Funeral of His Brother.

ALBANY, March 31.—Mrs. Edward A. Bond, wife of State Engineer and Surveyor Bond, died to-day at her residence in this city. Her husband is in Michigan, where he went to attend the funeral of his brother, James P. Bond, who died Sunday from the effects of an explosion in Dowagiac, Mich.

Mrs. Bond had been seriously ill for some weeks, but was considered out of danger Saturday when Mr. Bond received the telegram which summoned him to the deathbed of his brother. Early this morning a change in her condition occurred, and she died within a few hours. A telegram was sent to Mr. Bond, and he left for this city before the funeral of his brother took place.

Mrs. Bond, who was about fifty years of age, was Miss Gertrude Hollenbeck of Clayton, Jefferson County. She left no children.

The Time to Invest.

With the money received from time to time from the sale of its Treasury stock the GEORGE A. TREADWELL MINING COMPANY has developed and equipped its rich and extensive properties and brought them already almost to the producing, self-supporting and dividend-paying stage. It would before now have passed that stage except for the fact that the company in the erection of its smelter looked to the future and adopted the new hydro-carbon type, which saves fifty per cent. of the fuel required by the old type. The machinery for the old type is kept in stock and can be furnished at once, while the machinery for the new type had to be made to order and some alterations and improvements made, such as were suggested by trial runs.

This has delayed a little the commencement of the payment of dividends, but will enable the company to pay bigger dividends in the end.

Meantime some investors become impatient, and the stock is selling cheap—much below its real value.

As soon as the smelter starts on its permanent and steady run—it is only a matter now at the most of a few weeks—it is believed that the stock will sell for $25 a share. It can now be bought for less than half that price.

The time for one man to invest is when the other man is tired.

Buy where you can buy cheapest—it makes no difference to us—but we advise you to buy quick before the price gets too high.

There is some Treasury Stock for sale at our office to complete the development and equipment of the property and the erection of the perfected smelter. There is also a little stock of the tired stockholders offered for sale once in a while outside.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Money firmer, 6 to 15 per cent. on call.

Stocks strong.

Yesterday's business upon the Stock Exchange affords as strong a contrast to Monday's as could be desired. Upon Monday two casual advances were the exceptions to the general decline. Yesterday two fractional declines were the exceptions to the general advance. The tone, too, was as distinctly good yesterday as it was pessimistic on Monday, and, naturally, whereas prices fell upon the brisker moments on Monday, they advanced yesterday. There have been busier days this year, but none upon which business, prices, and temper so combined to encourage those hoping against hope for the arrival of conditions adapted to make the depressing bears see the evil of their ways.

Of course, intrinsic conditions had not changed over night. Stocks were worth no more than the day before, nor was it easier to buy them. Money at 15 per cent. is a natural incident to the April settlements, but the explanation, although adequate, does not make the rate any easier to pay, or throw any more encouraging light upon the money market's future than an 8 per cent. rate (as on Monday) for the same reason. Nor does such a report as the Union Pacific's for February serve as a better bull argument than St. Paul's, spoken of yesterday. Union Pacific reported a decrease of net earnings for February of $413,476, against a decrease for eight months of $345,109, which is equally discouraging regarding prospects and conditions. In both cases the decrease is due to increase of operating expenses. Yet Union Pacific rose 2 points, against St. Paul's 2⅜. They were the market's leaders both in activity and improvement. Anaconda, it is true, rose 4, but nobody would think of referring to such irresponsible and versatile securities as coppers as representative of the market, for whether they rise or fall, it is for reasons inscrutable to outsiders.

There is but one reason for so general a change, almost against the argument of events. Although stocks had not grown more valuable over night, a great many people had come to have a better perception of their value, and the possibilities of its being reflected in higher prices. All traders who take their views from authority were bound to take notice at their peril of what Mr. Morgan thought and said in THE TIMES yesterday. And a great many others who were selling because it was fashionable thought it a good time to buy for the same reason. London had the first opportunity to place a market construction upon Mr. Morgan's views, and it sent over a rise throughout the list, and followed it by liberal purchases throughout the day, the buying for foreign investors being estimated at over 25,000 shares on balance. The buying of New York Central and Pennsylvania seemed more local, and was not a bad reflection of the more inviting aspect of present prices to those who buy rather than sell when and because prices are seeking a level from which to rise.

The news affecting the general situation continues of the same character. The disbursement of $4,000,000 more dividends in the month beginning to-day is only one more proof of conditions as encouraging outside Wall Street as they are oppressive to borrowers of money made scarce and dear through the preliminary getting together of the millions whose release will tend to ease for an interval. The opening of the month also opens a quarter of liberal disbursement by the Treasury, tending to modify the capacity of the Sub-Treasury at the New York Clearing House, although it will scarcely be checked fully this week. Boston and Philadelphia are the chief exceptions to the favorable conditions of the exchange at interior cities, which are sending remittances here at the same time that they are checking against their New York correspondents upon account of payments to the Government. Since Friday the banks have lost to the Sub-Treasury $2,445,000, almost fourfold the loss in the same time last week. However convinced and rational is the hope of improving monetary conditions, prudence in action continues the better part.

FEATURES OF THE MARKET.

The stock market opened stronger yesterday under the inspiration of the interview with Mr. Morgan, published in the news columns of THE TIMES, and steadily improved until the close of the day, when prices were up from one to two points throughout the list. As the standard stocks were the leaders on the downward movement, so yesterday they assumed leadership on the advance, with St. Paul, New York Central, Pennsylvania, and Union Pacific conspicuous in this respect. The buying was of an excellent character—so excellent, indeed, that it was more than sufficient to absorb all the offerings by the professionals, who were disposed from the outset to resist any advance and to work for a further fall in prices.

The general strength was the more noteworthy in that it came and was maintained in the face of the highest rates for call money recorded in some months, the call figure at one time rising as high as 15 per cent. When this figure was reached traders and a few timid people sold stocks, but the market went on uninterruptedly up, the offerings being readily absorbed by the larger banking interests. This indifference to the higher rates can readily be understood when it is recalled that final preparations were making during the day for the large April disbursements, and that in these preparations some shifting of accounts and some calling of loans were necessary. But it was recognized in intelligent quarters that such conditions were temporary, and that after a day or two the money market will become normal again.

As for the general developments of the day beyond those referred to, they were not consequential enough to have much direct influence. The disbursement of $3,000,000 here by the Government on account of a Philippine payment had, of course, helpful effect, but it was not unexpected, announcement of the intention to pay having been made in the latter part of last week. Sentiment, too, has improved by the knowledge that the country's merchandise export trade continues to expand—as illustrated by the increase of nearly $4,000,000 reported for the week ending yesterday, as compared with the same period a year ago—while the grain export engagements also are heavy. The easier tone reported in the foreign money markets, the continuing evidence of foreign investment demand, and the somewhat improved labor situation were other encouraging factors.

In view of the fact that to-day is the day set for the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific injunction hearing, the Street watched with more than passing interest the movements of the stocks of the companies. Union Pacific was decidedly strong and active all day, selling up two points on 70,000 shares and closing at practically the high for the day. Southern Pacific was neither so strong nor so active, advancing a point on 18,000 shares. The stock commanded a small premium in the loan crowd, indicating apparently a short interest; but, whatever this interest, it seems in no wise to be alarmed at the rise in the stock. In Union Pacific there was every appearance of buying by banking interests identified with the property, with the large short interest on the stock none too comfortable in its position. The prediction is that if the present temporary injunction against the Union Pacific holdings in Southern Pacific is dissolved the former stock will have a sudden and decided upward movement.

Concerning the position of the Union Pacific security, the bears in the issue were yesterday treated to a surprise which they had not expected, and which, the Street hears, rather knocked away certain plans that these bears had laid. It had generally been understood that the February statement of Union Pacific earnings would be made public to-day, and that it would show a substantial net decrease. Thereupon, so the story runs, it had been planned by the bears to make a demonstration against the stock. Quite unexpectedly—that, is to the bears—the statement was published yesterday afternoon. It showed, as had been expected, a decrease in gross of $114,000, and in net of $413,000. Coincident with its appearance heavy supporting orders appeared in the stock, and whatever feeble demonstration the surprised shorts could make was thereby effectually resisted.

One of the features of the day was the heavy buying of New York Central by a banking house sometimes acting for Mr. Keene, this house alone taking fully 7,000 shares of the stock during the day and being largely responsible for the rally in the issue. The Street was at a loss to determine whether this represented short covering or purchases for the long account. Best opinion inclined to the theory of long purchases—this because the rather aggressive manner of buying suggested more the advancement of the price than the accumulation of as cheap a line as possible. The short interest in the stock is said to be still very heavy.

In respect to St. Paul, which assumed market leadership yesterday under excellent buying, the most important development was the disclosure that on Monday a large block of the stock was taken over privately from an operator who was caught heavily long of both St. Paul and Northwest. The purchaser is a leading Standard Oil interest, and, though undoubtedly he might have driven a harder bargain, it is a noteworthy fact that the purchase price, as reported, is little below the low figure recorded on Monday. Apropos of this, it is pointed out that St. Paul is now showing fully 10 per cent. earned on both classes of stock, and that recent buying of it has come from the wealthiest group of capitalists in the world.

In the opinion of representative bankers, one of the most significant developments, marketwise, in recent days has been the heavy investment buying in this market for foreign account. This has appeared not alone in the stock market, but in the bond department. The character of the buying has been such as entirely to preclude any idea of speculative dealings, the stocks being taken and paid for outright. Incidentally, the effect on the local money market of such purchases cannot fail to be helpful.

Coincident with the advances in Rock Island and Atchison, the old story was revived of a "deal" between the properties. This is officially denied. The story probably originated because of the many evidences that lately there has been quiet but none the less persistent accumulation of the Atchison shares, though for whose account remains just as great a mystery as ever.

The strngth of all the Standard Oil stocks, notably St. Paul, Copper, and Consolidated Gas, with a pronounced advance also in Missouri Pacific, in which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has lately become a Director, was in many parts of the Street taken to indicate a change in the market position of the Standard Oil interests.

London bought fully 25,000 shares in this market yesterday, and sold practically nothing. Private cable advices were to the effect that Mr. Morgan's confident utterances—cabled abroad—had done much to encourage foreign sentiment.

Sugar Trust stock declined in the early trading on announcement of the 10 point reduction made by the Arbuckles in the price of refined sugars. When it was disclosed that the trust was not meeting the reduction, but was maintaining its regular prices, the stock promptly rallied.

The heaviest buying of Pennsylvania in the afternoon came from houses with Philadelphia connections, with one prominent interest in the property credited with taking fully 10,000 shares.

The selling of the Wabash shares was by speculative holders, who did not look with favor on the proposed new ten-million-dollar bond issue. Gould brokers were supporting the shares on a scale-down.

It is said that Mr. Keene is now distinctly bullish on the general market, and that the Waldorf contingent, members of which were buying stocks yesterday, is following him. The Westerners are still short of the market.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE MEETING.

A special meeting as well as the annual meeting of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was held in this city yesterday. At the special meeting the recommendations of the Board of Directors to increase the capital stock of the company from $150,000,000 to $250,000,000 were adopted. The increase will be issued from time to time as required. Of the $150,000,000 heretofore authorised only $135,000,000 have been issued.

At the annual meeting the old Board of Directors was re-elected. The proposition of the Directors to amend the by-laws by giving the Directors power to elect as many Vice Presidents as they deem necessary instead of limiting the number to three was adopted. The amendment providing for the closing of the transfer books thirty days before the date of payment of dividends and meetings of the stockholders was also adopted.

William J. Ladd, Charles C. Jackson, and Louis Curtis were appointed a committee to select an auditor to inspect the company's books as required by the law of Massachusetts.

Later the newly elected board met and re-elected the former officers, adding, however, the new Vice Presidents. They are J. M. Cummings, Thomas Sherwin, and C. J. French.

WAR ON BUCKET SHOPS.

The New York Produce Exchange and the New York Cotton Exchange are about to take joint action to fight discretionary pool establishments and bucket shops. Both Exchanges have appointed committees to confer on the best means to keep undesirable firms from receiving news of the Exchange transactions.

The Produce Exchange conference committee consists of D. M. Van Vliet, Charles B. Gale, and T. Harry Story.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, April 1.—The Times in its City article to-day says a large amount of money was borrowed from the Bank yesterday, but the money demand was rather less keen than was expected, and the tendency of the discount market was easy. The Vienna exchange again moved at London. The Bank bought £119,000 of bar gold.

The Stock Exchange settlement was completed without difficulty and the tone was cheerful. Consols and colonial stocks were stronger, the former rising one-eighth, to 90 5-16 cash.

Home rails were quiet and steady. American rails reflected Wall Street prices of Monday, remaining at the lowest points until the late afternoon, when most of the stocks recovered. Grand Trunks recovered sharply. Coppers gave way, and the prices of metals were lower. Turks were dull. Otherwise foreigners were firm. South Africans were rather more inquired after. Bar silver advanced 1-16d., to 22¾d. spot, and to 22⅝d. forward, closing steady.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, March 31.—Month-end requirements increased the demand for money in the market to-day. Discounts were lower in anticipation of cheaper money in April.

There was only a small attendance on the Stock Exchange. Business was quiet, and prices were rather easier in the absence of supporting orders. Consols and home rails were steady. Americans, following advices from New York, opened lower, but afterward were more cheerful. There was some bear covering. Union Pacific, Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fé, and Southern Pacific were the features. The market for Americans closed firm. Grand Trunk rallied on bear covering, and on expectations of good traffic reports for the month of March.

Rio Tintos were easier on the flatness of copper, which closed at 63⅜. Closing prices:

Consols for money, 90¾; consols for account, (May,) 90⅞; Anaconda, 5⅜; Atchison, 82¾; Atchison preferred, 99½; Baltimore and Ohio, 92¾; Canadian Pacific, 131½; Chesapeake and Ohio, 45¾; Chicago Great Western, 24½; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, 165¾ ex div; De Beers, 21⅝; Denver and Rio Grande, 36⅝; Denver and Rio Grande preferred, 88¾; Erie, 35¾; Erie first preferred, 68¾; Erie second preferred, 53½; Illinois Central, 140; Louisville and Nashville, 120⅞; Missouri, Kansas and Texas, 25⅞; New York Central, 134¾ ex div; Norfolk and Western, 70⅞; Norfolk and Western preferred, 92½; Ontario and Western, 30⅞; Pennsylvania, 70; Rand Mines, 11½; Reading, 29¾; Reading first preferred, 43; Reading second preferred, 36; Southern Railway, 32¼; Southern Railway preferred, 92½ ex div; Southern Pacific, 61⅞; Union Pacific, 92⅞; Union Pacific preferred, 92½; United States Steel, 36¾; United States Steel preferred, 87¼; Wabash, 28¾; Wabash preferred, 49½. Bar silver steady, 22⅝d per ounce. Money, 3¼@3½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3½@3⅝ per cent.; three months' bills, 3⅝@3 11-16 per cent.

The amount of bullion taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day was £119,000. The sum of £10,000 was withdrawn for shipment to South America.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: Buenos Ayres, 127.30; Madrid, 35.17; Lisbon, 25.

In Continental Centres.

PARIS, March 31.—Business on the Bourse to-day opened undecided, but afterward there was a partial recovery. Later, however, there was a relapse in prices, and during the last hour various departments improved. Rentes were offered freely in consequence of dear continuation rates. Industrials were firm. Rio Tintos were easier on unfavorable New York advices and the fall in the price of copper. Kaffirs were more active.

The private rate of discount was 2 15-16 per cent.

Three per cent. rentes, 99f 5c for the account. Exchange on London, 25f 17c for checks.

BERLIN, March 31.—Home funds were harder on the Boerse to-day, owing to the ease of private discount rates. Foreigners were quiet. Mines were animated and strong, on account of the statement made yesterday by the Chairman of the Coke Syndicate regarding the extensive demand for furnace coke. Banks were quietly firm. Canadian Pacific was weaker.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 50 pfennigs for checks. Discount rates: Short bills, (for settlement,) 4¾ per cent.; three months' bills, 2⅝ per cent.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 31.—The money market continues quiet and unchanged. The demand is not great and banks are not eager to put out funds. Call loans, 5@6 per cent.; time loans on collateral, 5@6 per cent.; time loans on Mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent.; Clearing House loans, 4½ per cent.; New York funds, 10 cents discount. Clearings, $22,256,642; balances, $2,179,916. The foreign exchange market is steady.

Amalgamated and Copper range were active to-day and the latter grew strong in the afternoon. American Telephone was quite weak and lower prices were predicted. Complete transactions were as follows:

TRADING IN BALTIMORE.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, March 31.—There was further pressure against the Seaboard group to-day, the selling again coming from interests unwilling to carry the issues through the long wait of the Summer and the possible complications of the Fall. The general news bearing on the securities is rather cheering, inasmuch as earnings continue to show increases. Since, however, it is suspected that the bulk of the earnings will for a while be consumed in the physical improvement of the system, security holders see no immediate promise for themselves. It is thought that there was some short selling of the stocks, on the theory that a decline in prices would hasten some of the doubting holders into unloading. The tone was firmer at the close.

Money on call was at 5@6 per cent.

Complete transactions for the day, amounting to 2,440 shares of stock and $36,000 worth of bonds, were as follows:

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Considerable strength was displayed in the stock department of the Exchange to-day, but weakness appeared in bonds, Consolidated Traction of New Jersey 5s declining ¾, American Asphalt 5s 1, Choctaw General 5s ½, and Philadelphia Electric Gold 5s ½. The selling was not large, but offerings were made when the market was practically bare of buying orders, and those who did buy wanted bonds at the lowest prices that could be obtained. The feature of the trading was the further spurt in the Lake Superiors, the preferred scoring a net gain of 2⅛ and the common 1. Philadelphia Company was also strong, while commission houses had buying orders in Reading.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

After considerable irregularity, the outside market yesterday closed with some net gains in the active issues, including Northern Securities. The strength of the Stock Exchange market was, however, only feebly reflected on the curb, for, although some of the stocks which recently had been much depressed showed more or less substantial recoveries, the bulk of the list remained dull and rather weak. The lack of interest in most of the low-priced stocks is very marked, and, while some encouragement is taken from the improvement in the most prominent of curb issues, there is still no sign of betterment in the vast majority of stocks.

NORTHERN SECURITIES was active and the buying was of a kind that served to keep the stock strong during most of the day. Many who have been bears on the stock seem at present inclined to take the opposite side of the market, perhaps in the belief that the company will be successful in the suits now in progress, and that in this event the present rate of dividends will be increased.

UNITED STATES STEEL bonds sold off early in the day, but on fairly active buying of a more general character than that which has been noted of late recovered the early decline and closed fractionally above the opening sale. The rights rose to ⅛, but were not very active.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD rights fluctuated rather irregularly, selling as high as 3⅜ and as low as 3 11-16. At the close of the market bids for a large amount of the rights were made at 3⅜.

UNITED BOX BOARD AND PAPER.—The following statement of the United Box Board and Paper Company, as of March 1, was published in the Street yesterday:

LIABILITIES.

Bills payable	$559,459
Accounts payable	474,555
Total	$1,034,014

ASSETS.

Bills receivable	$65,911
Accounts receivable	114,367
Mill settlement accounts	152,825
Inventories	717,700
Cash in bank and in hands of cashiers at mills	92,676
Total	$1,143,707

A supplementary statement shows that between March 1 and March 19 the bills payable are reduced to $503,625, and the accounts payable to $359,855.

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Local issues were only moderately active to-day, and in the main showed a lower tendency. There was an irregular movement in Swift's shares, but as the weaker accounts disappeared and faith grew in the ability of the management to continue the great packing business without its founder, shorts covered and the price rallied to 117½. Box Board issues fell off in spite of an announcement by the company showing a reduction of liabilities; the common sold at 4 and the preferred close to 29 again. Title and Trust sold down to 102. Metropolitan Elevated fell off a point, but rallied a half; the preferred lost fractionally. Biscuit preferred also eased.

Money rates hold firm, with few loans under 5½ per cent. There is some little complaint of a decrease in local deposits affecting the money rate as much as the demand in other forms. New York exchange sold at par.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

THOMPSON, COADY & CO.—Thompson, Coady & Co., manufacturers of heating and ventilating apparatus at 139 West Twenty-fourth Street, made an assignment yesterday to George A. Pratt. The deed of assignment was signed by one partner only, John F. Thompson, as Francis R. Coady is temporarily out of the city, and the third partner, John J. Coady, died recently. The firm began business in November, 1901, and claimed to have a capital of $4,600. Mr. Thompson was previously Secretary of the G. A. Pratt & Co. corporation, in the same line of business.

LEVIN & AUERBACH.—Deputy Sheriff Plunkett has received an execution against Levin & Auerbach, manufacturers of clothing at 128 Bleecker Street, for $1,865, in favor of Abraham Kressin on two notes, and has removed all the stock and fixtures. The firm was formed on Jan. 1, 1901, both partners having previously been in business alone for several years. Their statement of Jan. 1, 1903, claimed assets of $34,000 and liabilities $11,000. Included in the assets were cash $6,464, merchandise $12,700, and notes and accounts $14,900.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

HENRY N. VON GLAHN.—Henry N. Von Glahn of 5 Old Slip, a liquor dealer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities to the amount of $5,235 and no assets. The debts were contracted principally from 1892 to 1894, when he kept a saloon at 152 South Street.

NEW YORK FURNITURE COMPANY.—Judge Holt of the United States District Court has appointed Alfred E. Ommen receiver of the assets of the New York Furniture Company of 128 West Fourteenth Street, against which a creditor's petition in bankruptcy was filed on March 12. The stock and fixtures are estimated at $4,000.

OTTO ROTHSCHILD.—Otto Rothschild of 590 Broadway has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities to the amount of $8,875 and no assets. The debts were contracted in 1895 as a partner in the firm of Blumenthal & Co., manufacturers of hats at 4 Bond Street. Among the creditors are Taylor & Bloodgood, $2,710; Spiegelberg & Co., $1,723, and Johannes Meyer, $1,040.

H. KLEIN & BROTHER.—Schedules in bankruptcy of H. Klein & Brother, dealers in clothing and shoes, with three stores, at 60 Manhattan Street, 2,471 Third Avenue, and 2,232 First Avenue, show liabilities to the amount of $32,295 and nominal assets to the amount of $27,309, consisting of stock, $25,000; fixtures, $2,050; accounts, $175; books, $15; cash, $29, and fire insurance premiums, $40. Among the creditors are Thomas Boyd & Co., $4,000; Fannie and Charlotte Klein, $2,800; Solomon Goldstein, $2,500; A. J. Bates & Co., $1,800, and Manhattan Shoe Company, $1,717.

DAVID T. KENNEDY.—David T. Kennedy, a builder, of 19 West Seventy-fourth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $164,036 and no assets. Most of the liabilities are in real estate bonds, some of them with his wife, Carrie S. Kennedy, in whose name he did business for many years. He started in the building business forty years ago. Among the creditors are the Mutual Life Insurance Company, $85,000 on two real estate bonds with Mrs. Kennedy in 1882; Alice M. Fowler, $24,000; Joseph W. Dongan, $8,000, and Mrs. Joseph B. Lemoyne, assignee of two bonds from D. H. Olmstead, $35,500.

SAMUEL GLASER.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed yesterday against Samuel Glaser, wholesale dealer in millinery novelties at 41 Bond Street, by Blumenstiel & Blumenstiel for the following creditors: Spiegelberg & Co., $245; Dearberg Brothers, $43,200; Schefer, Schramm & Vogel, $1,205. It was alleged that he is insolvent, has transferred his accounts to Shaftzik & Son to prefer them, and has transferred his stock to others. Blumenstiel & Blumenstiel said that his liabilities are $6,000, and actual assets about $600, and he recently offered to compromise at 15 cents on the dollar in notes which the creditors refused to accept. He began business in 1891.

Executions Against Newmark & Pollon.

Deputy Sheriff Plunkett has received executions aggregating $3,131 against Newmark & Pollon, dealers in plumbers' supplies and gas fixtures, at 103 Orchard Street, in favor of the Birmingham Brass Company for $538, and in favor of Hyman Goldberg for $2,593, and has taken possession of their place of business. They began business in 1897, and in December last claimed to have a capital of $7,000.

Attachments in Connecticut Case.

Deputy Sheriff Fogarty has received two attachments against Mary E. Wright Smith in favor of Susan C. O'Neill, for $7,614, and in favor of Isabella M. Pettus for $7,876, on judgments obtained against her in Connecticut, on Oct. 15 last. The attachments were obtained on the ground that she is a resident of Connecticut. They were served on a safe deposit company and two express companies, in which she was supposed to hold stock.

Arbuckle Cut in Sugar.

Arbuckle Brothers yesterday reduced the price of refined sugar 10 points, bringing their net price for granulated down to 4.55 cents. The American Sugar Refining Company and B. H. Howell, Son & Co. said they were not meeting this reduction.

Offers of Government Bonds.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Up to the hour of closing the department to-night, the Secretary of the Treasury had received offers of 3 and 4 per cent. bonds in exchange for 2 per cent. consols amounting to $5,617,000.

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

M. Dugro Buttles has been appointed general agent of the Lloyds of New York and the State Insurance Company of Delaware.

The Richmond County Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Staten Island is being reorganized as a stock corporation with $200,000 capital.

Robert H. McDowell has been appointed special agent of the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Company for Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina.

The German Union Fire Insurance Company of Wilmington, Del., has been reorganized. Charles Brock Jones, manager of the North American Underwriters, has been elected President and B. C. Hawkes Secretary.

George A. Viehmann, Mayor of New Brunswick, secured a controlling interest yesterday in the New Brunswick Fire Insurance Company, which has been in business since 1832, by purchasing a little over 2,000 shares at $25 each. The par value of the shares is $12.50. When the company is reorganized Mr. Viehmann will be made President and Louis A. Wolfson Secretary. City Attorney Frederick Weigel, who has been Secretary of the company for many years, tried to prevent the sale of the stock to Mr. Viehmann.

I, the undersigned, Charles L. Hoffman, duly appointed referee by order of this court, dated the 5th day of March, 1903, and entered herein on the same day, hereby require each person, not a party to this action, who, at the said date of the order, had a lien or any undivided share or interest in the property sought to be partitioned herein, and which is hereinafter described, to appear before me on or before the 1st day of June next, at my office, No. 320 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City and County of New York, to prove his lien and the true amount due to him by reason thereof.

The premises are described in the complaint in the above case as follows:

FIRST PARCEL: All that piece or parcel of land, together with the buildings thereon, situated in the Borough of Manhattan, City and County of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Commencing at a point in the northerly line of Sixteenth Street, distant one hundred and forty-one feet ten inches easterly from the corner formed by the intersection of said northerly line of Sixteenth Street with the easterly line of Fifth Avenue, and running thence easterly along the said northerly line of Sixteenth Street fifty feet; thence northerly on a line parallel with Fifth Avenue ninety-two feet to the centre line of the block between Sixteenth and Seventeenth Streets; thence westerly along the said centre line and parallel with Sixteenth Street fifty feet; and thence southerly on a line parallel with Fifth Avenue ninety-two feet to the said northerly line of Sixteenth Street, to the place of beginning. The said premises being known as the "Geraldine," and described as Lot No. 6, Block No. 841, Section 3, on the Land Map of the City of New York, and being the same premises conveyed to the said Mary A. Fitzgerald by two deeds, one thereof to her by her then name of Mary Agnes Connolly, by Jesse A. Marshall and wife, dated April 12th, 1872, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds April 29, 1872, in Liber 1,213 of Conveyances at Page 46; and the other thereof to her by her then name of Mary A. Lyddy by the executor of Samuel F. Mott, deceased, dated June 1, 1875, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on June 5, 1875, in Liber 1,332 of Conveyances at Page 262.

SECOND PARCEL: All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the Twenty-third Ward of the City of New York, formerly at Morrisania, in the Town of West Farms, County of Westchester, and State of New York, being all of the lot known and designated by the number 164 on a certain map entitled "Map of the Village of Morrisania, situated one and one-half miles from Harlem River, in the Manor of Morrisania, Township of West Farms, County of Westchester, and State of New York, made by Andrew Findlay, Surveyor, dated August 10, 1848," and filed in the office of the Clerk (now Register) of the County of Westchester—excepting a strip of land on the southerly side of said lot, being twenty-six feet nine inches in width and adjacent to Lot one hundred and sixty-three on said map, commencing at a point on the westerly side of lands of the New York and Harlem Railroad at the division line between Lots 164 and 165 on said map, running thence westwardly along said division line one hundred and forty-four and 91-100 feet, more or less, to the centre of Mill Brook; thence southwardly along the centre of Mill Brook the several courses thereof to a point opposite in a straight line to a point on the west side of said New York and Harlem Railroad, distant in a straight line two hundred and nine and 4-10 feet, more or less, southerly from the beginning aforesaid; thence eastwardly in a straight line to a point on the New York and Harlem Railroad distant as aforesaid two hundred and nine and 4-10 feet, more or less, from the beginning point; and running thence northwardly along said westerly line of the New York and Harlem Railroad two hundred and nine and 4-10 feet, more or less, to the point or place of beginning; excepting, however, from the above-described premises that portion thereof which is now a part of Brook Avenue, as appropriated by the City of New York in a certain proceeding entitled "In the Matter of the Application of the Board of Street Opening and Improvements of the City of New York for and in behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New York, relative to the acquiring title wherever the same has not been heretofore acquired, to Brook Avenue, from 168th Street and Webster Avenue, to Wendover Avenue, in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards of the City of New York," as the same has been heretofore laid out and designated as a first-class street or road by the Commissioners of Improvements of said wards of the City of New York.

Said property being described on the Land Map of the City of New York as Lots 14 and 15, Block 2,394, and Lots 32, 37, and 39, Block 2,393, Section 11.

Dated New York, March 24th, 1903.

Referees' Notices.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW York, County of New York.—WALTER E. COE, plaintiff, against JOSEPH A. FARLEY et al., defendants.

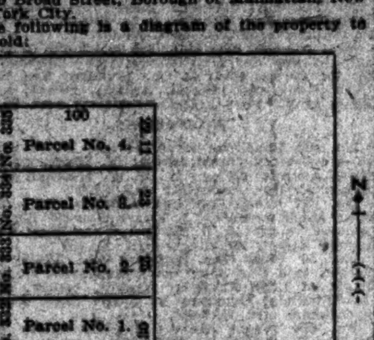
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 30th day of March, 1903, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Exchange Salesrooms, No. 111 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on the 23d day of April, 1903, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, by Peter F. Meyer, auctioneer, the premises in said judgment mentioned and therein described as follows:

All that plot of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, in the City and County of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the northerly side of One Hundred and Fifth Street and the easterly side of Riverside Drive, and running thence easterly along the northerly side of One Hundred and Fifth Street one hundred feet; thence northerly parallel with Riverside Drive one hundred feet eleven inches to the centre line of the block; thence westerly along said centre line and part of the distance through a party wall one hundred feet to the easterly side of Riverside Drive, and thence southerly along the easterly side of Riverside Drive one hundred feet eleven inches to the point of beginning; being the same premises conveyed to Joseph A. Farley by Joseph Hamershlag and David E. Oppenheimer and their wives by deed dated December 12th, 1900.

Dated New York, March 31st, 1903.
WILLIAM H. CORBITT, Referee.
A. L. & S. F. JACOBS, Plaintiff's Attorneys, 30 Broad Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $38,140.02, with interest thereon from March 27th, 1903, together with costs and allowance amounting to $351.65, together with the expenses of the sale. The premises in question are four separate private houses known respectively as Nos. 332, 333, 334, and 335 Riverside Drive, the dimensions of which are shown on the above diagram. All of the walls of the houses, with the exception of the southerly wall of No. 332, are party walls. The premises will be sold separately in four parcels, as shown by said diagram. The approximate amount of the taxes or other liens to be allowed to the purchasers out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is as follows: The taxes on No. 332 are $795.70; on No. 333, $588.36; on No. 334, $622.89; on No. 335, $622.89; the water rates are $104, and interest. Parcel No. 1 is sold subject to a first mortgage of $100,000, with interest thereon from September 30th, 1902, at five per cent.; Parcel No. 2 is sold subject to a first mortgage of $55,000, with interest thereon from August 7th, 1902, at six per cent.; Parcel No. 3 is sold subject to a first mortgage of $52,500, with interest thereon from December 15th, 1902, at four and one-half per cent.; Parcel No. 4 is sold subject to a first mortgage of $52,500, with interest thereon from December 15th, 1902, at four and one-half per cent. The premises are subject also to the covenants and restrictions contained in agreement recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York in Liber 54 of Section 7 of Conveyances, Page 236, and in instrument recorded in said Register's office in Liber 47 of Section 7 of Conveyances, Page 462.

Dated New York, March 31st, 1903.

In the leasing of the store and basement of the Ferguson Building, at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Twentieth Street, to a new bank now in process of formation, E. S. Willard & Co. represented the owner of the property, John W. Ferguson.

E. Osborne Smith & Co. report the following leases: 518 West One Hundred and Eighty-third Street, for Louisa Lamb, to Horace J. Reynolds, for three years; 617 West One Hundred and Seventy-ninth Street, for R. Clarence Dorsett, to A. J. Woods, for one year; 549 West One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Street, for Joseph P. Deane, to Joseph Drake, for one year; 388 Audubon Avenue, for the New York Building-Loan Banking Company, to Dr. A. J. Colby; 386 Audubon Avenue, for Rupert A. Ryley, to a Mr. Lichenstein; 18 Washington Terrace, for M. L. & C. Ernst, to a Mrs. Archer.

The Auction Room.

The speculators who competed yesterday for the northeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street, opposite the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad terminal, did not devote much time to feeling their way, and Auctioneer Sherman was obliged to call off only seven bids—the first $150,000 and the last $180,000, at which figure Heilner & Wolf and S. H. Stone took the property. The parcel contains about a lot and a half. Two years ago, before anything was known of the Pennsylvania enterprise, it is probable that the owners of the property would have eagerly accepted one-third of this auction price. In view of present conditions and recent transactions in the neighborhood it seemed to be the general opinion yesterday that this price, while a fair one, was not excessive.

Complete details of yesterday's auction dealings will be found below:

SEA CLIFF

24 Trains Daily. LONG ISLAND. 24 Trains Daily.

ONLY ONE HOUR FROM NEW YORK CITY.

SEA CLIFF—one of the prettiest all-round villages in America—is 26 miles from New York City, on the North Shore of Long Island. Beautifully situated on a bluff about 200 feet above sea level; it commands a magnificent view of the Sound and Hempstead Harbor. An endless variety of charming and picturesque shore and inland scenery is found in and about the village. It has become famous as a HEALTH and PLEASURE RESORT, is POSITIVELY FREE from MALARIA and MOSQUITOS, and has the very best hygienic conditions. SEA CLIFF'S moral and social status is of a high order, making it especially desirable as a family and all the year around resident locality.

There are churches of every denomination. A fine HIGH SCHOOL, miles of beautiful paved sidewalks, and new macadam roads, radiating in every direction, make Sea Cliff an ideal place for driving, automobiling, &c. It has an excellent bathing beach, absolutely safe, with miles of board walk and delightful shore front drives. Sea Cliff is noted for its pure spring water. The Fire Department is well equipped, and every facility for boating, bathing, and fishing is afforded, and attractions and healthy enjoyments are on every hand. The train service between New York City and Sea Cliff is excellent, and during the Summer months there are business men's trains which run to and from New York City in 45 minutes. Another feature about Sea Cliff is its handsome, up-to-date stores and markets. The railroad rates are low, and there is also a fine boat service during the Summer months.

The following selected list of beautiful cottages, fully furnished, can be rented for the Summer season. The locations are the very best and they have all the latest modern improvements. Bureaus of Information, Room 59 New York Times, and 129 West 125th St., from 9 A. M. until 10 P. M. daily.

FREEPORT.

44 Trains Daily. LONG ISLAND. 44 Trains Daily.

(Only 50 Minutes from N. Y. City.)

FREEPORT is one of the most Beautiful and healthful Villages on Long Island. It is but a step from the Noise and Turmoil of the city to the sheltered nook—the Green Expanse of Plain—and the Peace and Repose of a Prosperous and Happy Country. It has made the most rapid progress in the past ten years of any Village in the State of New York. Its easy Touch with New York City and Brooklyn, its splendid train service, High School, churches of every denomination, excellent markets, stores, hotels, banks, halls, clubhouses, abundance of Pure Spring Water, and Electric Light Plant, make FREEPORT one of the most charming all-the-year-round resident sections of Long Island. The Country around is one of great natural attractiveness and beauty. From the ocean there is, during the Summer Season, an ever-refreshing and tonic-laden Breeze. Unsurpassed Surf Bathing can be had at LONG BEACH, which is only 20 minutes from Freeport by steam ferry. Splendid streets and avenues, and well-kept grounds and Beautiful Cottages, owned by the occupants, make it an attractive and select residence locality. A new Railroad Station, Handsome and Commodious, has just been erected.

The Freeport Golf Club has a nine-hole course. Freeport is connected by trolley with Mineola, Garden City, Hempstead, and Brooklyn. It is one of the leading Resorts on Long Island, and has three Handsome Hotels. They are thoroughly modern and attractive in all their appointments. Have the Latest Sanitary Improvements, and are noted for first-class service and cuisine. They are the Woodcliff Inn, Crystal Lake House, and Grove Park Hotel. The following is a selected list of the desirable property for Sale and to Rent. The locations are the Very Best, and the Houses have the Latest Modern Improvements. They must be seen to be appreciated. Bureau of Information, Room 59 Times Building, and 129 West 125th St., 9 A. M. until 10 P. M. Daily.

MULLER, PETER.—The People of the State of New York to all persons interested in the estate of F. Foehrenbach Company, assigned to Peter Muller for the benefit of creditors, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear at a Special Term of our Supreme Court, Part I., to be held in and for the Borough of Manhattan, City and County of New York, at the County Court House, in the said Borough of Manhattan, on the 15th day of May, 1903, at 10:30 A. M., then and there to show cause why a final settlement of the account of PETER MULLER by Elizabeth Muller, as executrix of the last will and testament of said Peter Muller, now deceased, as assignee of said F. Foehrenbach Company, should not be had, and, if no cause be shown, then to attend the final settlement of said account.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of our said Supreme Court to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Henry A. Gildersleeve, Justice of our Supreme Court, this 24th day of March, A. D. 1903.

THOS. L. HAMILTON, Clerk.

FRANCIS C. CANTINE, Attorney for Elizabeth Muller, Executrix, Accountant, 76 William Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City. mar25-1aw6w-W

CHURCHILL TESTIFIES AT CROSS'S TRIAL

Has No Chance to Make Any Sensational Revelations.

Says He Saw the Accused Dining with Wolf—Inspector Denies It; Also That He Knew Lena Schmidt.

James Churchill, ex-Sergeant of Police, was expected to divulge something sensational when he took the witness stand at the trial of Inspector Adam Cross yesterday, but he did not have a chance. After saying that his present business was that of advertising agent and salesman for the American Cigar Company, the ex-Sergeant, whose dismissal from the force was due to Cross's charges, was asked:

"How long have you known the defendant?"

"Well," replied Churchill, turning about and glaring at Cross, who sat three feet away and returned his stare, "I first knew this gentleman when he was driving a Bleecker Street car, about twenty-five years ago."

Churchill then told his story of Cross and Jacob Wolf, giving the same version as when he testified on his own trial. He told how Wolf had denied in the presence of himself and Cross that he boasted power to run unmolested in the Fifteenth Precinct on account of his friendship for the Inspector. When asked if he had seen Cross and Wolf together at any other time than when he met them in the Inspector's office, Churchill replied that he saw them dining with a woman in a Fourteenth Street restaurant about 10 o'clock one evening.

After the ex-Sergeant had been excused, Inspector Cross issued a formal statement, in which he denied that he ever dined with Wolf, either in Fourteenth Street or elsewhere.

Lena Schmidt, the ex-divekeeper, whose testimony was conspicuous in the Bissert trial, testified that the only time she ever saw Cross was seven or eight years ago, when he was Captain of the East Fifth Street Station. She had been running an illegal place, she said. She called at the station and asked the Captain whether he would let her open up her resort again in First Street. He replied, she said, that he could not let her open up in First Street, but would allow her to open somewhere else "when things got quiet again."

The Inspector, in the statement he issued, denied that he ever saw the woman in all his life until she took the witness stand.

Deputy Commissioner Ebstein, who is the trial Judge, called the session to order at 11:30 o'clock, and from then until 5 P. M., with an hour's recess for luncheon, witnesses were examined by Messrs Elkus & Proskauer, the Inspector's counsel, and by Assistant District Attorneys Lord and Morgan.

Abraham Weinberg, who was shown to have been employed since March 3 last as a sort of sub-county detective to assist County Detective "Ike" Silverman, testified that he was drawing a salary of $3 a day from the District Attorney's office. He said he would not stoop to take money for testifying in this trial. On cross-examination he admitted that his duties as an adjunct of the county detective force had consisted wholly of "looking at Silverman serve subpoenas."

When employed, in 1901, by an organization known as the New York Anti-Vice Society, of which a man named Bell was President, said Weinberg, he collected evidence about various houses in Cross's inspection district. In describing the different houses he used exactly the same language for each one. His list of dates was intricate, but when Mr. Elkus asked what he was engaged in doing on Monday of this week he said he could not remember. It was hard for him to remember what happened a day or two ago, he admitted.

Q.—You have a very good memory? A.—I hope so.

Q.—You saw all these things you are describing as having happened in those houses three years ago, did you? A.—You bet I did.

Q.—You are not paid by the District Attorney to testify here? A.—Oh, no.

Q.—Then you simply come from a noble impulse to do your duty? A.—That's what I'm doing.

Lena Schmidt, besides telling the story of her alleged interview with Inspector Cross, explained what she had been doing with herself since her place at 27 Stuyvesant Street was closed up and herself indicted. She said she had been "in charge of the District Attorney and his gentlemans." After much arguing between the lawyers she was ordered to answer the question as to her present residence. She gave it as 78 Park Hill Avenue, Yonkers. Before going there she had been in Bridgeport, and previous to that in Brooklyn. All the while, she said, somebody, she knew not who, had paid her board. She said the District Attorney had not paid her to testify, nor had she received any money for clothes, except the amounts due her as witness fees.

Several other women told of their lives in east side dives three or four years ago.

County Detective Reardon told of entering two poolrooms in the Inspector's district. There was little trouble getting in, he said.

POLICEMAN LOST IN A FOG.

Patrolman's Amusing Story of His Hunt at Canarsie for a Roundsman Didn't Avert a Fine.

When Patrolman James Mullaly of the Canarsie Police Precinct was called before Deputy Commissioner Piper at Police Headquarters in Brooklyn yesterday to answer to a charge made by Roundsman Fox that he had been found off post, he made an explanation which caused even the Commissioner to smile.

"If you've ever been down to Canarsie, Commissioner," said Mullaly, "you know what a post means down there. The one I cover is all meadows, bogs, and fogs. I just wish you could see a fog or two down there yourself. Why, some of them are so thick you have to beat your way through them with your night stick. I was in one of these fogs when Roundsman Fox came along. I saw him as the wind blew the fog away from him for a moment, then he was swallowed up in it again. I felt about for him, but couldn't find him, and then I stood still and whistled, thinking he'd hear it and follow the sound. But we chased each other around in the fog without bumping into each other, and he must have got tired and gone off."

"It seems almost a shame to do it after such a clever story, Mullaly," said the Deputy Commissioner, "but I'm afraid we'll have to make it ten days' pay.

TRANSATLANTIC MAIL DELAY.

Complaint from London Business Men Answered by Postmaster Van Cott.

A complaint from London business men that mails had been dispatched across the Atlantic this Winter in a "leisurely manner" was brought to the attention of Postmaster Van Cott yesterday. He said it was the first complaint from London he had received and denied that there had been any delay in handling the foreign mails at the New York Post Office. He did not think, if there was any considerable slowness in the delivery of mail from this city in London, that it was the fault of the steamship companies. The weather, he said, had been unusually severe on the Atlantic this Winter, and had held back the mail steamers. In spite of the great rush of business, it had been dispatched at the New York Post Office with all possible promptness.

Explaining a statement from London that letters posted in New York March 18 were not delivered in London until yesterday, March 30, Mr. Van Cott said:

"The London mail dispatched on the 18th was carried by the St. Paul and the Germanic. The St. Paul sailed at 10 A. M. with 2,081 bags, the Germanic at noon with the "clean-up" of 240 bags. A letter mailed after 11:30 A. M. March 18, therefore, would lie over until March 21. Mail for London on March 21 was carried by the Ivernia."

The Ivernia arrived at Queenstown March 29, Sunday, and the mail reached London for delivery March 30.

"LOU" BETTS IS ARRESTED

Alleged Gambler Is Forced to Spend a Night in a Cell.

Mr. Jerome and Inspector McClusky Assert That the Tenderloin Now Is Clean.

"Lou" Betts, who was indicted a week ago by the Grand Jury for conducting a gambling house at 122 West Thirty-fourth Street, yesterday was arraigned before Judge Cowing, in General Sessions, and held in $1,500 bail for trial. Betts furnished the bail in cash.

Betts was arrested soon after midnight yesterday morning by Detective Sergeant Stripp of Inspector McClusky's staff. The alleged gambler was then returning from Atlantic City, where he went after a raid on his place last month.

The evidence against him was obtained by Frank McCabe and Frank Donnelly, two of the Western sleuths recently imported from Indianapolis by Commissioner Greene. Stripp took his prisoner to Police Headquarters, where, though he is reputed to be a rich man, he was forced to spend the night in a cell, as bail could not then be accepted.

Betts's house was one of those included in the wholesale raids made by District Attorney Jerome last Fall. At that time Justice Wyatt of the Court of Special Sessions issued a warrant for Betts's arrest. He was not found on his premises by the raiding party, and the Central Office detectives under Capt. Titus failed to locate him, though ordinary citizens saw him promenade up and down on Broadway almost every night. Justice Wyatt's warrant has not yet been served.

While Betts was waiting to enter bail Inspector McClusky called and was ushered into the District Attorney's office. He remained closeted with Mr. Jerome for almost an hour. When he emerged he said he did not think there was a single gambling house in New York doing business.

In discussing the case of Betts, McClusky said that the prisoner recently had fitted up a new house at 106 West Forty-fourth Street, but that he had never opened it. The block where this house is situated the Inspector said is very likely to be known as "Gamblers' Row," when conditions more favorable to the fraternity are ushered in. McClusky said his detectives had not less than eight houses owned by gamblers in the block between Sixth Avenue and Broadway under surveillance.

"All of these houses," the Inspector said, "are owned and occupied by gamblers. None of them is doing business, but they are merely waiting for a favorable opportunity to open up. The unfortunate feature is that with a day's notice the houses could be put in shape and run in full blast."

Among the suspected houses on the block, besides that of "Lou" Betts, the Inspector said, are 158 West Forty-fourth Street, reputed owner John Daly; No. 156, reputed owner "Honest" John Kelly; No. 161, reputed owner William Mackey, and another house, supposed to be maintained by Forbes & Mandelbaum.

District Attorney Jerome declared yesterday that for the first time in many years the Tenderloin and the West Forty-seventh Street Precinct had been cleaned up. This state of affairs he ascribed to the recent activity of Inspector McClusky and his detectives.

"This," he said, "goes to show that these precincts can be cleaned up if an honest effort is only made. It is now up to the officers in command to see that they are kept clean. The old excuse that they cannot be cleaned will not go."

Judge Cowing of the Court of General Sessions yesterday overruled a demurrer to the indictment charging Samuel G. Hitchins, the doorkeeper of the West Thirty-third Street house, which Frank Farrell says he does not own, with being a common gambler. Hitchins, who was arrested on the night of the Canfield raid, therefore will have to stand trial.

BASEBALL PARK HEARING.

Arguments For and Against the Washington Heights Project.

Borough President Jacob A. Cantor and the other members of the Washington Heights Board of Local Improvements gave a public hearing in the City Hall yesterday to the property owners of the Washington Heights district in regard to the advisability of cutting new streets through the property recently leased by the Greater New York Baseball Club for a baseball park.

There were two petitions presented to the board, one of which asked that One Hundred and Sixty-sixth, One Hundred and Sixty-seventh, and One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Streets be cut through from Eleventh Avenue to Fort Washington Road. The other favored the locating of a baseball grounds there, and as each of the documents bore the signatures of several property owners, the board decided to defer definite action in the matter and gave the legal representatives of both sides one week in which to submit additional papers in the case.

Ex-Assistant District Attorney David Welch represented the property interests which are not in favor of allowing the American League to locate on Washington Heights, and Lawyers John M. Bowers and Abram I. Elkus presented the counter petition and appeared in behalf of the New York Institution for the Blind and the Greater New York Baseball Club respectively.

Lawyer Elkus in opposing the opening of the streets said he had a petition signed by 120 owners of property in the neighborhood. He claimed there was no immediate necessity for the proposed streets and that such action would deprive the Blind Asylum of a source of revenue from hitherto unimproved property on which it had been paying taxes for nearly forty years. He produced a map and showed that the streets if opened up would only lead to a boundary wall surrounding part of the charitable institution's buildings. The baseball people, he said, would open up One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Street, so that there would be a good thoroughfare there leading to and from the station of the underground railroad at that point. The park would not attract disorderly crowds or depreciate property. The sale of intoxicating liquors would not be permitted within the grounds which would be surrounded by a high fence kept free of advertising and posters. The new baseball organization, he said, had already spent some $40,000 in improving and leveling the site which had been leased for ten years from the New York Institution for the Blind, whose other holding abutted on two sides of the new park.

Lawyer John M. Bowers declared that the very best element in the community was to be found among the patrons of baseball games in this city. Thomas H. Baskerville, attorney for the Blind Asylum, and Superintendent Waite also addressed the board in opposition to the proposed new streets.

Ex-Assistant District Attorney Welch insisted that he represented the majority of property owners in the vicinity of the new park, and said that the ball grounds would attract rowdy and disorderly crowds, and that cheap saloons would be started in the neighborhood. He declared that he had the names of fifty women whose property interests, which represented their entire savings, would be depreciated in value if the ball grounds remained there. He also said that a public school nearby would be affected and the pupils demoralized by the close proximity of the baseball park.

Superintendent Carrier of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, which is situated to the southeast of the grounds, claimed that a baseball park there would be a nuisance and would have a demoralizing effect on the inmates under his care. J. Romaine Brown, who represented the owners of a large portion of the Washington Heights district, also spoke against the baseball park, and advocated the opening of the streets.

DUKE PAYS ART DEALERS.

Baggage of His Grace of Manchester Freed from Sheriff's Deputy—Check Incident Is Explained.

Emissaries from the office of the Sheriff of the County of New York no longer disturb the domestic serenity of His Grace, the Duke of Manchester. The ducal apartments at the Hotel Cambridge, Fifth Avenue and Thirty-third Street, no longer are in charge of a keeper, and Deputy Sheriff Wallace declares that the writ of attachment he had against the Duke's property has been settled in full. The original claim from Duveen Brothers, art and antique dealers of 302 Fifth Avenue, amounted to $225, but the additional fees and costs brought the sum up to $315, which amount the Duke turned over to the Deputy Sheriff yesterday. He wanted to pay it the night before, but his check did not satisfy the Sheriff's representative, and, therefore, it was necessary to wait until the banks opened yesterday morning.

The Duke yesterday said the whole affair was a "horrid mistake and a beastly bore." He said Duveen Brothers had neglected to promptly deposit the check for £45, which he originally had given to the firm, and that this delay brought the check to the Belfast Banking Company, Limited, on which it was drawn, after he had removed his account to T. S. Hollis & Co. of this city. That, he said, accounted for the fact that the check was returned bearing the inscription, "No funds." The Duke said he tried to have the matter settled the evening before, when it first came to his attention, but that he did not have the ready cash and the banks were closed, so he was forced to allow the matter to go over the night.

LEGAL NOTES.

POWERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.—The Court of Appeals lately rendered a decision passing on the powers of the Board of Education and construing that section of the city charter which gives permanency to the positions of Principals and teachers in the public schools. James Cusack, while Principal of Day School No. 17, in Brooklyn, was in 1887 appointed Principal of an evening high school. He continued to serve in both capacities until 1902, when he failed of reappointment. In that year the Board of Education determined to segregate the sexes, and for that purpose divided the four evening high schools in Brooklyn into two for males and two for females. Two women Principals were appointed and two of the men Principals dropped. One of these was Mr. Cusack. His contention was that under Section 1,101 of the charter he could only be removed after a trial and conviction on charges. This very section, however, gives the right to the Board of Education to abolish unnecessary positions, and that, the Court of Appeals holds, is what the board did in Mr. Cusack's case. The Board of Education, said Judge Werner for the court, decided that the efficiency of the evening high schools would be increased by the segregation of the sexes, and nothing contained in the charter forbade such a determination. "It was clearly, therefore," continued the Judge, "one of the rights which the board derived by implication from the express grant of power to establish and conduct evening schools. In the absence of proof to the contrary, we must assume that this right was exercised in good faith and for the best interests of the schools. It follows that the services of two male Principals of evening high schools were necessarily and properly dispensed with. Under the change of system which was inaugurated, places previously held by them became 'unnecessary positions,' which the Board of Education proceeded to abolish not by formal resolution, but by refusal to make appointments thereto. Until these positions are restored there can be no warrant in the charter for the reinstatement of those who were removed therefrom."

RIGHT TO APPLY SECOND TIME FOR BANKRUPTCY DISCHARGE.—Where an alleged bankrupt has been refused a discharge on the ground that he has fraudulently concealed his assets he will not be permitted within a few months to file a new petition based practically on the same facts. The above decision was rendered in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by Judge Coxe in a bankruptcy proceeding brought by Harry Feigenbaum. Judge Coxe said in part: "Assuming that this proceeding is allowed to go on, what will be the result? The bankrupt will present a petition for discharge, the creditors will file specifications alleging the same grounds of opposition, the issue thus joined will be referred in due course, and the referee and Judge will thereafter be called upon to decide the same questions which have already been determined, upon the same proof and between the same parties. It is true that in such circumstances it is probable that the same conclusion will be reached, but why should the creditors be harassed by further proceedings? Why should they be compelled to employ counsel and expend their money in trying again and again a question upon which the bankrupt has had his day in court? If his contention be correct, there is nothing to prevent him from filing a third petition if his discharge be again refused, and so on ad infinitum. A proceeding in bankruptcy is in the nature of a bill in equity, in which the bankrupt is complainant and the creditors are defendants. Where a discharge is refused on the merits the judgment inures to the benefit of all the creditors. Both parties are bound by it, and neither party should be permitted to try the same question again; it is res judicata."

How can a man look trim and well dressed in clothes that were not made for him?

Clothes to be smart, neat and well fitting must be made to order.

Loftus suits and overcoats made to measure at $15 solve the problem. Others for more, and every price reasonable. Trousers, to order, $5.00.

We'll match any tailor's $20 suit or overcoat pattern at $15.
